20 per cent food price hike seen

New government predictions indicate food prices will jump higher this year than they have in any year since 1947. As the Department of Agriculture released its predictions Tuesday, the price of wheat rose to record levels.

A bushel of wheat which sold this time last year for $1.75, went for $4.14 on the commodity market in Chicago. Agriculture officials said 1973 food prices would be 20 per cent over 1972 levels—the biggest jump since prices climbed 21 per cent 26 years ago.

In more bad news for the consumer, the Department of Agriculture said meat prices in the second half of the year will be well above the first six months.

At present, beef prices are protected by a government freeze until Sept. 12, but consumers have found meat counters empty or understocked, and producers have blamed the price ceiling.

In Texas, for instance, the Neuhoff Brothers Meat Co. of Dallas said the cost of processing has increased—but the firm cannot pass on the increases to the consumer because of the price freeze, and so loses $100 on each head of cattle slaughtered.

"We're not buying any cattle and won't resume slaughtering until the ceiling prices are taken off," said J.B. Neuhoff, the vice president.

The situation has caused several packing houses to close, laying off thousands of meatcutters, while supermarkets have had to ration what beef they have to sell, some restaurants are sold out of beef, and cattle rustling and wildlife poaching is on the increase.

In Detroit, the manager of Wrigley Supermarkets encouraged shoppers to consider rabbit as an alternative to beef.

"In fact," said Howard Ferguson, "Wrigley has just received two truck loads of fresh rabbits which are a good value for the consumer." He said the rabbit will be distributed to Wrigley's 88 stores by Thursday.

And $1,000 a week from contractor

Report links Agnew to $50,000 payoff

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Spiro T. Agnew allegedly received $1,000 a week from contractors when he was a Maryland official and a $50,000 lump sum after he became vice president, a newspaper group has reported.

Knight Newspapers published the report Tuesday as new details emerged of the federal investigation into allegations of a Maryland kickback scandal involving private firms and politicians.

The startling news that Agnew, former Maryland governor and Baltimore County executive, was a target of the investigation came late Monday night when the vice president issued a statement acknowledging that he was being investigated for "possible violations of the criminal statutes." He protested his innocence and said he was confident he would be vindicated.

Spokesmen for President Nixon, who is himself besieged by the Watergate scandal, had no comment Tuesday on Agnew's troubles. Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said he had "nothing to add."

The U.S. District Attorney's office in Baltimore is handling the probe, and its officials have made no public statements. The Washington Post reported today that District Attorney George Beall met for an hour in Washington Tuesday with Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson and was told he should proceed with the probe and promised the Justice Department would not interfere.

The Post also reported the investigation was centered on allegations that during both Agnew's terms as vice president and Maryland governor private engineering and architectural firms were improperly awarded federal or state contracts in Maryland.

The Washington newspaper also said the scope of the investigation had mushroomed to focus, in addition to Agnew, on prominent politicians in both major parties, at least two Maryland county executives, political fund raisers, and private firms in both Maryland the the District of Columbia.

Quoting sources, the Post said investigators are trying to tie Agnew to an alleged scheme in which prominent Republicans influenced the awarding of federal contracts in exchange for kickbacks or political contributions.

The New York Times said today the probe involved allegations of 5 per cent kickbacks.

Knight Newspapers said that investigators "with help of at least one close friend and former aide" of Agnew were following "three strands of an investigation into allegations of bribery and kickbacks said to have been paid by contractors to Agnew."

The story said:

"—One strand involves allegations that about $1,000 a week was funneled to Agnew from contractors when he was Baltimore County executive (1962-66), governor of Maryland (1967-69). The payments possibly continued after he became vice president.

"—Prosecutors also have information that a sum of $50,000 in cash was paid by a contractor, in 1970 or 1971, for past and possibly future favors.

" — And investigators are looking into information that leading campaign fund-raisers for Agnew sought contributions from contractors in exchange for state and federal contracts. Some of the contributions, according to one source, may have been put to personal, rather than political use, by Agnew."

Meat shortage penetrates CIM walls, officials say

By L.T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

CHINO — The meat shortage has penetrated the prison walls.

Officials at both the men's and women's prisons here reported their meat contractors have reported they may be unable to fill all the meat orders this month.

"We have already changed our menus to provide more protein substitutes," said Virginia Carlson, superintendent at the California Institution for Women.

This includes eggs, milk, cottage cheese, peanuts and yogart. "We are even providing more vegetables to make up for the meat loss."

The prison population is now 910. Officials had estimated they would serve 9,060 pounds of beef this month.

Mrs. Constance Winkleman, food administrator, said the institution received its regular weekly meat shipment on Aug. 1, but did not expect any deliveries today or Aug. 15. "We have heard nothing for Aug. 22 to 29," she added.

"We are coasting with what we have on hand, which may carry us for several weeks."

The institution was surprised Tuesday when it got a pork shipment which had previously been placed.

At the nearby California Institution for Men, officials received word that the current supplier of beef may be unable to supply meat after Aug. 15.

"We have at present a two weeks supply of beef on hand," said Earl Muff, administrative assistant.

"We have authority in such times when the regular supplier of beef is unable to provide service to go to the local area for food purchases," he said. "If we can find beef in the local area, we can buy it."

Some 2,300 inmates are fed daily at the institution. "We serve three meals a day, with meat served with the evening meal," said Muff. Besides beef, meat served includes fish, poultry and pork.

The institution serves about 540 pounds of beef per day, 3,070 pounds a week, and 16,800 pounds a month, he reported.

Officials at the California Youth Authority were not immediately available for comment..

Nixon to ignore courts, answer 'only to nation'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon contends that he is "answerable to the nation but not to the courts" and that any judicial order requiring him to turn over his Watergate tapes would do "irreparable" damage to the institution of the presidency.

This was the heart of a 34-page brief filed by the President's lawyers in U.S. District Court Tuesday in a constitutional battle which has no exact precedent in American legal history.

The brief set forth the President's arguments why he should not have to produce documents and tapes of his conversations with key figures in the Watergate affair in response to a subpoena by Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox.

The President's lawyers argued that the judicial branch of government "lacks power to compel the President to produce information that he has determined it is not in the public interest to disclose."

But they stopped short of saying whether he would, in fact, obey such an order. The White House had said earlier the President would obey a definitive Supreme Court ruling on the issue.

Judge John J. Sirica, who conducted the original Watergate trial, gave Cox until next Monday to respond to the White House brief. He gave the White House until Aug. 17 to respond to Cox and set Aug. 22 for oral arguments.

The President's brief said the effort to subpoena presidential material for a criminal prosecution was "a serious threat to the nature of the presidency as it was created by the Constitution."

If Cox wins, the brief said, "the damage to the institution of the presidency will be severe and irreparable."

Two men rob local tavern

POMONA — Two men are being sought by police for an armed robbery Tuesday at Hart's Tavern at 328 S. Garey Ave.

The suspects, described by witnesses as Negroes in their mid-20s wearing white shirts and dark pants, made off with coins and currency.

Police said one of the men held a weapon described as either a short rifle or hand gun, on Charles Hart, while the other man took the money from the register.

Ontario man also murdered in desert

VICTORVILLE — An Air Force sergeant, believed to have buried a West End man and girl in shallow desert graves following a grisly double slaying Tuesday has been charged with two counts of murder, forcible rape and robbery.

The girl, Kathleen Marie Herron, 17, of 8236 9th St., Cucamonga, was buried alive, according to the autopsy surgeon.

Her companion, John William Bell, 22, of 625 Marin Ave., Ontario, had been stabbed 27 times in the back, side and chest, shot twice and struck in the head and face with a shovel.

His death, the report said, was attributed to a bullet wound in the right lung.

Miss Herron was stabbed six times in the back, shot twice and sexually assaulted. She died of suffocation, apparently after having been buried, the report said.

Her purse, containing approximately $7, was taken.

Lt. Ron Forbush and Detective George McCormick, county homocide officers, said they learned that Bell and Miss Herron were hitchhiking their way to New Jersey, when they were picked up by the suspect, Thomas Edward Van Norman, 22, who was stationed at George Air Force Base.

They believe Van Norman picked up the couple in the area of Seventh Street and Interstate 15 in Victorville between midnight and 3 a.m. Tuesday, and drove them to a remote area on the south perimeter of the base where the killings took place.

The bodies were discovered before noon Tuesday after detectives had received a call from military authorities at the base.

The detectives said they were told that a serviceman at the base reported to his superiors that he had helped a buddy bury two bodies in the desert.

Van Norman was arrested at the base. No other arrests were made.

The autopsies were performed by Dr. Wayne Scott at the Dudley Mortuary in Victorville late Tuesday afternoon.

KATHLEEN HERRON

The bodies are being held at the mortuary.

Mrs. George L. Herron, mother of the murder victim, said Kathleen Marie was her adopted daughter, and that Kathleen Marie and Bell were planning to be married.

Mrs. Herron thought perhaps they were on their way to New Jersey to be married.

She said the couple had gone camping together a lot in the past and it was not unusual for them to travel about together.

She said she had expected to hear from Kathleen Marie Monday, after the girl had told her she would be away over the weekend babysitting.

However, she did not and while Mrs. Herron was at work, she said Kathleen Marie returned to the house, took her wedding clothes and left before Mrs. Herron returned home.

Billy Casper submits bid for golf course

POMONA — A group of businessmen headed by golfer Billy Casper is now completing negotiations with Los Angeles County for the redevelopment of Mountain Meadows golf course here, Supervisor Peter F. Schabarum disclosed today.

The supervisor said the Casper group has submitted a bid to the county for a 32-year-lease of the 186-acre facilities and that the offer "looked very appealing to the county."

Schabarum said a final meeting on the bid proposal has been set for next week, and he felt confident the contract could be signed within two weeks.

The Casper group was one of several private interests bidding to run the golf course. One of the unsuccessful bidders was a combine clustered around golfer Jack Nicklaus, according to the supervisor.

Schabarum said the improvements would exceed $1½ million. They call for the relocation of the 18 holes, the construction of a pro shop, a club house and a restaurant. The golf course is expected to be in operation by next spring.

Final negotiations with Casper are the culmination of more than a year of work on the part of Schabarum, who had maintained that the golf facility could be better developed and better run by private parties than by the county.

He now says the golf course, as shown in the plans, will be the firnest county course in the Southland, and may become a prototype for similar development-lease arrangements for the county's other 13 courses.

"For the first time, we'll make some money, too," Schabarum promised, recalling that Norman Johnson, former director of the county's parks and recreation had called Mountain Meadows "the most substandard course in our entire system."

Under the proposed agreement, the county will get an annual base rental fee, the amount of which is still undecided. The county also will get an override on the fees, and a percentage on the rental of clubs and the use of the golf range and the consumption of food and drink.

The developers estimated that the county would net about $60,000 the first year and more in subsequent years.

Mountain Meadows, the most maligned course in the Pomona area, is currently limping along with nine holes because of road work that is expected to take another year to complete.

Schabarum said the relocated course will by-pass the road construction.

Eight packing houses plan to close down

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Eight more Los Angeles packing houses said Tuesday they will close down at the end of this week. The beef shortage began squeezing such things as hospitals and professional football teams.

Nine Southern California slaughterhouses have already closed. The closures to come will "wipe out at least 90 per cent of the area's weekly retail beef production and put more than 1,200 more packing house employes out of work," according to Cal Santare, spokesman for the Western States Meat Packers Association.

"We are talking about an output of 15 million pounds of beef a week and the slaughter of 25,000 cattle a week."

Hospitals in the area said they are being caught in the shortage.

Call for export controls on wheat

Nation's bakers warn of bread shortage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bakers have called on President Nixon to slap export controls on wheat, claiming that if he does not act soon, bread will "disappear" across most of the United States by next June.

They also warned that unlimited foreign bidding will send wheat prices well above current all-time highs.

The warning Tuesday in a telegram to Nixon from Richard W. Daspit, president of the American Bakers Association, was based on a claim that U.S. wheat reserves on hand next June when the 1974 wheat crop is harvested could be down to 36 million bushels if foreign buying is not slowed.

The Agriculture Department, on the other hand, has estimated the reserve next June 30 will be 298 million bushels—down 130 million from this summer but barely enough to keep consumers supplied until the 1974 harvest is moved to mills according to industry estimates.

The new concern over wheat supplies and prices boiled up here in the wake of seven record-breaking days of price increases in major wheat markets, accompanied by lesser increases in prices for livestock feed crops like corn and soybeans.

The boom was attributed largely to heavy export demand, and the latest in a series of Agriculture Department export reports late Tuesday showed further increases in prospective overseas shipments of grains and soybeans during the coming year.

"I think it (the price jump of recent days) happened because of an extraordinary export demand which grew out of the disappointing 1972 crops, the devaluation of the dollar and a certain amount of speculative fever growing out of the other factors," said Don Paarlberg, the Agriculture Department's chief economist.

The bakers' association said in its telegram "bread will disappear across most of the United States by next June" because "unlimited foreign bidding will send wheat prices well above current all-time highs."

"The demand from abroad has increased to unanticipated levels," the statement said. "The absence of export controls and the fear that controls may soon be imposed has caused foreign customers to buy in unprecedented quantities."

Paarlberg said there is "some review" of the export situation, but he gave no indication a move to export control was being prepared.

The new, higher grain prices, Paarlberg said, are bad news for consumers. Partly this is because flour prices could rise unless the wheat boom eases. But more significantly he said it's because livestock feed prices are also being pulled up in a move which may slow down potential future increases in livestock production.

"That leaves the prospect of higher prices," Paarlberg said.

Balloonist airborne for transatlantic crossing

BAR HARBOR, Maine (UPI) — Hoping to become the first person to make a successful transatlantic balloon voyage, Bob Sparks cut the lines on his "Yankee Zephyr" at 6:25 a.m. EDT today and drifted slowly eastward, disappearing in a light fog.

Almost on cue, as the Yankee Zephyr lifted off, the sun began peeking through the fog, finally becoming a huge orange glow in the east.

Sparks, 37, filed a mock flight plan shortly before liftoff which has him scheduled to arrive at Lebourge Airport, Paris, at 10:30 a.m. Aug. 13. However, Sparks, the entertainment director for a Pennsylvania resort, admitted he is at the mercy of the winds.

"I'll see you in Paris Monday," said one of his ground crewmen as the 9-story red, white and blue balloon hovered a few feet off the ground during ballast adjustments.

A light breeze and a 38 degree temperature chilled the crowd of about 500 who arrived during the early morning hours to watch the liftoff. As soon as Sparks disappeared into the fog, the viewers drifted silently away.

Sparks and his crew arrived at the airport about 2:30 a.m. to begin filling the balloon with 73,000 cubic feet of helium. The empty balloon was laid out on a grassy area and the light breeze bounced it around as the helium began filling it.

Sparks was decked out in a red, white and blue jump suit to match the decor of his balloon. On one collar he wore his balloonist pin and on the other he displayed World War I military wings given him by a World War I balloonist.

Just before takeoff Sparks unfurled a 12-foot American flag from the gondola.

In case of trouble, the gondola may be converted to a boat, complete with sail.

Sparks has more than 500 balloon trips to his credit and holds the record for staying aloft in a hot air balloon—11 hours and 14 minutes.

Even with that experience, however, the trip is a dangerous one. No balloon has ever crossed the Atlantic before. In 1968, two Canadians tried it. They ended up becalmed over Nova Scotia, however, and finally floated down into the Atlantic. They were later rescued.

Another attempt was made in 1970. Rod and Pam Anderson and British balloonist Malcolm Brighton left Long Island bound for Europe on Sept. 20. They went down near Newfoundland 30 hours later and no trace of them has ever been found.

Shift in demands because of inflation

Auto workers may ask wage hike

DETROIT (UPI) — Galloping inflation may cause U.S. auto workers to shift their contract demands from fringe benefits to a sizeable wage increase, United Auto Workers Vice President Douglas A. Fraser predicts.

Wages have been a low priority item in this year's contract talks, but each trip by an auto worker to the supermarket moves it up a bit further, Fraser said Tuesday after meeting with Chrysler Corp. negotiators.

"Between now and Sept. 14, we expect to hear more from the members about the size of the wage package," said Fraser.

Because of government controls and the push for more worker freedom in the form of voluntary overtime, little attention has been placed on gaining a large wage increase this year for more than 700,000 U. S. and Canadian auto workers. The average U.S. auto worker now makes more than $5.10 an hour.

"The economy is so fouled up now," said Fraser, "and there is fear among workers who have accepted the notion that a wage hike would push prices up even further."

But, said the UAW vice president, recent events prove that wages aren't pushing up prices, because there have been only minimal wage increases that haven't kept up with rising prices.

Fraser also said the continual erosion of the worker's paycheck makes the union's demand for revision of the cost-of-living formula even more important this year. Despite 40 cents an hour extra in cost-of-living raises since 1970, workers' wages have not been completely protected, he said.

"As the demand for wages increase among the membership, we'll have to take something away from the fringe benefits we'll be seeking," said Fraser, admitting there will have to be a tradeoff.

While Fraser said he was satisfied with the pace of contract talks since negotiations began at Chrysler July 18, another UAW vice president— Ken Bannon—said nothing has been accomplished at Ford.

"We ended up with another goose egg," Bannon told newsmen after meeting with Ford negotiators. "We haven't made any progress.

Fraser said the union's decision to select a strike target Aug. 21—the earliest the target company has ever been selected—will put a greater urgency on the negotiations. He said the union has always waited for the company's counter-offers before taking a strike vote and selecting a strike target.

Six arrested, $20,000 in drugs seized

ONTARIO — Ontario police working with federal narcotics agents have arrested six persons on various narcotics charges and seized more than $20,000 in heroin, cocaine, amphetimine powder and marijuana plants along with a rare marijuana press.

Detective George Cherry said this morning that three persons were arrested Monday in the Monterey Park area by federal agents after a five month investigation into drug traffic. Tuesday three Ontarians were arrested in connection with the case.

Arrested in Ontario Tuesday were Bewilla Jo Berwald, 26, and her husband Martin Alfred Berwald, 23, of 1044 Sacramento St. and Harry Stanley Robinson, 43, of 817A Willow Street. The three are being held in the West End jail for federal authorities for investigation of sales of marijuana and dangerous drugs and possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Arrested in Monterrey Park for investigation for sale of cocaine, heroin, and marijuana were: Ruby Novaline Hinto, 51; Jose Lopez-Soto, 65, and Jeus Joe Juerta, 48.

Cherry said federal undercover agents purchased two ounces of heroin and three ounces of methadrine from the Monterey Park suspects before they arranged for a purchase of about one-half pound of cocaine. The investigation led narcotics agents to the Ontario suspects who were arrested at their homes after police seized a marijuana press, marijuana plants, and about one-half pound of amphetimine powder.

Opera singer Maria Callas plans return to the stage

LONDON (UPI) — Maria Callas, a native of Brooklyn whose voice and temper made her one of the world's great opera divas, plans to sing publicly next month for the first time in eight years.

And already everyone is worried about black market tickets.

Concert spokesmen at the Royal Festival Hall where she will sing Sept. 22 said Tuesday they would use an unprecedented system for selling tickets to frustrate black market operators.

Miss Callas will sing a program of songs, arias and duets with Italian tenor Giuseppe di Stefano, one of her favorite partners in the golden days when she reigned as queen of divas.

The 49-year-old soprano and onetime tempermental darling of opera goers around the world has said she felt her singing was not at the peak it should be and she needed further study. As a result, did not sing in public for eight years while she continued studies. In the past few years she has devoted some time to teaching, and now apparently feels she is ready once again to appear on the stage.

It already was apparent her first singing appearance since 1965 will create tremendous ticket demands — and black market interest.

The concert spokesman said tickets were being sold by mail only.

"I think this is the first time we have ever done this," he said.

Butz urges massive effort to increase food supplies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz today called on farmers, farm supply industries and government officials to join in a campaign to boost food supplies by preventing harvest losses this fall and promoting all-out production next year.

Butz, in a speech prepared for delivery in Miami to the Economic Society of Southern Florida, said domestic and world demand for American food is so great "that wye have little hesitation about the risk of going all-out next year."

The Agriculture Department said Tuesday food prices this year are expected to take their biggest leap in 26 years.

Butz noted that a new farm bill which President Nixon will soon sign will offer farmers assurance against the possibility that expanding production might hurt their income. He said the new "support target" system in the bill means the government "will share the risk that farmers run if ... we overproduce, or if foreign markets should suddenly disappear, or if domestic demand should somehow subside."

Butz said farmers this year will achieve the biggest one-year production increase ever recorded in feedstuffs. But with food prices continuing to rise he said the government is already gearing up for still more production gains.

"We are doing all we can to help farmers minimize harvest losses this fall and to get a head start on next year's production plans," Butz said.

He said he has "full assurance" from White House energy chief John A. Love that adequate fuel will be earmarked for harvesting and drying 1973 crops. For 1974, Butz noted he has already announced that no acreage idling will be required under the farm support program, so "nearly every harvestable acre will be in production."

"I have asked private farm suppliers, farm cooperatives, farm organizations, commodity groups and others to join in a nationwide effort to provide supplies, storage, credit, transportation and other help to farmers in this all-out production effort," Butz added.

Although farm production will rise, Butz said the rest of the economy must also increase productivity if inflation is to be halted.

"Food did not get us into our current economic problems — and food alone will not lift us out," he contended.

Chinoans itching for action on mosquito problem

CHINO — A resident here told City Council members Tuesday night that the wheels are moving too slowly toward solution of a mosquito problem in the northeast section of this West End town.

Bill Winsor of 12674 Cypress Ave. addressed councilmen during Tuesday's council meeting, stating that the letter from the county environmental health services attempted to reroute the problem from its true source.

The letter, signed by Richard L. Roberts, director of the Division of Environmental Health Services, stated that the possible source of the mosquitoes swarming on Cypress Avenue between Walnut Avenue and Riverside Drive is an irrigated onion field west of Cypress. He noted that these and other possibilities would be investigated.

Winsor reported that the field is not irrigated, but watered by a sprinkler system at regular intervals during the day. He also spoke of a two-foot ditch in the area filled with stagnant water.

"I believe this to be one of the sources of the mosquitoes," said Winsor.

The runoff from Armstrong Nurseries in Ontario is believed to cause the puddles of stagnant water.

"The water problem is there every night with water running curb deep. This is a potential accident situation. And you tell us there will be no storm drains there for one year to 18 months," Winsor protested.

Winsor told councilmen that residents of the area are seriously considering picketing the site of a new tract development on the east side of Cypress to discourage potential buyers from locating in a mosquito-ridden area.

City Manager Bob Fast noted that this matter had come before the council at least three times. Area residents first protested about the water problem in early February, crying that the street "is like the Mississippi River with water from curb to curb."

The issue came before council again in mid-July when the mosquitoes started bugging residents.

One of the alternatives, said Fast, is legal action. But "from a practical point, this would not come up for some time and it was our understanding that Armstrong Nurseries will be selling their property," he added.

City Atty. Bill McVittie stated that the issue could possibly be classified as a public nuisance. In that case, "citizens have the right to bring suit on their own behalf or the council can instruct the city attorney to do so," he stated.

"It is my judgment that it would take many months to bring this to a decision, possibly a year," McVittie said.

"We don't want to sue anybody. We just want to get rid of the water problem," responded Winsor. "It's a nuisance with the mosquitoes. This goes on from 10 o'clock at night until early morning. I know what a mosquito looks like and I know there are hundreds in front of my house every morning.

15-year-old boy is shot mother held

POMONA — An early-morning shooting today has resulted in the hospitalization of a 15-year-old boy and the arrest of his mother on a charge of attempted murder.

Police were alerted to the shooting by Chris Lopez, 49, of 1000 Muir St., who ran into the local police station at Mission Boulevard and Park Avenue about 6:45 a.m when the car he was driving developed a flat tire.

Lopez was driving his son, Felipe, to the hospital after the youth had been shot in the thigh.

An ambulance took the gunshot victim to Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Arrested at her place of employment about 7:30 a.m. at 600 E. Bonita Ave. was Mary C. Lopez, 32. Police said that Mrs. Lopez said only that she wanted to see her attorney.

Officers were told that Mrs. Lopez went to the house at 1000 Muir St. about 6:30 a.m and demanded alimony from her estranged husband. When refused, Mrs. Lopez went back to her car and from the trunk took a .22-calibre automatic rifle.

Felipe and his father both ran into the house when shots were fired. Felipe told his father he had been shot.

Officers have recovered two expended shells and found out that two bullets had penetrated the walls of the house.

CGS offers new degree

CLAREMONT — Claremont Graduate School is accepting students into a new program that will provide practical knowledge about the institutions of contemporary urban society.

The program will prepare graduates to begin or advance such careers as those in public and private health-care organizations, educational administration, state and local government agencies, and the media. It leads to the degree of Master of Arts in Urban Institutions and Systems.

The program includes both course work and field research. Its core consists of two basic courses: one studies the characteristics and functions of contemporary urban institutions. The other teaches research methods helpful in understanding those institutions. Other course work may come from as many as six departments at the graduate school.

Each student, with the help of an adviser, will develop a program to suit his particular requirements. He will study and work in institutions that are his chief interests.

The new master's program is available on a part-time basis for students wishing to continue in their present positions and on a full-time basis. A part-timer can qualify for a degree in three semesters and one summer by taking two courses in each. A full-timer can qualify in a year.

Darryl Enos, program chairman, said admissions will be granted some students who have not graduated from college but who have substantial professional experience.

Enos is director of the graduate school Center for Urban and Regional Studies, and information about the program may be obtained from the center. Applications will be accepted through August.

Elderly man hit by car

UPLAND — An 84-yearold Upland man is listed in serious condition this morning at Kaiser's Fontana Hospital with multiple injuries suffered in a traffic accident at 11th Street and First Avenue here Monday night.

Arthur Birdy Couts of 875 N. First Ave., was taken to San Antonio Community Hospital shortly after the 8:57 p.m. accident. Police said Couts was struck by a car driven by Theresa Marie Ducklewoski, 52, of 856 N. Second Ave. as he was walking north across First Avenue.

After being given emergency treatment at the Upland hospital Couts was transferred to the Fontana hospital for surgery.

$1,175 is haul in store burglary

ONTARIO — Detectives this morning reported that burglars who shot up the White Front Store at Fifth Street and Mountain Avenue Tuesday morning, causing extensive property damage, stole $1,175 in cash from the store's pharmacy.

Detective Stan McClosky said that the burglars took nothing else during their rampage through the store. Tuesday morning burglars who apparently short circuited the store's burblar alarm system during daylight hours returned to the building that morning and went inside.

Inside the huge store, now being remodeled and expanded, the burglars broke open the rifle display cases in the sports center, loaded shotguns and rifles and began firing at random. Bullets and pellets shattered fluorescent lights, paint cans, display cases and a television set, causing extensive property damage.

The burglars then shot open the pharmacy door and went inside to steal the money. The burglars, according to police and the store's managers, apparently took no drugs.

McClosky said this morning they have few leads in the burglary, but are continuing the investigation. Meanwhile, store employes are still taking inventory to determine the exact amount of damage caused by the burglars.

Guard robbed; station hit

A security guard at the Brookside winery in Guasti and an attendant at the Thrifty Service Station at Central Avenue and Orchard Street in Montclair were victims of robbers Tuesday night.

Montclair police reported that a man armed with a small .32 caliber automatic pistol robbed the Thrifty Service Station about 10:21 p.m The service station attendant, Danny Walk, told police that the robber, a Caucasian, 20 to 21, 5 feet 7 to 5 feet 8, 155 pounds, wearing a long sleeve blue shirt and jeans, pulled a gun and ordered him to hand over the service station cash.

Walk said the man, who had a full mustache and short brown hair, escaped in a 1960 Ford.

Security guard Kay D. Jarrell at the Brookside Winery in the 9900 block of Garrett Road in Guasti told sheriff's deputies that he was approached by two men about midnight who asked him to help them with their car that was broken down. Jarrell said as he was walking to their car the men began beating him.

Deputies said that the two men, both described as Caucasians, one with long blond hair and the other with a beard, took Jarrell's .38 caliber revolver and $10 from his wallet.

No suspects in either robbery were in custody this morning.

S.B. rejects service fee for inspections

SAN BERNARDINO — County supervisors have agreed that county health inspections at dairies be paid from the county's general fund.

Health officials has proposed establishing a fee schedule this year after estimating services would cost about $160,000. Inspectors check the milk for bacteria, the cows and the dairy facilities.

In opposing a county service fee, county Supervior Ruben S. Ayala reported the dairies pay $4 million annually in property taxes, with about $1 million going into the county's general fund.

"They are asking very little in return as to the amount of property taxes they pay," he said. "They don't have any zoning or police problems."

Ayala said he didn't believe it would be in the best interest at this time to charge for these services.

The supervisor etimated there are 325 dairies with 125,000 cows in the Chino Valley.

"This is a clean industry and we welcome it. We should help them," he added.

Ayala said Riverside County supervisors had previously held a public hearing regarding a similar fee schedule but had taken no action.

3 robberies still under investigation

Police and West End sheriff's deputies this morning were continuing their investigation into three armed robberies that occurred in the Pomona-West End area Monday night.

The robberies at the Gourmet Liquor Store, 1189 N. Central Avenue in Claremont; the 7-11 Market at I Street and Mountain Avenue in Claremont; and the Likker Lokker, 3440 Falcon St., Pomona; all occurred between 10 and 11:30 p.m. Monday, police reported. The robbers in each of the robberies were similar in description, and police suspect they are linked together.

Police reported that nothing yet has definitely connected them with a murder in Redondo Beach on Sunday, although the description of the suspect vehicle in the murder and the local robberies are similar.

Not fond of fondue

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

"Fondue" comes the French, fondre, to melt. It also comes from Switzerland, where the peasants had nothing to eat all winter except year-old cheese and six-month-old bread. So they melted the cheese and dipped the hard bread in it and somehow survived.

"This simple peasant dish," croons the cook book, "has progressed into a modern day source of fun and conviviality." It is also the female houseperson's neatest swindle to get out of cooking dinner.

Through no fault of my own, I do not happen to be a simple peasant, or even a complicated one, but egged on by the comforting assurance that a good cheese fondue needed a jab or two of brandy, I recently agreed to make a fondue. It was a mistake. In fact, several mistakes. My idea of a great big nothing is to sit around a pot of bubbling cheese scrabbling with a long fork for bits of crusty bread, like a lot of Eskimos spearing fish through a hole in the ice.

Fondue equipment is quite simple — an earthenware pot, a cast-iron pot (porcelainized), a chafing dish, a stand, an adjustable burner (Sterno or alcohol), plate for the stand, long-handled stainless steel forks with heat-proof handles, and a large supply of paper napkins. Much simpler than clicking on the electric stove. You have the further excitement of a good chance of burning your house down.

The ingredients for a Swiss cheese fondue are equally primitive: 1 lb. Emmenthaler cheese; 3 tsp. flour or 1½ tsp. cornstarch, 1 clove fresh garlic, 2 cups dry white wine, ¼ tsp. salt, dash ground pepper. (Dash it all!)

Then I read "4 tbsp. kirsch, brandy, cognac, light rum, dry gin or vermouth." I was going happily along sloshing them all in until I came to that "or." By then I had a fondue to end all fondues. If the chef was still sober after that, he was asked to use 1 tsp. lemon juice (optional), nutmeg or paprika to taste (What else would it be for?), and a loaf of French bread cubed.

Several hours and several more tbsp's kirsch later we sat down around the bowl of bubbly cheese and exchanged soggy bread cubes and germs. (If you lose your bread chunk in the fondue, you must pay a forfeit — a man must buy a bottle of wine, a woman must kiss all the male guests.)

Near the end of the orgy, a brown crust forms at the bottom of the pot. This is considered a great delicacy, and the host, if he is still ambulatory, divides it among the guests. Then they all go out to dinner.

Funny thing about fondue — an hour after you have eaten one, you never want to eat it again.

Pauling may challenge Vitamin C restriction

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Linus Pauling says he hopes to legally challenge a federal Food and Drug Administration's ruling curbing the use of Vitamin C, or ascorbic acid.

Pauling, Stanford University professor who won two Nobel prizes, said he was consulting attorneys and that the ruling was "terrible."

The FDA has ruled that next year drug stores may not sell Vitamin C tablets without prescriptions if they contain more than 90 milligrams.

Pauling holds the vitamin prevents colds. He takes 6,000 milligrams daily and says he never sniffles.

Agreeing with him was Albert Szent-Gyorgi, Hungarian-born physician who discovered ascorbic acid 40 years ago. He takes 2,000 milligrams daily, plus wheat germ.

Both were attending a symposium at Stanford on the vitamin.

The FDA holds there is no scientific proof the vitamin prevents colds.

Chino eyes voter okay of tax hike

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — The City Council and administrative staff here will initiate proceedings for an Oct. 23 election to win voter approval for a tax increase for the civic center project.

The council directed staff Tuesday night to prepare the necessary resolution by its next regular meeting on Aug. 21.

The originally proposed date for the election, Nov. 6 was thrown out after some speculation by Mayor Bob McLeod that if the local election were held with the state election the latter would "dilute the intention of establishing a criteria and priority for the City of Chino."

The election, said McLeod, would ask "for concurrence of the (Chino) population to proceed under a joint powers agreement to the first phase of the civic center project."

The civic center, to be located on D Street near Central Avenue, will house both county and city facilities, and be a first stage in the redevelopment of the central core downtown area.

In line with the philosophy outlined by the mayor, City Manager Bob Fast suggested the Oct. 23 date with declaration of intention coming at the Aug. 21 meeting. This will allow for additional time for another resolution to exact the measure itself, said Fast.

"This tight schedule will requires a great amount of concentrated effort on the part of the council. The final wrap-up will always be traumatic. The staff must pull together in the analysis of what is necessary in a first phase operation," continued the manager.

The election would ask for an exact amount for a tax increase. Repayment will be in the form of a debt service coming out of the annual budget.

"There are strong and heavy considerations to be made shortly. There must be dissemination of enough information so that people could make a knowledgeable vote," Fast added.

McLeod voiced urgency in the matter, pointing to the fact that the county is moving ahead on the project and that three council seats will be vacated next spring.

"I would not like to see this delayed and placed in the position of becoming a campaign issue. This is the responsibility of the current council," the mayor concluded.

The motion, seconded by Councilmen Leonard Frketich and Angel Martinez, was approved.

In other matters concerning the civic center project, the council selected two architectural firms to coordinate activities. The firm Cashion, Horie and Sata of Pomona will be responsible for the design of the city facilities.

VTN of San Bernardino was approved as site development architects. This approval is contingent upon whether the county supervisors select the same firm for site development.

The first selection of the Pomona firm was made during the open council meeting rather than in executive session after City Atty. Bill McVittie voiced doubt of the need of the private session suggested by McLeod.

McVittie stated that if the council wishes to include professionals with whom the staff will work as personnel then it could call an executive session. However, he noted, that would require a broad interpretaion of the Brown Act. The purpose of the Brown Act is to allow discussion of "everything in public which is feasible and practical," he pointed out.

In a final civic center issue on the night's agenda, Fast reported that the master plan for the center will be completed by the Aug. 21 meeting. The matter is expected to be approved following presentation on the overall plan.

Riverside County votes pay hike

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The Riverside County Board of Supervisors Tuesday approved a 5.5 per cent pay increase for the county's 4,200 employes.

Included in the package were a boost in health insurance benefits and a plan to give holidays on each Friday preceeding a national holiday which falls on Saturday.

County authorities said the plan, which is retroactive to Aug. 2, will cost $1.5 million annually.

Kiwanis to hear speaker on sales

CLAREMONT — Noal H. Black, rated as one of the best speakers in the field of education and sales, will speak to the Kiwanis Club of Claremont on "The Master Mind" Thursday noon at Griswold's.

Black is in the area conducting a series of motivating meetings for the personnel of a marketing organization, New Face of America, which is promoting products from a phosphate-free cleaner to a weight-control wafer.

Credibility gap on war widens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The gap between the official story of the Indochina war as told at the time by the administration and the eyewitness story told by those who did the fighting grows wider day by day.

The side of the war now emerging is one of secret operations and false reports to cover them up, of activities that ignored the will of Congress and ran counter to what the President and other officials were telling the American public.

Probing deeper into this side of the war, the Senate Armed Services Committee today turns its attention to charges by men who were there that the United States conducted ground and air attacks on Communist hospitals.

Tuesday the committee heard testimony from two former Air Force intelligence officers on a new bombing cover-up in Cambodia and from three former Army Green Berets on secret combat and spying missions in Cambodia and Laos.

Their testimony conflicted at many points with what Congress and the public had been told in the past.

One glaring conflict was the disclosure by George R. Moses, 27, of Houston, a former Air Force captain, that U.S. fighter bomber had attacked Communist troops trying to capture Cambodian towns. Such attacks were specifically denied by former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, and President Nixon in a nationally televised address July 1, 1970, appeared to rule such activity out.

"I feel this is just as important, and maybe more destructive to the future of this nation, as anything that happened in Southeast Asia," said Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, the main force behind the committee hearings.

Hughes said either Nixon did not know what was going on, or he did know and chose not to tell the American public the truth.

"There can be no inbetween," Hughes said. "I'm trying to determine whether the commander-in-chief told the truth."

Both Moses and Air Force Capt. Maurice O'Connell, now stationed at William Air Force Base, Ariz., told of falsifying reports to make it appear that fighter-bomber strikes 75 to 100 miles inside Cambodia in 1970 and 1971 had hit targets in an uninhabited region close to South Vietnam.

But it couldn't deliver

Post Office spends million on promotional advertising

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The General Accounting Office (GAO) says the U. S. Postal Service in two years spent $1 million for promotions advertising that air mail delivery had improved—although it had not.

The GAO, an investigating agency for Congress, said postal officials testified in May that air mail letters addressed to cities within 600 miles of the sender would be delivered within 24 hours.

When the testimony was given to congressional committees, the GAO said in a report Tuesday, the Postal Service had found through two surveys that next-day delivery actually occurred between 76 and 80 per cent of the time.

In addition, the GAO said, despite promotions by the Postal Service, the volume of air mail declined by 58 million pieces in three years.

The GAO said the Postal Service spent $4 million operating and advertising the so-called Air Mail Improvement program from July, 1971 until September, 1972. The costs for promotions amounted to about 25 per cent of the total expenditures, the GAO said.

Oil recovery device tested

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — A seies of tests to judge the effectiveness of a new oil slick recovery device began in the Santa Barbara Channel Tuesday.

The Coast Guard and representatives of Ocean Systems Inc. are examining a new oil pumping device which would be used to clean up oil slicks on the ocean surface.

The Coast Guard is also testing its own oil containment barrier, a rubberized wall which is to be dropped around an oil slick to keep it from spreading.

Tests on the two systems will last until Aug. 16.

The world's tallest dam, at 1,017 feet, is the Nurek Dam of Russia's Vakhsh River.

Cambodia victory by Reds to break down peace talks?

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam warned today that a Communist military victory in Cambodia could endanger Saigon's political talks with the Viet Cong in Paris.

South Vietnamese Vice Premier Nguyen Luu Vien said a Communist takeover in Phnom Penh would mean a change in Indochina's balance of power and might prompt Saigon to take a new look at their negotiations with the Viet Cong.

He issued the warning in talking to reporters after today's 20th session between the two sides. It again proved inconclusive.

"I don't think the present situation in Cambodia can endanger the talks", Vien said. "But if there is a major change in the field then the situation of our position would be different."

He thus echoed in blunt terms recent warnings by high government officials in South Vietnam that Saigon would not watch unconcerned a Communist victory over the Lon Nol regime. The Viet Cong replied that any South Vietnamese intervention could lead to a breakdown of the Paris ceasefire agreement.

Vien said for the time being his delegation will continue its regular meetings with the Viet Cong at La Celle St. Cloud chateau.

"If there is a Communist seizure of Phnom Penh it will be a flagrant violation of article 20 of the Paris peace accord", he said.

Under that provision of the accord the signatories pledged to try to restore peace in Cambodia too.

The Viet Cong negotiator Dinh Ba Thi accused President Nguyen Van Thieu of making "bellicose" statements and virtually ignoring the existence of the Paris accords.

Thi said Thieu's desire to bypass the agreements came to light in recent statements in which he urged the elimination of South Vietnamese Communists and their sympathizers.

In spite of their mutual recriminations the two delegations agreed to continue their meetings Aug. 16.

Fighting closes in on Phnom suburbs

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Fighting edged nearer to the Phnom Phen suburbs today despite massive U.S. air strikes, and Communist leaflets appeared in the city telling residents what to do if the rebels should capture Phnom Penh.

Cambodian rebels early today knocked out Phnom Penh's communication center at Kambol, eight miles west of the city and only three miles from Pochentong airport, destroying telephone equipment and leaving the capital without telephone communications with the outside world.

American warplanes, entering their final week of bombing in Cambodia, laid heavy air strikes south and northwest of the capital, trying to drive the insurgents back from Phnom Penh. The American air strikes continued even as an investigation was bring held into two bombing errors that inflicted more than 400 casualties this week.

Field reporters said the Communists had made a "toxic gas" attack south of the capital but did not identify the gas.

While Phnom Penh residents calmly went about their daily lives Communist leaflets began to appear in the streets giving them explicit directions on how to act if fighting broke out in the streets. The leaflets gave eight orders on what to do should the rebels take over Phnom Penh —mainly to stay inside their houses and not go into the streets.

Government forces evacuated the Kambol Radio station and in the course of the fighting, about 200 rebel troops managed to hold it for a period of three hours. Field reporters said the Communists destroyed about 70 per cent of the equipment before being driven out by government forces.

Telephone communications were expected to be out for four to seven days, government officials said.

The High Command said there also was fighting to the southeast of Phnom Penh, only about one and a half miles northeast of the suburb of Takhmau, and along Highway 2 about nine miles south of the capital.

Fate of school site hits stalemate; S.D. frustrated by state's stand

By LENORE WALLACE
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS —The fate of the deteriorating San Dimas Elementary School and a proposal to revamp it into a city park has apparently reached a stalemate in a continuing city struggle to purchase the property from the state.

City Manager Robert Poff said at a news conference Tuesday at City Hall that he is "frustrated" by the latest move by the state which was a request that the city rezone the former school site from residential to commercial zoning in order that it would be easier to sell to prospective buyers.

Poff said he received the request through a letter from James Johnson, superintendent of the Bonita Unified School District. The district serves as an agent for the state which owns the property.

The state took over ownership of the property when the district received earthquake funds from the state about six years ago. The school was declared unsafe and a new school was constructed in its place.

Poff said he has made it quite clear to the school district that the city will not rezone the property to a commercial use.

"The city is committed to put a park there and we have promised it to the residents."

About 125 homes are located adjacent to the old school site. Residents of the community which live in the Nubia tract across from the school have appealed to the City Council on numerous occasions this past year to do something about the deteriorating condition of the school. Children in the neighborhood are apparently attracted to the site to play.

Poff said the city offered the state $58,000 for the property in May after a city proposal to purchase the property for $53,000 was rejected by Harry Weaver of the Office of Local Assistance.

The state wants $75,000 for the site.

The city met last week with members of the American Legion who were going to go into the project with the city sharing the costs. The American Legion would use the school auditorium for a meeting hall and the city would use the playground area for a park. Other buildings which are unsafe could be removed, Poff explained.

The city manager said the legion voted not to pay the additional $17,000 that the state wants.

"I just don't understand the state's position. We are willing to spend more than $50,000 to improve the environment for the neighborhood and the state won't cooperate for $17,000," Poff said.

He said the state is supposed to have a priority on open space projects.

Poff said the state feels that anything less than $75,000 for the site "is a gift of public funds."

The city manager said this is realistic in that there are what he considers better industrial sites in other parts of town for $20,000 an acre. He said an industrial plant at the site would disrupt the residential neighborhood.

Poff said he was surprised when he received the rezoning request from the school superintendent because he had thought that the district had been authorized to advertise for bids on the site in late May.

Chamber to vote anew on parking

SAN DIMAS —Members of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors will have the opportunity to reverse a decision made at last month's meeting regarding parallel parking for Bonita Avenue.

The board went on record in July to oppose city plans to change the present angle parking to parallel when improvements are made to Bonita Avenue in downtown San Dimas.

Chamber manager Jack Carruthers said this morning that the chamber took the stand just on the information that the parking would be changed to parallel. At the request of City Manager Bob Poff, chamber directors will review plans and will receive a first hand account of the proposal from the engineer for the project.

'God's face' pasted with cream pie

DETROIT (UPI) — A bearded young man pulled a shaving cream pie out of a bouquet of roses and slapped it into Guru Maharaj Ji's face, then said, "I always wanted to throw a pie in God's face."

The 15-year-old Indian guru was appearing before the Detroit Common Council at the time of the incident Tuesday. The council was considering a special testimonial resolution for him (later approved).

The shaving cream dripped down the guru's broad face and onto the front of his suit.

"This was probably nothing like the nails through Jesus Christ," the guru said.

The pie thrower identified himself as Pat Halley, 22, a reporter for the antiestablishment Detroit newspaper Fifth Estate. "The Guru is just a slick businessman," Halley said.

Bill would liberalize sex laws

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation legalizing homosexual acts and other forms of private sex between consenting adults reached the Assembly floor today after winning a slim endorsement from the Criminal Justice Committee.

Sponsored by Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., the bill (AB992) moved through the committee Tuesday with less than 15 minutes of low key debate. It was supported by the committee's four Democrats. Two Republicans voted no and a third was not present.

"All this bill says is that any act between consenting adults in private is perfectly legal," declared Brown, D-San Francisco, who has unsuccessfully carried similar bills for four years.

He said it would not change laws against forced sex, sex with minors or with animals and would not effect public decency statutes. In addition to homosexual acts, it would remove criminal sanctions on oral copulation and sodomy.

The bill was backed by the city and county of San Francisco. Brown announced he also had the support of the League of Women Voters, the National Organization for Women and the Society of Individual Rights, among others. The measure listed 16 coauthors.

Opposed were the Peace Officers' Association, the state Sheriffs' Association and the District Attorneys' Association.

Albert E. LeBas, lobbyist for the opposition groups, said the bill would mean more forced homosexual attacks in jails and would render police "powerless" to enforce current laws against sexual solicitation.

He said the measure posed "serious law enforcement problems," and declared that "straight citizens" and "those of a very tender age" deserve to be protected against "repugnant" solicitations.

Citing a legal opinion from the legislative counsel, Brown countered, "This bill doesn't mean anyone can go into a restroom and solicit anything."

Also expressing opposition was Bob Hayward, who identified himself as a Sacramento school administrator.

He objected that the bill would allow homosexuals to teach school, something he said now is prohibited, and could have a "subconscious" effect on students.

Brown acknowledged that under his bill "simple homosexuality" itself would not be grounds to dismiss or refuse employment to a teacher. But he said education officials would retain authority over teachers who display "overt" sexual signs in the classroom, whether homosexual or not.

Brown, who has seen similar measures die during heated floor debate, promised he would not bring his bill to a vote in the Assembly until he had the 41 votes needed for passage. He said he now had the support of 32 assemblymen.

Hospital patients to get refund

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Patients treated at Doctors Hospital between June 10 and June 24 will be given refunds because the hospital's rates were above price freeze maximums, according to the Cost of Living Council.

A council spokesman said Monday the hospital has agreed to return more than $30,000 to patients who were affected by the unauthorized rate increase.

Alquist asks probe of San Jose protest

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Democratic state senator has asked Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox to investigate the demonstration and violence that occurred during President Nixon's 1970 visit to San Jose.

In a statement to newsmen Tuesday, Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose said he made a similar request to the U.S. Senate Watergate Committee previously, but was told its investigation was limited to the 1972 elections.

In a letter, Alquist said the inclusive results of a Grand Jury probe into the rock-throwing demonstration that met Nixon's motorcade "would appear to leave only the security directives themselves as an explanation of how this dangerous situation was allowed to develop."

He concluded his letter to Cox by quoting Nixon as saying, "Unruly mob violence and other inexcusable campaign tactics have been too often practiced and too readily accepted in the past."

Nixon stopped in San Jose Oct. 29, 1970 on behalf of Republican candidates including former Sen. George Murphy.

Alquist attached a copy of a Nov. 9 Newsweek article, describing the incident this way: "Outmanned security forces, plainly taken by surprise at the fury of the demonstrators, let them approach perilously close to Mr. Nixon—some within 30 yards or so."

How would you like to sign the work you do?

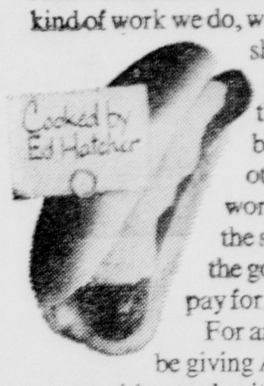
Maybe it's a shame that most of us will never get to sign our work. Because as good as we are, it might make us better. And we can afford to be. No matter what kind of work we do, we'd have more to show for it. More money, for one thing. Because we'd be giving each other our money's worth for the products, the services and even the government we pay for.



For another thing, we'll be giving America better ammunition to slug it out with our foreign competitors. That should help bring the lopsided balance of payments back onto our side. And help make your dollars worth more.

Best of all, as we hit our stride we'll be protecting our jobs here at home. And we'll get more satisfaction out of the jobs we've got.

You don't have to sign your work to see all these things happen. And more.

Bonita cuts tax rate $1.80--for a while, anyway

By ED PRATHER
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS — The Bonita School Board adopted a final budget totaling $8,373,984 Tuesday night as Supt. James Johnson reported that district taxpayers would receive an enormous tax rate reduction of $1.80 per $100 of assessed vaulation.

According to Johnson, the $1.80 reduction is the largest in the valley. He indicated, however, that the reduction may be revised downward to only $1.75 if redevelopment in San Dimas causes a reduction in local tax revenue.

The district's tax rate last year was $6.67 per $100, with new rate set, for the moment at least, at $4.87.

The $8,373,984 budget compares with last year's $7,136,522, representing an increase of over $1.2 million. Major areas of increase in the new budget are employee salaries, operation and maintenance, capital expenditures, and funds for books and other supplies.

In other business, the board accepted a bid of $144,750 by Aurora Modular Industries for the construction of the new Chaparral High School, the district's continuation school. To be located adjacent to the district Education Center on Allen Avenue in San Dimas, the school will consist of five modular units, each 24 by 38 feet.

The bid was accepted under the provision that over $47,000 be deleted from the original specifications to the company. According to Asst. Supt. James Overin, this would allow the district to readvertise for such items as concrete paving, cabinets and other items at a reduced price from the one bid received.

Overin predicted that the units would be ready for use by the Thanksgiving holiday.

The board also approved a longevity pay program for classified employees at the meeting. The longevity pay will range from $10 per month for seven-year employees, to $50 per month for 19-year employees. The program becomes effective Sept. 1.

In a personnel session following the public meeting, the board named Samuel B. Sornborger as the new principal of Gladstone Elementary School.

Sornborger is a resident of West Covina where he is a member of the school board. He is a graduate of Whittier College, holding bachelor's and master's degrees in education. He has also attended USC.

An elementary and intermediate school principal for 18 years, Sornborger resigned as a school principal in West Covina last January in order to run for the school board there.

The inventor of the "two-pole" technique in downhill skiing as well as the ski cable binding, the rucksack, and climbing wax was Georg Belgeri, a Hungarian colonel who lived about the turn of the century.

What a difference a word makes--to girls

VALLEJO (UPI) — The deletion of one word in a California state law has enabled five young women to become the first midshipwomen in the history of the 44-year-old California Maritime Academy.

The women—Suzanne Foster, 18, Big Bear, Calif.; Cindy Boone, 17, Garden Valley, Calif.; Lynn Fivey, 20, Castro Valley, Calif.; Jean Arnold, 17, Kentfield, and Susan Buller, 21 —boarded the Golden Bear Tuesday after taking advantage of a law which deletes "male" from the academy's list of admission requirements.

The women will live aboard the training ship with the 125 male cadets who make up the new class until the new semester begins Aug. 14. Then, at the training school here, they will sleep in special quarters apart from the 260 male students at the academy. After three years, the midshipwomen will be certified as third class mates.

The five will all obtain bachelor of science degrees in either nautical science or marine engineering.

Miss Foster said she had been fascinated by the sea since she was 8 years old and was "elated" that the law was changed to admit women to the academy.

Miss Arnold said she signed on "even though some of the jobs will involve work that is hot and greasy."

The women will be given no favors. They'll be doing everything the men do, from chipping paint to trying ship navigation when the Golden Bear goes out for a three-month cruise next January.

Henry Diavatis, academy information officer, said eight women initially applied to be cadets. He said once the midshipwomen have their third mate's tickets, they can expect to earn from $20,000 per year up.

Newspaper wins fight over story

HONOLULU (UPI) — Circuit Court Judge Robert W.B. Chang has rescinded a temporary restraining order which had prevented the Honolulu Star-Bulletin from printing a series of interviews with a former local underworld informer.

Chang took the action late Tuesday afternoon after a full day of hearing arguments on whether the temporary order should be made permanent.

Chang said there was no doubt that publication of the interviews would make it more difficult to empanel a fair and impartial jury for the upcoming murder trial of another local underworld figure, but he said the interviews would not completely destroy the chances.

The temporary restraining order had prevented the beginning of publication of the series of interviews as planned by the newspaper on Monday.

It was issued last Friday at the request of city prosecutor Barry Chung, who contended that the publication of the interviews with Alfonso Molcilo would prejudice the upcoming murder trial of James Pokini.

The Star-Bulletin's attorneys argued at Tuesday's hearings that the newspaper had a constitutional right to publish the story and that the newspaper's right was immediate. They contended that there was no proof offered by Chung that the articles would prejudice the state's case against Pokini or that they would make empaneling a fair and impartial jury impossible.

After the ruling, Star-Bulletin Publisher John Scott said the articles probably would begin running in the newspaper within a few days.

Top Indian adviser fired

Former Reagan aide blasts 'underlings'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Timm Williams, the first high-level Indian advisor to Gov. Ronald Reagan, says he was fired from the post because he had "not been able to get along with the staff" in Reagan's office.

Williams, who previously entertained fans at Stanford University football games for 21 years as Indian mascot "Prince Lightfoot," discussed his dismissal Tuesday at a news conference.

"I was persistent in pushing Indian programs," Williams said, blaming Reagan "underlings" for preventing him from accomplishing significant headway for California Indians.

James E. Jenkins, Reagan's director of public affairs, said Williams, 49, a leader of the Yurok tribe, was fired because he failed to fulfill conditions of his contract. He did not mention specific failures.

Williams, who campaigned for Reagan, was hired as the governor's advisor on California Indian affairs 2 ½ years ago. His salary was $18,000 a year.

Williams said the California Indian Assistance Project, which he had directed, was being dismantled and its duties transferred to a department run by non-Indians.

But Jenkins insisted that Reagan aides were seeking a replacement for Williams.

Williams complained he had been able to meet personally with Reagan only twice while holding the advisor's post—once to have his picture taken and again when a group of Indian leaders met with Reagan. At the latter meeting, Williams said, his purpose was "to keep the Indians in line."

"My governor has not heard the Indian problem," Williams said. "And I can see no way that he can hear it in the future."

Williams said his firing was an upshot of his "personal relationship with Jenkins, whom he said prevented him from direct communication with Reagan.

"In spite of the Reagan administration," he said he had been able to accomplish much for the 200,000 California Indians in the fields of community development, education, creating campgrounds for Indians and several other areas.

We can do more for you than any other bank.

(even if you can't find the scissors)

You see, we have more services than other banks. Not that you'll use them all. You won't. But it's nice to know every banking need imaginable is covered. And under one roof.
More likely, you'll be into things that make day-to-day living simpler.
Like the services we describe below.
Of course, of greatest importance is how we view the banking relationship. It colors everything we do.

Courteous personal service:

We feel banking is a person-to-person matter. So we value the human touch. With us, your needs are as individual as you are. That's why personal service has always been important at Bank of America.

New high savings rates:

We offer many different savings plans. And they pay you more than ever before in our history. Our new Certificate of Deposit pays a big 7% per annum for at least four years on a $1,000 minimum deposit. Our three new Investors Passbooks earn you 6½% annually for a two and one-half year account, 6% for one year, 5½% annual interest for 90 days. $500 minimum deposit. And our regular passbook savings account offers in-and-out flexibility.

Personal Choice Checking:

We have four checking plans to choose from. Each fits an individual need, whether you write few checks or many. And our beautiful scenic checks will add some color to your life.

Simplified monthly statement:

This statement simplifies balancing your checking account. We call it the Timesaver® Statement. It can even include a summary of your savings accounts and other information if you wish. You can tell at a glance where you stand.

Three ways to finance your car:

Only Bank of America gives you three different ways to finance your car. Ask your auto dealer about our Auto-Magic Financing, the rock-bottom monthly payment plan. Or about leasing.

Then there's our regular auto loan. We've made more of them than any other bank in California. See your dealer or local Bank of America.

Of course, we make loans for just about anything else you can think of, too.

Red Carpet Service:

Our own special system to serve you promptly, save you time. And nobody peers over your shoulder when you transact your business. Most of our offices have it.

Automatic Transfer Service:

Makes regular savings deposits or loan payments for you automatically, from your Bank of America checking account. Saves time, simplifies things. Especially helpful when you're ill or out of town.

More offices up and down the state:

No other bank can say that. Wherever you live or shop or work, you'll always find us close by. So you can cash a check whenever you want. Also, we can transfer your checking and savings accounts wherever you move in the state—save you time and red tape.

BankAmericard:®

For everyday shopping convenience, special occasions or emergencies. Good throughout California, the United States and around the world. One monthly bill helps you keep track of expenses.

Interest bubbles up in wine-judging for the fair

JUST A SIP

THE NOSES HAVE IT

Judges at the traditional wine-tasting competition at the Los Angeles County Fair such as Dr. Stanley Burton of San Francisco come from all over the state to examine the best wines made in California. Above, Dr. Burton rates the aroma of an unidentified wine.

THAT'S VERY NICE

Lt. Col. Stoney Mayock, Laguna Beach, judges one of several wines in front of him for color. Then he'll rate it for its aroma and flavor. It's all part of the 46th wine-tasting event at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds where 43 state winemakers send their best brands.

Session set for disabled

POMONA — "Everything You Wanted to Know About Wheelchair Living Under 65—But Were Afraid to Ask" will be the topic of an informal meeting at the Casa Colina Hospital Monday beginning at 7 p.m.

Persons confined to wheelchairs and other interested persons are invited to attend the two-hour session, which will be led by Sally Grove, a quadriplegic college student; Mrs. Lenore Hersh, the hospital's recreation therapist; and Mrs. Kay Moore, hospital social worker.

The discussion is expected to include such subjects as midnight emergencies, support funds, vocational rehabilitation, sex, automobile driving problems and opportunities, and other common problems of the disabled who use wheelchairs.

FMC sales chief gets promotion

POMONA — Robert G. Miller, sales manager for the FMC Wayne sweeper plant here, has been named general sales manager of the Woodland Equipment Operations for FMC Corp's Advanced Products Division in San Jose.

In his new position, Miller will direct the marketing of FMC's line of high-speed tracked log transporter vehicles and timber harvesters to the forest industry.

Miller has been associated with Wayne more than 18 years in various marketing capacities.

Display at fair

POMONA — Returning for its 24th year, the Fair Valley Grange 752, 856 E. Third St.,will have a display on the Grange and on agriculture at the 46th Los Angeles County Fair.

Entered in the feature exhibit division of the fair, the booth will be designed by Herbert E. Marshall, Pomona.

The fair will open its gates for a 17-day run Sept. 14.

FOR THE CONNOISSEURS

Staff members of the Los Angeles County Fair Association prepare 452 wines from 43 California wineries for the two-day wine-tasting competition at the Pomona fairgrounds. Seventeen judges, headed by Beverly Hills attorney Nathan Chroman, spent Tuesday and today rating the varied wines as to color, aroma, taste and character. Fairgoers will be able to taste the blue-ribbon wines at the fair Sept. 14 through 30 in the wine cellar of the agricultural building.

Commercial development zoning will be studied

POMONA — Rezoning of a half-acre parcel at the northwest corner of Murchison Avenue and Ganesha Boulevard will be considered tonight by the Pomona Planning Commission.

The property, owned by the city and state, is presently zoned for single-family homes. The proposed zone would allow commercial development.

In addition, planners will consider rezoning a street right-of-way between Ganesha Boulevard and Augusta Street from single family home use to publicly owned land. The property totals 2.7 acres.

The commission meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council chambers.

Other agenda items include:

— Request for a use permit to place a temporary commercial coach at an industrial plant at 2802 Metropolitan Place. E. J. Long is the applicant.

— Request for a use permit to develop an automatic car wash and service station at 1805 N. Indian Hill Blvd.

— Request for a use permit to develop a seven-unit apartment complex and a variance to reduce certain development standards at 1355 S. Reservoir St. James Elliott is the applicant.

— Request for a use permit to develop a seven unit apartment complex and variance to reduce certain development standards for property at 1444 W. Orange Grove Ave. Elliott is the applicant.

Rotary program is presented by Forest Lawn

POMONA— Color slides of the Court of Liberty at Forest Lawn Hollywood Hills were shown at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday by Monty Cochran, a community relations representative for Forest Lawn.

The Court of Liberty comprises a collection of mosaics, sculpture and buildings dedicated to the preservation of patriotic art depicting America and its leaders during the Revolutionary period.

Principal structures in the court include a replica of the Old North Church, a George Washington statue first exhibited at the Chicago Exposition in 1893.

Bank signs 30-year pact for new site

POMONA — A 39-year master lease has been signed by the Bank of California for its regional office building to be constructed on Mission Boulevard west of Garey Avenue.

Kurt Meyer, architect for the building, said the lease is valued at more than $4 million over its duration.

The two-story, 23,000-square-foot building will represent the first increment of the $6 million-plus Pomona Financial Center being developed by the Pomona Development Co.

Meyer, one of the co-developers, said that ground would be broken for the bank building some time in late summer or early fall with completion expected in the summer of 1974.

Casner Construction Co. of Temple City is in charge of construction and Jack Booth, local Realtor and partner in Pomona Development Co., is handling office space rentals in the complex.

The Bank of California became a major banking institution in Pomona valley when the financial firm acquired Inland Bank in 1971.

Pinching pennies difficult for traveler in Europe

I am planning a trip to Europe at the end of August and the devaluation of the dollar concerns me.

Could you please tell me what the general cost would be at the present level of the dollar for such simple things as inexpensive motel rooms, meals and bus fare?

A friend told me that one man she knows had to pay $12 for a breakfast in France!

I would like to take the least amount of money I could get by on. — J. R., La Verne.

When Action Line phoned to Ask Mr. Foster at Buffums', a cheerful, feminine voice advised that a good thing for a traveler to do is to buy the Wall Street Journal every Tuesday. It lists bankers' rates of exchange for every major country.

People seeking inexpensive accommodations have the best of a difficult situation, the travel agent indicated. She said to buy a copy of "Europe on $5 or $10 a Day," look for the low budget prices and add 10 per cent.

World Travel Service has had nothing but complaints from people returning from Europe. A hotel which charged $18 a day last year may be charging $30 this year in London, where new taxes also plague tourists. One traveler said he paid $13-plus for a turkey dinner in a European country. Another said he was charged $3 for a gin and tonic, which was on his "basic necessities" list.

Best buys currently are vacations in Hawaii and Mexico and Caribbean cruises, according to World Travel.

I'm sure I have an old-fashioned charcoal iron like F. C., La Verne, asked for in a letter published in Action Line on July 20. It came direct from Hong Kong. — I. B., Pomona.

Yours was one of three charcoal irons uncovered by the July 20 letter. F.C. acquired two for friends in Mexico.

A charcoal iron is bigger than a flatiron. A charcoal fire is built inside it before it is used for ironing clothes.

F. C. was impressed by the usefulness of charcoal irons where electricity is not available. Her daughter-in-law had one while living in Nigeria.

After she had obtained two irons through Action Line, a third reader wrote that one could be purchased at Pier 1 Imports, Pomona. This reader, J. B. of Pomona, used one in the Philippines. She still has hers but is "far too fond of it to give it up." She reported that it is a product of Mexico, where the other two irons, one of them from Hong Kong, will go.

I've had an account with an Oakland firm since June 1972. Seven months ago I placed a phone order for a stereo with a radio and tape player. I have been billed for it for six months but haven't received it. I have called, re-ordered and written letters about this situation but haven't been able to clear it up. I hope you can. — A. B., Pomona.

The jewelry firm's vice president wrote that as a result of an inquiry from Action Line, he had completely investigated your complaint and wished to apologize for the inefficiency of an employe.

He said that he had one set of the type you ordered remaining in stock and would send it to you if you still wanted it. You decided to accept it.

Nixon snubs set Japanese on edge

It is sadly instructive to watch Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka of Japan execute verbal end runs to avoid acknowledging the humiliation this top ally and trading partner has suffered several times at President Nixon's hands.

Talking at length to a small group of newsmen, the prime minister began with the expected comment that his visit here was part of a series of continuing talks with the President, the first meeting having occurred 11 months ago in Hawaii.

The purpose, of course, is better understanding. So far so good.

But, right at the outset, Tanaka was asked why, if this method of high-level communications was deemed fruitful, difficulties arose between Japan and the United States.

His answer was that, by and large, the relationship between the two countries was satisfactory but that "there are some frictions, naturally."

On the surface, that made the differences sound trivial. So Tanaka was asked if it were not a fact that they developed in the areas of highest importance to Japan.

Here the prime minister did not give a direct, responsive reply. To have done so would have been to concede, in a difficult setting, that Mr. Nixon has deeply angered the Japanese on at least three occasions by shocking them with major policy moves on which they were given no prior notice.

Two of the shocks are now an old story—the 1971 announcements of the President's intent to visit China and his severe economic turnabout involving trade and currency moves which strongly affected Japan.

The third, the stiff U.S. export curb on its soybean output, is only weeks old. For the Japanese, soybeans are not animal feed but vital human sustenance, and they fill 90 per cent of their needs in this country.

Just recently, presidential aide Henry Kissinger gamely took the blame for the 1971 failure to advise Japan in advance of its revolutionary overtures toward China.

But the matter of what to tell an ally and when is in truth a presidential decision, and the Japanese know it. The anger which Tanaka, for many reasons, must publicly conceal on a visit here has often been candidly expressed by lesser officials, both here and in Japan.

If our silence with Japan on the 1971 China move can now be perceived as a mistake, what was learned from it? We have just finished kicking our friends in the teeth on soybeans.

The reality is that this insensitive treatment is an inescapable consequence of Mr. Nixon's bent toward secrecy.

The testimony from knowledgeable sources is compelling. Only a small handful of people ever know what the President is going to do about anything, foreign or domestic.

When Mr. Nixon visited Soviet Premier Brezhnev in Moscow in mid-1972, he took along this country's most expert Russian interpreter. The man was never used in the important face-to-face talks between the two leaders. The President at all times relied upon Soviet interpreters, and neither the U. S. interpreter nor any other U.S. aide was present during the talks.

So Tanaka and other leaders are members of a very large club.

How about a 14-carat steak?

If you are under the impression that beef is approaching the point where it will be worth its weight in gold when you can find it—be advised that they are literally feeding the cows gold in Missouri.

Real gold. On the Columbia campus of the University of Missouri.

It has nothing to do with grain shortages or beef freezes, however. It's just that Dr. Fredric A. Martz, associate professor of dairy husbandry at the university, has found that gold is the best substance to be used as a radioactive tracer to determine how a dairy cow's innards utilizes its feed.

To make the unique fodder, the gold is mixed with discarded newspapers flavored with molasses—which itself suggests a subject for commentary we will discreetly refrain from pursuing.

Learn language sitting pretty

A West German firm has come up with a solution for people who always wanted to learn a foreign language but never had the time.

The Starlight Tissue Company of Witzenhausen is marketing rolls of toilet paper with English lessons printed on them. The complete course consists of 26 lessons, one lesson per roll of paper, repeated after every sixth square of tissue.

The packages are appropriately labeled "Lerne in Musse"—Learn at Leisure.

Navy bombs Florida preserve

WASHINGTON — The Navy bombed and burned more than 1,200 acres of the Ocala national Forest in Florida and then, Cambodia-style, falsified the reports.

Despite the disastrous fires, the Navy continued to explode live bombs in a preserve which the U.S. Forest Service describes as the biggest recreation attraction of any national forest in the East.

A confidential General Accounting Office field investigation found that, during March 1972, the Navy dropped 421 live 500-pound bombs on its Pinecastle test range in the Ocala forest.

On March 25, a hail of 56 bombs ignited a fire that burned 600 acres of the national forest. Two days later, 24 more bombs started another fire which spread from the testing grounds into the park, destroying 620 additional acres.

The Navy claimed in its environmental report that "permission was granted by the appropriate officials as the fire potential index was not at a level sufficiently high to halt operations."

This is disputed by the GAO, which found the fire potential index wasn't developed until after the March fires.

Again, the Navy's May 1973 environmental impact statement claimed that, "after the fires, the use of live ordnance was discontinued." On the contrary, the GAO will charge that 655 live 500-pound bombs and 242 250-pound bombs were dropped on the test range between April 1972 and May 1973.

In Jacksonville, Fla., Navy Capt. E.W. Ingley confirmed to us that live ordnance "certainly" was used but insisted that it amounted to no more than "two or three per cent of the total practice ordnance." He also stressed that the Navy takes "elaborate safety precautions" when using live ordnance. "Naval aviation is national security," he added.

As late as last month, however, Rep. Bill gunter, D-Fla., protested that bomb drops on July 18 had "needlessly frightened 250 youngsters at one children's camp in the forest."

The freshman from Florida called for the GAO probe after he had a personal experience with the falling bombs. While he was delivering a speech in the Eustis Civic Center near the forest, the building began to shake from the shock waves of the exploding bombs.

TAPES STALEMATE? Sources close to the Supreme Court suggest that the vote on the controversial White House tapes could end in a tie. Justice William Rehnquist, whose vote might break the tie, may have to disqualify himself, they say.

The Supreme Court is expected to rule, in the end, on whether President Nixon must surrender his secret White House tapes to Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox and the Senate Watergate Committee. The case is now awaiting action in the lower courts.

Rehqnuist's law clerk, Robert Wild, conceded to us that "there definitely will be a question "whether the justice should participate in the decision. "He hasn't said a word about it," said Wild. "I'm not sure whether he's even looked into it, so there's no decision one way or the other."

The aide stressed it would be "a personal decision." Rehnquist would have to consider his past national security activities as a Justice Department official and his close associaton with key figures involved in the case.

During his Senate confirmation hearings, he said: "My client, in my position as the assistant attorney general for the Office of the Legal Counsel, is the attorney general and the President."

Supreme Court sources say the case of the White House tapes involved not only eavesdropping but executive privilege. Rehnquist worked on both questions while he was at the Justice Department.

Indeed, he assured the Senate that he would likely disqualify himself on a case involving national security wiretapping.

VESCO'S YACHT: Robert Vesco, the international financier indicted with former Attorney General John Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans in a swindle and coverup case, is now a fugitive from the FBI. But U.S. Customs agents have cut off one means of flight by seizing his fabulous yacht, the Patricia III, formerly the Romantica, in a Miami boatyard.

Vesco was not aboard when the customs men struck, but the yacht is being held until the United States can decide whether Vesco owes customs duties on the English-built craft.

Nor is this the first time Vesco has had trouble with yachts. In June, we reported how his yacht sliced the anchor cable of another vessel, then sailed off to the Bahamas with Vesco calling: "You know my address. Send me the bill."

Nation's economy needs overhaul

The American republic has gone through many serious tests of the toughness of its political and economic fiber, and the sturdiness and resilience of its people.

Depressions, wars, national scandals, inflations have vied with the good, strong virtues that in the long run have overbalanced the bad and built a good nation.

Today we are experiencing one of the crucial times of stress.

The country is going through the paranoid period of Watergate. An almost daily flood of hearsay evidence, charges, rumors has flooded the national thinking.

Having just emerged from another, longer period of strain—the Vietnam war—in which reason and fact seemed to have had little relationship, it is small wonder the people are bemused, and almost unaware of a threat that looms darkly over the nation. Probably one of the most serious threats in its history.

The United States today is a nation unhealthy — if not mortally wounded — in its economy.

We all are aware of the peripheral, if punishing, effects of this illness. Price freezes to combat a persistent inflation. Food costs gone berserk. Rents up. The battle of gold for stability, the irregular heartbeat of the dollar, balance of trade problems.

We hear charges and counter charges about tax inequities, and loopholes.

These, of course, are the symptoms — not the cause — of our economic distress and danger.

As we had in our foreign affairs, we now have reached a time when we simply must take an impartial, piercing, hard-headed look at the basic structure of our economy. We must find and correct the central weakness.

The finding is not too difficult. It lies in a long-growing, emotionally well-intentioned policy of helping people. It has developed into a policy of paying people for not working, or producing; for needless, non-productive work.

We can take great comfort in the fact that brilliant leadership has gone to the core of our faltering foreign relations and effected a new approach that promises tremendous benefits not only to our own nation but to the world, for long years to come.

Now we must restructure our approach to economic ills, and it will take brilliant, immensely courageous leadership to do so. The guideline is simple, its implementation poignantly difficult:

The people and the economy are strong only when the people are equitably rewarded in proportion to their labor and their capital productivity.

Pacific coast aircraft factories hired 150,000 employes in the first six months of this yer, but turnover was so high the net gain was only 12,0000.

Defense of the coyote

This is my response to the gentleman who claims the coyotes tried to jump his five-foot-high fence to attack his 90-pound dog. I would like to state that we live at the base of the foothills in an orchard and have done so for seven years. In those seven years our three dogs, a peke, poodle, and german shepherd have wandered in and about the orchard and have fared better than the 90-pound dog in his fenced in yard.

About the five coyotes "STATIONED" in front of the house. Mr. Resident, I'm willing to believe that they might wander near the house but to station themselves in front waiting for the specific purpose of a premeditated attack on a dog is a bit much.

As to Mrs. Hamer's remark "They're not a bit afraid of us." I would like to say that my grandfather, while in the orchard, has encountered several coyotes and they all have run away from him. It is a well known fact that coyotes are chicken hearted.

I'm all for relocating but what will happen when there are no more places for the coyote to go? Will he become extinct? If one resident such as the Claremont woman can live in harmony with the coyotes then why can't the rest of us? — Diane Ontiveros, age 12, La Verne.

Gossip for today

It is alleged that the Indians once had a sure cure for headaches. They pounded a thumb with a hammer and the headache was immediately forgotten. And on the basis of that same cure-all theory, I feel certain that Watergate has been a definite boon. In one fell swoop, as the saying goes, it has caused the Great American Public to forget such problems as crime, welfare, smog, pollution, taxes, unemployment and the squandering of public funds.

But even the analgesic qualities of Watergate have thus far failed to quiet the anguish that has come about because of the ever increasing cost of meat. For such mental turmoil there is apparently no known cure. As the yacht salesman once told a questioning shopper, "If you have to ask the price you can't afford it."

INSIDE REPORT

White House puts heat on O'Brien

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Immediately after Lawrence F. O'Brien filed his Watergate suit as Democratic national chairman, President Nixon's senior aides developed an obsessive interest in causing tax troubles for him.

According to reliable sources from the White House, O'Brien became Enemy No. 1 there after the Watergate burglary. It was O'Brien who then led the political attack to connect the crime with President Nixon's high command. Fearful about what might be uncovered through O'Brien's law suit against the Committee to Reelect the President, Nixon aides responded by planning a counterattack against him.

The Senate Watergate hearings have revealed that the White House probed private sources of income for O'Brien, unpaid as national chairman. But the hearings did not develop that presidential aides conferred at length about intensifying Internal Revenue Service (IRS) pressure on O'Brien. This pressure was reflected in memoranda which may still be in White House files.

O'Brien's tax troubles began after his election on March 5, 1970, for a second hitch as Democratic national chairman. The IRS ordered an audit of his 1969 tax return. In 1971, the IRS audited his 1970 return. Neither audit produced significant additional revenue for the government. But after the Watergate suit was filed, the IRS ordered a re-audit of his 1969 tax return—again, without significant recapture of taxes.

O'Brien's accountant, an experienced tax practitioner, informed him the audits were conducted with unprecedented intensity. But non-biased tax experts believe it will be very difficult to positively link the IRS audits with the White House obsession to get O'Brien.

Vacuum of leadership

The continued isolation of President Nixon from the outside world, perhaps more intense than ever since the Watergate scandal broke, unnecessarily prolonged a dangerous vacuum of U.S. leadership in Vietnam.

That vacuum began last March when Graham Martin, U.S. ambassador to Italy, was named to replace Ellsworth Bunker as ambassador to South Vietnam. Bunker, completing a long and distinguished tenure in Saigon, thus became a lame duck at a critical moment in Vietnam. He left his post May 11, but a slow-moving Senate did not confirm Martin as his successor until June 14—extending the vacuum another full month.

Martin was prepared to leave for his new post immediately after conferring with Mr. Nixon. But Martin, like many officials before him with a similarly important need to see the President, simply could not obtain an appointment. After cooling his heels in Washington for a full month, Martin finally was granted an appointment with Mr. Nixon for Thursday, July 12.

But on July 12, the President was hospitalized with viral pneumonia. Martin left Washington July 15, without the benefit of having conferred with Mr. Nixon, arriving in Saigon July 17 to finaliy end the vacuum.

In the view of worried U.S. officials in Vietnam, the absence of a permanent ambassador in Saigon contributed to a an absence of U.S. policy at a time when the Communists were skillfully using the ceasefire to improve their military position and develop a "Third Vietnam" within the borders of South Vietnam.

Connally moves

Former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas has quietly embarked on a path many close friends predicted he would never take: the rubber chicken banquet circuit to establish his new credentials as a Republican — possibly a Republican presidential candidate.

Connally gave state Republican headquarters in Austin, Tex., the green light about a month ago to start scheduling appearances for him across the country. Out of hundreds of requests pouring into Austin (as many as 60 in one week), Connally has accepted two so far: the kickoff banquet of the Republican state convention in San Diego Sept. 8, and the annual Trunk and Tusk Republican dinner in Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 16. There will be many more.

Such appearances are essential for ex-Democrat Connally to melt the reserve of Republican regulars if he is to have any chance for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976. But many veteran Connally-watchers felt his distaste for grubby campaigning would preclude such a necessary course. The fact that he is going on the burdensome banquet circuit is clear evidence of presidential ambitions.

NEWEST JUDGE

Martin A. Hildreth, left, is sworn in as the West Valley Municipal Court's newest judge by Judge Don Turner of the San Bernardino County Superior Court.

Hildreth starts job as Municipal Court judge

ONTARIO — Martin A. Hildreth began serving this week as the newest West Valley Municipal Court judge.

Judge Hildreth, now seated in Department C of the Municipal Court, succeeds Clifton L. Allen, now a Superior Court judge for San Bernardino County.

Judge Hildreth, a 38-year-old Republican, was sworn in by Superior Court Judge Don Turner Monday afternoon during formal installation ceremonies attended by more than 75 judges, attorneys and family friends at the West Valley court.

In assuming his new position, he leaves the law firm of Etchason, Davidson, Leisch, Thomas, and Victor of Ontario. The new judge also has served as a West Valley deputy district attorney and as city attorney for Ontario.

Speakers at the installation were Kenneth G. Ziebarth, presiding judge of the West Valley Municipal Court; Sidney W. Jones, president of the Western San Bernardino County Bar Association; George W. Porter, vice president of the San Bernardino County Bar Association; and W. David Etchason, the new judge's former law partner. They indicated Hildreth has been both "aggressive" and "innovative" in his law career. He has been aggressive as a prosecutor and squally as aggressive as a defense attorney since receiving his law degree in 1962 from UCLA, they said.

Judge Ziebarth said that the West Valley branch of the Municipal Court has always been innovative and shown a willingness to try new ideas and that Hildreth was a welcome addition to the court.

After receiving his new judicial robe from his wife Liesel, Judge Hildreth addressed the court thanking those who attended. Hildreth said that he became interested in law while working as a linotype operator and attending college. He said in that time he met an attorney he so admired that he spent an entire week reading treatises on law in the college library. Hildreth said that he decided then to give law school a try. "From then on I wanted to become an attorney," he said.

Hildreth was notified of his judicial appointment in early July by Gov. Ronald Reagan after Judge Allen assumed his new role in the Superior Court. Attorney Rex Victor takes Hildreth's place in the Ontario law firm.

CHINO — The Community Adult School is offering a class in basic English for Portuguese Americans beginning Tuesday, Sept. 11.

Mrs. Maria Rohrer will teach the class meeting from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday in Room 11 at Chino High School. Interested persons may enroll at the first class meeting.

Chinoan receives fire dept. promotion

CHINO — Roger T. Hirdler has been promoted to the rank of engineer in the Los Angeles City Fire Department after placing high in a two-part civil service examination.

Hirdler, previously assigned in the El Sereno area of Los Angeles, now is at Fire Station 25, C Platoon, in the Boyle Heights area.

He has been a member of the Los Angeles City Fire Department for 12 years. During this time he held the ranks of fireman and auto-fireman.

Hirdler, his wife Sue and their three children, Gary, Cindy and Michelle, reside in Chino.

Ex-D.A. aide joins law firm

ONTARIO — A. Rex Victor, former West Valley Deputy district attorney, has been admitted as a partner in the law firm on Etchason, Davidson, Leisch and Victor at 602 N. Euclid Ave.

Victor was with the West Valley deputy district attorney's office until last year when he left to go into private practice.

Upland school budget includes $1 drop in property tax rates

By PATRICK SPENCER
P-B Staff Writer

UPLAND — A final balanced budget of $5.9 million for the 1973-74 school year, featuring a $1 reduction in the district tax rate, was unanimously approved by school board members Tuesday night.

As presented by Business Manager Glenn Hardy, the new budget is $27,282 higher than a publication version approved in mid-July.

The extra income, a result of final figures on secured tax revenues and a firmer estimate of beginning balances, brings the total budget figure to $5,982,246.

The new budget reflects an increase in expenditures of $835,936 over the current budget. The largest portion of the new budget, $3.5 million, will go for salaries, supplies and books.

The district tax rate will fall from the current $3.89 per $100 assessed valuation to $2.88. The cut is a combination of 96 cents in direct property tax relief provided by Senate Bill 90 and the rest because of an 11.5 per cent increase in assessed valuations.

Included in the budget is a six per cent salary increase for classified employes, which has already been accepted by them. A similar figure allotted for certificated employes pay raises is also included, but negotiations on teacher salaries are still under way.

Both groups had orginally asked for increases of 12.5 per cent along with additional fringe benefits.

In general, the budget is geared to improve the teaching and learning environment, provide better programs for children and more preventive maintenance on buildings and equipment, according to Dist. Supt. Bill Plaster.

In other action, the board approved an application for $129,144 in state money for a program of intensive on-the-job training for teachers and administrators of Valencia, Foothill Knolls and Upland Elementary schools.

Called the Professional Development Program, the eight-week training course is designed to bring district employes, as well as some 120 parent volunteers, up to date in the latest in teaching trends and techniques.

The program will be conducted in the district by Dr. Madeline Hunter and staff members of the University Elementary School of UCLA's department of education.

As explained by Dist. Supt. Plaster, the various teachers and administrators who elect to enroll in the training program will be replaced by substitutes of equal proficiency.

Plaster emphasized that those enrolled in the 260-hour program will never be away from their jobs for more than a half day.

Board members agreed with Plaster that the program, covering such areas as classroom management, learning theory, decision-making and multi-cultural awarness, would be of great benefit in enhancing the skills of district personnel.

Plaster also indicated that the year-long program could be extended for another two years to allow personnel from the district's other schools to take part.

In further business action, the board:

— Approved leasing of two classrooms at Citrus School and one classroom at Sierra Vista School for use in a county schools program for children with speech and hearing handicaps.

— Approved a policy revision reimbursing classified personnel for the $6.50 cost of fingerprinting necessary to complete employment procedures.

— Placed on first reading a new policy on pupil transportation rules and regulations which will give school principals, rather than bus drivers, the authority and discretion, in cooperation with parents, to suspend children from the use of school transportation because of disciplinary infractions.

— Announced that the state has approved the district's application for an Early Childhood Education Program at Foothill Knolls School this fall. The state will fund the $35,000 program in 10 equal installments beginning in September.

Community band plea attracts 21

ONTARIO — A move to form an Ontario Community Band hit a "sweet note" here Monday night.

Twenty-one musicians attended an initial meeting held at the Salvation Army building, 1412 S. Euclid Ave.

"This is much better than I had hoped for," said Fred Chamberlain, one of the organizers. "We are now looking over the applicants to determine the types of instruments they can play."

He plans to set the band's first rehearsal wihin the next two weeks. "Our first public appearance will depend on how well the musicians work and blend together," said Chamberlain.

"We have a good foundation here, and the instrumentation is pretty good. All who attended the initial meeting had their own instruments. Several can play several musical pieces," he noted.

"The age span was real good. About half are still students, with the other half out of school," said Chamberlain.

Varied experience

One man has played over 35 years. He was a member of a symphony band in Denver, Colo., and also Army and Marine bands.

Other musicians included a husband-wife team, with the wife playing a trumpet and the husband, the flute and a Cucamonga housewife who plays the drums.

Most of the musicians were from Ontario, with the communities of Claremont, Montclair, Cucamonga, Upland and Alta Loma also represented.

Chamberlain said he next plans to meet with Berger Nielsen, executive vice president of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, to give a report and seek financial backing.

He also plans to meet with city park and recreation officials and school districts. "We want to see if we can obtain from the school districts any music or instruments not being used," Chamberlain explained.

Chamberlain, who has been associated with Salvation Army bands for many years, last week had announced his plans to form a community band.

"We are hopeful to form a band for area parades and also to give musical concerts in Ontario and surrounding areas," he added.

He is being assisted by Bob Parton of Upland, formerly with the Air Force Band and recently associated with Salvation Army Bands.

The community band concept stemmed from Chamberlain's son playing in the Ontario High School band. "I went to the high school's year end concert and began thinking that many of these students would put down their musical instruments after graduation, never to play again."

A visit with Chino school personnel chief

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — Leland Doughty is a laughing, good-natured man with light brown eyes, deep brown hair streaked heavily with grey and the relaxed mannerisms of a man accustomed to dealing with people. These characteristics will keep him in good stride in his new job as personnel director of Chino Unified School District.

Doughty, succeeding Lowell Jones who retired, began his career in teaching following graduation from UC Santa Barbara with a bachelor degree in English and political science. He worked briefly as a counselor at the Orange County juvenile hall before branching out into teaching.

"UC didn't train you to become a teacher. They trained you to be a political scientist, a historian, a chemist. They don't train you to become a political science teacher, a science teacher. They like the boys who are going to go on and get them scholarships. The brain child, so to speak," he commented.

"Like all new people to the profession, I thought I had something new to offer. I found out what it was. That was to teach concepts; and the best part was to listen to the responses. No response, no question is dumb. Any teacher who says a question is dumb turns the kid off right then and there."

After six years of teaching world history and English and coaching varsity football and B basketball in the Santa Ana Unified School District, Doughty decided to branch out into personnel administration.

The change came about partially because of extensive graduate work in personnel and industrial relations — a certificate in industrial relations from UC Irvine and a master's from Chapman College—and partially because of self-gratification in moving up, professionally and financially.

"I wanted the experience to eventually become a superintendent. After receiving some of the experiences I've given the superintendency some second thoughts.

"A superintendent is a special breed of cat, a man for all seasons. I'm still in the spring season," he said with a resonant laugh.

The 41-year-old spent another three years as personnel administrator with Santa Ana district before moving to Orange County Department of Education for 3½ years as director of personnel service.

There were many reasons for the move to this West End town, but essentially, he explained, it was because "I really wanted a district that was moving with curriculum. That really doesn't sound like personnel, does it? Chino is growing and yet it retains a rural type atmosphere."

Doughty farmed as a child during visits to Kansas farms during the depression years. As an adult, he raised asparagus on 10 acres in Orange County.

"I marketed heavily. It included cutting the asparagus in the fields, packaging and shipping. I don't care how large and in shape you are, that breaks your back," he jokingly recalled.

As personnel director in Chino schools, he makes recommendations for hiring classified and teaching staff to the superintendent and school board based on selection committees' recommendations, interviews and professional criteria.

He explained this method allows for "the selection of highly qualified personnel for the Chino Unified School District. That's the way I'd like to say it.

"I don't like to think of (racial) percentages as the criteria by which we hire. We are looking for qualified Spanish-speaking personnel, Anglo personnel, black personnel and anyone else who can do the job that is demanded of high quality education."

Doughty wants to run a "systemized, efficient personnel department." His immediate goal is a simple one: "To get all the vacancies filled."

Was Watergate part of a broader plan?

Senate probe will consider possibility after recess

SAM AND SAM ARE LEAVING — Both Sam Dash, right, counsel to the Senate Watergate Committee, and Sen. Sam J. Ervin, committee chairman, pack up after Tuesday's testimony. They will return to begin taking testimony anew after Labor Day. Dash is taking with him a full briefcase—but Sen. Ervin is hanging on tightly to the gavel he wields with an air that has made him a popular figure.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When the Senate Watergate Committee resumes hearings after Labor Day, it will pursue the suggestion that Watergate was only an incident in a far broader campaign using secret agents and secret funds and manipulating the government's resources to retain political power.

The committee ended its first phase of hearings Tuesday and adjourned until September.

Through 37 days of testimony from 39 witnesses, the committee concentrated on the breakin at Democratic National headquarters last summer and the effort after it went awry to conceal from public attention who planned it, approved it, learned of it and financed it.

But always there was an undercurrent of testimony and documentation suggesting that Watergate was one piece in a larger pattern. Its purpose apparently was to keep informed on Lawrence F. O'Brien, an old Kennedy ally whose competence as Democratic national chairman, documents showed, drew the White House's concern.

The evidence and testimony touched on but hurried past much more—the employment of at least one undercover spy who looked into the sex and drinking habits of political opponents; the attempt to sabotage the political fortunes of potential rivals; the instructions to make the IRS a political weapon; the "enemies list" and the suggestion that all administration actions, contracts, grants, penalties, inspections, audits and the like, be taken with an eye on their political fallout.

That investigation is called the "dirty tricks" aspect of the committee's business. Also to come is an investigation into whether political favors were promised—or coercion used—in the effort which succeeded in raising $50 million for Nixon's re-election fund, the largest ever amassed.

There have been suggestions, for example, that dairymen gave money through their political action committees in promise of an increase in milk price supports. American Airlines has admitted it gave money out of corporate funds, in violation of the law, and special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox has suggested other firms were also guilty.

The recess which sent the senators home created an empty stage which Nixon is expected to fill with a "white paper" responding to the testimony against him. It will be made public next week, officials said, either in a news conference or a televised address and will be longer than the 4,000-word statement of May 22 or the April 30 speech in which Nixon pledged there would be "no whitewash in the White House."

The senators received much contradictory testimony. Former presidential counsel John W. Dean III was Nixon's chief antagonist. He said the President revealed in conversations on Sept. 15, 1972 and March 21, 1973 that he was a coconspirator in the Watergate cover-up.

Advisers H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman were the President's foremost defenders. They said information about the administration's involvement in the cover-up was kept from them by Dean. Haldeman said he listened to the disputed conversations and found Dean had misinterpreted what was said to support his story.

Both Cox and the committee went after the tape recordings which, since the prosecution or the defense of future Watergate defendants.

Under pressure to render osals, such as private review by a highly regarded outsider. Tuesday, White House lawyers declared that neither the courts nor Congress can force Nixon to release the tapes—even if keeping them secret would undermine either. Spring of 1971, have taken down every word spoken in two of Nixon's offices and over four of his telephones.

The White House has been adamant about refusing to release the tapes and has shaken off compromise proposals.

But in the next round of hearings, its focus is expected to expand beyond the break-in and into an array of maneuvers cloaked in secrecy and only barely surfaced during the testimony heard so far. These include:

—The employment of former New York policeman Anthony Ulasewicz as a fulltime political spy. He testified only slightly about his activities, some sort of judgment while Watergate hampers the President's conduct, the committee may in Setepmber issue an interim report, drawing conclusions from what it has heard.

gathering information on the sex lives and drinking habits of both foes and friends. Within a few days of the incident in which a girl drowned in a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Ulasewicz testified, he was in Chappaquiddick, posing as a newsman and asking the most embarrassing questions.

—The attempts to sabotage the presidential primary campaign of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, who, in the polls of the spring of 1972 led Nixon by a considerable margin. One aspect involved a smutty phony letter under the signature of Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., accusing two of his rivals in the Florida primary, Muskie and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., of sexual misbehavior.

—The purposes of the White House "enemies list" of 200 or more names.

—The "black advance" project of White House lawyer Charles W. Colson. This was a schematic program of disrupting the scheduled appearances and plans of political opponents.

—The effort to manipulate public opinion by presenting Nixon as besieged by Communist-financed demonstrators. Former White House chief of staff Haldeman admitted in his testimony that he wrote "good" and "great" on the margin of a memo reporting there would be obscene and violent protest when Nixon attended a Charlotte, N.C. rally honoring evangelist Billy Graham.

Even if public opinion turns against the committee—and there are mixed indications that it may—the senators may hope that exposure of the entire pattern of political subversion may reverse such a reaction and make possible fundamental legislative reform.

Potentially 'hot' testimony passed over in a hurry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In its rush to join vacationing members of Congress, the Senate Watergate committee brushed aside explosive testimony by a tough-talking government lawyer who complained the Watergate probe was "snatched" away from the Justice Department.

Henry E. Petersen, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, testified Tuesday he deeply resented the appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor because it delayed indictments and was an indication by the Senate that the Justice Department could not be trusted.

"Damn, I think it's a reflection on me and the Department of Justice," exclaimed Petersen. "We would have broken that case wide open." He joined Tuesday's other witness, former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst, in praising the department's efforts on the case.

Petersen's dissatisfaction with the Senate's insistence on the appointment of a special prosecutor by the President surfaced during just two hours and 46 minutes of questioning as the seven-member panel hurried to adjourn for the summer recess. Kleindienst was interviewed little longer.

If Petersen had been called to testify earlier, the committee probably would have spent many hours—perhaps days— quizzing him about his conversations with President Nixon and virtually every figure involved in the Watergate scandal.

The ex-Marine, who worked his way through Justice Department ranks to head the criminal division during the Watergate probe, also told how on April 15 he recommended the firing of former presidential aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman because of the embarrassment their involvement in the scandal would cause for the Nixon administration.

Petersen launched into his emotional exchange with Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., over the appointment of a special prosecutor because he said the case was "snatched out from under us when we had it 90 per cent complete."

Gulping water constantly, Petersen said "excuse my emotion, but I've been here too long. And this has been a terrible year."

Petersen, who seemed to welcome the opportunity to tell the committee about what he considered was a thorough Watergate probe, also revealed how the President told him to stick with the Watergate probe and not become involved in the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

He said the warning, which troubled him greatly, was given him by Nixon at a face-to-face meeting shortly after Petersen was told of the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in by principal Assistant U.S. Attorney Earl J. Silbert.

The President said on May 22 he was informed by Kleindienst of the White House-ordered break-in on April 25, a full week after Petersen said he met with Nixon to tell him of the burglary which the President has said he did not authorize.

At his April 18 session with the President, Petersen said he was told that national security reasons precluded his becoming involved. But Petersen said he sought advice from Kleindienst and together they decided to resign if the President did not act.

Kleindienst testified the Tuesday morning the President was "very upset" when Kleindienst told him of the Ellsberg burglary, but agreed the matter should be forwarded to the trial judge in Los Angeles where Ellsberg was on trial for stealing the Pentagon papers. The judge dismissed the case on May 11.

Summary of testimony on last day of panel session

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A summary of testimony Tuesday before the Senate Watergate committee:

—Henry E. Petersen, assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's criminal division, said President Nixon last spring ordered the department to "stay out" of any probe into the burglary of the office of the psychiatrist of Daniel Ellsberg, the Pentagon papers figure. Petersen said the President described the breakin was a "national security matter."

Petersen said this conversation occurred in mid-April. Nixon has disclaimed any knowledge of the Ellsberg break-in until April 25.

—Former Attorney General Richard Kleindienst defended the Justice Department's Watergate inquiry under Petersen's direction, saying the reason more persons were not indicted last fall was because of insufficient evidence and that "you don't put people in the rack, you don't crush their fingernails" to extract confessions.

Stay active, people told

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Inactivity of people as they grow older causes aches, weight gain and fatigue, says Vivan Blair, a family life education-aging specialist of the Texas Extension Service.

She recommended six rules for the senior citizens — begin exercising slowly and easily, do a little at a time but often, combine exercise with daily habits, gradually increase time spent exercising, watch the diet and get plenty of air and sun.

Demo faces runoff for legislature

OAKLAND (UPI) — Democrat Bill Lockyer took a substantial portion of the vote Tuesday night but was forced into a run-off election in September with two other candidates for the 14th District Assembly seat.

Lockyer, 32, piled up 12,798 votes and fellow Democrat Jack Maltester, 59, mayor of San Leandro, came in next with 7,717.

The run-off, however, will be between Lockyer, Republican William M. McCall, an Alameda councilman who tallied 6,330 votes and Peace and Freedom Party candidate Robert Evans, 27, an Oakland attorney, who pulled 203 votes.

A special election September 12 will pit the three men against each other. To have won outright, Lockyer would have had to win more than half the votes cast.

With all 202 precincts reporting, the rest of the candidates for the seat left vacant by the death of Democrat Robert W. Crown fared as follows:

Ed Vogt, 30, a San Leandro attorney, 1,111 votes; Earl Byers, 50, an Alameda salvage dealer, 360; and John Abbott, 47, an educator, 316.

Solons' actions face a 'reform' --but not change

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation aimed at insuring that most meetings of the Assembly, Senate and their committee would be open to the public has overwhelmingly passed by the Senate.

The proposed constitutional amendment (SCA6) and accompanying bill (SB278) by Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, cleared the Senate Tuesday on 33-2 and 28-3 votes and went to the Assembly. Similar legislation already has won Assembly approval.

The proposed amendment states that proceedings of the legislature shall be open to the public—except when the legislature decides certain meetings should be closed.

Grunsky acknowledged the legislation would not fundamentally change current practices by legislative committees.

But he added, "If we do not adopt this, we are open to the zealots who will put an initiative on the ballot, and who knows what we'll get."

Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, said the proposals represented "a step backwards" because they would make it difficult to open legislative meetings more than they are now.

Under the proposed amendment, which would be submitted to voters, the legislature could close certain kinds of meetings by passing either a statute or a rule approved by two-thirds of both houses.

The accompanying bill permits closed-door meetings by two-house conference committees ironing out differences on legislation or committees discussing personnel, security or litigation affecting the legislature. The same kinds of secret sessions are permitted under current legislative rules.

If the legislature passed the measures, Grunsky said, "We'd be in good graces with the public and get good editorials praising the legislature."

Noting that the California Newspaper Publishers Association backs the measures, Grunsky said: "This is the big step they (association members) want us to take."

An estimated 17,000 over-the-sand vehicles were driven on the sandy-barrier Assateague Island in Maryland in 1972.

Progress in tax rollback is noted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislators report making progress in seeking to reduce the increased state sales tax but foresee no quick solution.

"I have every reason to believe there will be a solution, perhaps one that will not please everyone," reported Sen. Ralph Dills, D-Gardena, chairman of a six man negotiating committee.

"We're kicking around four or five alternatives and I think there is a unanimous feeling that there ought to be some delay (suspension of the tax increase), of some amount, at some time," he said.

The conference committee met twice behind closed doors Tuesday — without Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti—and later members reported that "some progress" was made.

The committee is attempting to write a compromise acceptable to both Gov. Ronald Reagan and the legislature to reduce the five to six cent on the dollar sales tax increase which took effect July 1. Virtually everyone agrees the increase was not necessary in the face of a record $826 million tax surplus.

Planners' deadlock dooms Bluefield Drive housing

By GEORGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — A Planning Commission 3-3 deadlock vote Tuesday night spelled doom for a requested zone change for Lewis Homes Inc. on 20 acres south of Bluefield Drive between Mills Avenue and the extension of Grand Avenue. Five votes were necessary for approval.

Developer Ralph Lewis had asked for a change in density from 13,000-square-foot lots to 10,000-square-foot lots for single-family residential.

Commissioner Robert Anderson said he would support the zone change but said that the minimum lot size should be 8,5000 square feet.

Commissioner Eleanor Cohen said that granting the zone change would be precedent-setting, and that the commission should stick to the city's general plan. She suggested that Lewis come in with a horse overlay district on the Bluefield parcel.

Commissioner Richard Newton agreed with Mrs. Cohen. He contended that just because the county has approved higher density in the area north of Base Line Road is no reason that the city should take the same action.

Commissioner James Norris countered with the comment that he doesn't believe sticking to the 13,000-square-foot lot size north of Base Line Road "is to the city's good."

Norris moved that the zone changed be approved. Norris, Anderson, and acting chairman William McLaughlin voted yes, with Charles Farritor, Mrs. Cohen, and Newton voting no.

John Geerken, 2955 Claremont Heights Drive, who with other residents had protested a Lewis project east of Claremont Heights Drive two weeks ago, noted that the Bluefield project would create a possible "pocket" of high-density homes surrounded by low-density lots in the city. He questioned the desirability of such an "island."

He said that some of his neighbors referred to the Lewis project as that "thin edge of a wedge for higher density."

Drive-in at bank passed by planners

CLAREMONT — The Planning Commission by a 4-2 vote Tuesday night approved a conditional use permit to Alton Sanford for a drive-up banking facility at Griswold's Old School House at Foothill and Indian Hill boulevards.

Commissioners Charles Farritor and Eleanor Cohen opposed the facility because they contend it would create air pollution.

The only resident to protest the facility at the meeting was Allan Wicker, 1377 Via Zurita, off Indian Hill Boulevard, across from the GOSH project.

Wicker said that figures he had collected show that 31,000 cars use Foothill Boulevard on a week day, and that the remote control drive-up window connected to the United California Bank building in the GOSH complex would create a greater traffic volume.

Wicker said he had contacted 36 residents in the neighborhood, and that 23 signed a petition opposing the facility, and while 12 refused to sign.

Commissioner Farritor said that he was "at loggerheads" with City Attorney William Bergman over a reason for denying the facility. Bergman had said that air pollution was not a reason by which the commission could deny the project, only land use.

Blair Holman, who said that he is responsible for 27 UCB branches in the Pomona and San Gabriel valleys, commented that the peak traffic hours are when people go to and return home from work, and that the bank wouldn't be open during those hours.

He said that the drive-up facility is important to any bank, noting that the number of cars using a drive-up window will vary bank to bank.

"You want to be where there's a great traffic volume," he said.

The commission was concerned about the bank being open on Saturday when the Art Fair also is open at Griswold's, but Sanford assured them that the bank wouldn't be open that day.

Nevertheless, the commission attached the condition that the drive-up facility may operate only Monday through Friday, and on Saturday provided the Art Fair is not in operation that day.

The only commissioner absent was Mrs. Enid Douglass, who had written to the commission and stated her opposition to the facility.

In other actions, the commission extended until July 9, 1974 a conditional use permit for the Larwin condominium development on Foothill Boulevard east of Mills Avenue.

Senate vote revives bill for farm labor elections

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Prompted by the labor disputes and strikes plaguing California agriculture, the Senate has overwhelmingly decided to revive a defeated farm labor bill.

Sen. George Zenovich, D-Fresno, Tuesday sought and received permission of the Senate to have his measure brought back to life in the Senate Industrial Relations Committee. The vote for reconsideration was 30-1.

On June 28, the committee defeated the measure by one vote. It was opposed by Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Union and the California Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO.

The bill called for establishment of secret ballot union representation elections, extended unemployment insurance to farm workers and would require 60-days notices before agricultural strikes.

John F. Henning, secretary-treasurer of the California AFL-CIO, told the committee he would draft alternative legislation calling for secret ballot elections and find an author for it.

In seeking Senate permission for reconsideration of his defeated bill, Zenovich noted that California agriculture has been disrupted by farm labor strikes and by the Teamsters - UFW battle over who should represent California farm workers.

"I'm going to try to get together with Henning and his friends," Zenovich said. "They said they were going to introduce a bill. Maybe I can try to get together with them."

Mom knows search for her little girl is ending

OCALA, Fla. (UPI) — After 10 days of clinging to the hope that her two-year-old child might be found, Mrs. Ruby Davis may have to see the search for her little girl stopped tonight.

"She realizes this and says she is just so grateful that everyone has turned out to try to do everything they could to find her little one," said Sheriff Don Moreland, who has coordinated the massive search for Christie Davis over the past week.

Moreland also made the decision to end the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and police tonight if no new clues are found.

As many as 2,000 National Guardsmen, neighbors, youngsters, and state and local policemen have spent sleepless nights and hot, rainy days, combing snake-infested woods for the child.

However, a sheriff's spokesman said Tuesday night even if Christie is not found the investigation into her disappearance would continue.

"I feel real bad about not being able to find the child," the sheriff said, "...but I feel we have exhausted every means to locate the child."

The search began July 30 and gradually drew volunteers from Marion and four nearby counties until Moreland reported a peak search team of 2,000 last weekend.

Hope picked up among the searchers late last week, when they found a tiny footprint in the muddy grounds near a horse ranch in the woodlands which are home to wild hogs and bobcats as well as rattlesnakes.

But that clue led nowhere, as did efforts to "jog the memory" of Mrs. Rebecca Henderson, Christie's great-grandmother, who walked through the woods with the child when she disappeared.

Mrs. Henderson, described as senile by police, apparently lost her way in the area July 28, when she left with Christie and her three-year-old sister Pamela for a short walk to the store.

Mrs. Henderson was found July 29 and Pam the next day— both about 20 miles from their Ocala home in the densely wooded countryside.

Jean Baird is wed in Lutheran rites

Trinity Lutheran Church in Pomona was the setting for the evening marriage of Miss Jean Marie Baird and Douglas Clarence Seiner.

After the double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Harold C. Price, the newlyweds greeted guests while standing under a flower-decorated arch on the front lawn of the church.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Paul Baird Jr. of Palm Springs. Her mother is Mrs. Bev Reed of Pomona. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Seiner of Pomona.

For her marriage, the bride chose an empire gown with long sleeves. The bodice was accented with pearls. Pearls also trimmed the veil. Yellow roses, white daisies and baby's breath were arranged in the bridal bouquet.

Miss Susan Baird was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ann Miller, Miss Sue Rehm and Miss Pam Oksnee.

Kim Opp was flower girl and Ronnie Howard was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Randy Dana. Ushers were Gary Baird, borther of the bride, Jim Hill, Bill Beardsworth and Jerry Troha.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard and family of Phoenix, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Opp and family of Rapid City, S.D.: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Anderson of Vermillian, S.D.; and Mrs. Anna Young, the groom's great-grandmother, of Gayville, S.D.

Mr. and Mrs. Seiner will make their home in Pomona.

Squadronette barbecue plans told

The Covina Squadronettes, Auxiliary of the Covina Power Squadron, will entertain at a Western Steak Corral barbecue Aug. 25 at the corral adjoining the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bishop in West Covina.

Members and their friends will wear western attire or Gay '90s apparel.

Mrs. Gillette Smith and Mrs. Harold B. Palmer are chairmen for the party.

Mrs. Lucien Pascoe, food service chairman, will be assisted by Mmes. Robert Crall, Bob Graham, William Stiles and Larry Petty.

Decorations have been planned by Mmes. Harold Province, John E. Fisher, Don Brookins, Emmett Harbough, Roy Graffham, Frank Russo and Bob Zoeliner.

Other chairmen are Mmes. Leon Petty, Alvin McPherson and Walter Rodin.

The Covina Power Squadron, which is a division of the U. S. Power Squadron, is an organization dedicated to teaching safe boating practices to the public. Ford A. Ferris, chairman of piloting, may be contacted at 622-4283 regarding fall classes to be held in Pomona.

Modgling and Stueve vows are exchanged

Miss Nancy Ann Stueve recited wedding vows with Larry Modgling in an evening ceremony at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Chino.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin W. Stueve of Chino was given in marriage by her father. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Modgling of Pomona.

Officiant for the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Martin Keck.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of organza and lace. Lace medallions edged her full veil and she carried two dozen yellow roses in a cascade bouquet.

Miss Beatrice Longanecker was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Nancy-Porter, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Les Flammang, the groom's sister, and Mrs. Frank Vander Veen, sister of the bride.

Shelly Vander Veen was flower girl and Allen Vander Veen was ring bearer.

Mrs. June Brooks, sister of the groom, was soloist and Jamie Brooks was candlelighter. Marlene Mendes handled the guest book.

Jay Yocum was best man. Ushers were brothers of the bride, Glenn and Jerry Stueve, and Jim Newland.

Three hundred guests atended a reception at the Ontario Elks Lodge.

After a honeymoon in Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. Modgling will reside in Chino.

Uses metronome

To control stuttering

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The metronome, that timing device every musician knows, now also is playing a rehabilitation role. It's helping to correct severe stuttering.

But in its new role, it's a mini-metronome, small enough to be worn like a hearing aid. The whole idea: the steady beat of the metronome paces the belabored speech of the stutterer, helping eliminate the seemingly uncontrollable habits of reptition, halting, pausing.

Dr. Charlotte Zitrin, the physician using it, says that "It's been known for a long time that sutterers don't stutter, for instance, when they sing."

Dr. Zitrin is director of the Behavior Therapy Clinic of the Long Island Jewish-Hillside Medical Center at New Hyde Park, N.Y.

She said as best she can learn the device was developed by an Englishman who had used a regular metronome to treat his own stutter and set out to produce a highly portable one.

Dr. John Paul Brady, of the University of Pennsylvania department of psychiatry, brought it to the United States, she said. She's not certain how widely used it may be now.

The electric pacing device is built into the casing of a small plastic "hearing" aid to be worn behind the ear. Its mechanism can be regulated for both speech and volume, and be adjusted as the patient progresses.

Dr. Zitrin said that at the start of the treatment program, the metronome is set at a very slow pace of 60 words per minute. The rate is increased as the patient improves, to 112 words a minute, which corresponds to slow normal speech.

The stutterer visits the medical center's clinic once a week learning how to use and adjust the device. And with conscientious practice at home, most patients show noticeable progress within a month and marked improvement in six weeks.

The retraining of speech habits is coupled with psychotherapy to help minimize tensions and anxieties which may cause or contribute to stuttering.

The physician said treatment at the clinic usually spans a six-month period. The patient, however, continues to use the metronome for as long as he considers it helpful, eventually getting away from it by gradual decrease of length to time used every day.

She and other therapists at the clinic have used the timer in treatment of only a small sampling of patients. But all have been success stories, she said. All had a long history of stutter and previous treatment without success.

The physician cited the case of one patient who was almost unable to speak when he came to the clinic. So troubled was his speech, he was unable to give his case history to the therapist.

But there was almost instant improvement with the metronome pacer, she said, and within the subsequent several months, he attained ease and fluency.

"We believe sutterers have emotional problems," said the physician. "But we have not proved it.

"By and large, stutterers seem to share many of the same personality traits. They are usually unassertive, have low self esteem, feel inadequate and are easily intimidated. Even though they appear passive and unaggressive, they are often feeling extreme, unexpressed anger."

"All of us occasionally stumble on a word," she said. "And a stutter might be normal with three or four-year-olds. They're just beginning to use the language."

And for some reason, she said, there is more stuttering in males than females.

West and Shagena troth told

The betrothal of Miss Linda West and John Robert Shagena is announced by parents of the bride-elect Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. West of Pomona.

A 1972 graduate of Pomona High School, Miss West is a student at Mt. San Antonio College.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lewis S Hagena of Pomona, the groom-to-be is a 1969 graduate ofPomona High School. He attended Cal Poly University and is now an extended-day student at MSAC. He is employed by the Humane Society of Pomona Valley.

Couple repeats vows in Kingman Chapel

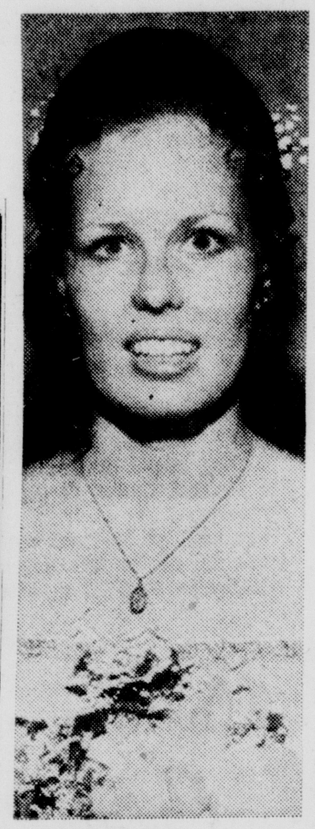
After a honeymoon in the Caribbean, newly wed Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross Harzke will make their home in Cucamonga.

The bride is the former Sheryl Lee Wilson, a granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Hendricks of Claremont. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Harzke of Sheridan, Wyo.



MRS. CHARLES HARZKE

Dr. James W. Dallas performed the double-ring rites in Kingman Chapel in Claremont.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncles, Paul Turner and Wes Hendricks. She wore a gown of white eyelet trimmed with yellow and violet ribbons. The bride made her gown which has an empire waistline and three-tiered skirt.

She wore roses, baby's breath and stephanotis in her hair and carried a cascade of yellow roses, stephanotis and lavender orchids.

Miss Leslie Frantz was maid of honor. Patty Vaughn and Jan Kitterle handled the guest book and presented yellow roses to the women guests at the wedding. Denise Cristos was soloist.

Serving as best man was William Rohr while Dwight Wilson and Steven Wilson, brothers of the bride, ushered.

New bodkin

A sewing notions manufacturer has introduced a metal creation roughly similar to a bobby pin. It is a bodkin and has interlocking teeth that grip material to be threaded and a metal ring that slides the length of the shank to hold the teeth in place. Elastic can't twist, ribbon lies flat, draw strings won't get lost inside the casing when the bodkin's on the scene.

Plant crops twice in year

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) —Get double crops out of your garden. The University of Nebraska Extension Service says as one crop motures and is used, plant another.

As peas mature, plant another crop. Or plant another legume, such as green beans. Broccoli if direct seeded will head in the fall and be of much better quality than those harvested in the spring. Beets, cucumber, zucchini are among those which can take a second planting.

Ask. Dr. Brothers

Subtle seduction

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Two years ago, I remarried and at that time both my children objected and actively disliked my husband. My 12-year-old son now accepts him and even likes him. What concerns me is that my 10-year-old daughter has done such an about-switch that it angers and embarrasses me. Her feelings of hatred have turned to passionate love and, unfortunately, it has strong sexual overtones. For instance, she insists on swimming in the nude. My husband thinks this is healthy and normal so he, too, swims in the nude. My son doesn't use our small pool but I'm sure he'd never join in this "sun and health kick."

My husband is a great tease and he focuses all his teasing on my daughter. Half the time she enjoys it and half the time she's in tears or is really hurt by his actions. I'm worried because lately I find that I dislike my daughter and I'm almost jealous of her, even though I know that's nonsense.—P.R.

Dear P.R.: All parents, no matter how well-adjusted and healthy, have both positive and negative feelings for their children. No one can love even her own child every minute of the day. You are jealous of your daughter because, in her childlike way, she is trying to compete with you for your husband's affections.

Your husband should be mature enough to recognize your daughter's problems and should help her to see that while he loves her like a father, you are his wife and his relationship with you is quite special and cannot be the same with her.

Instead, it seems as if he is encouraging your daughter and is enjoying a dangerous and unhealthy game.

Parents who parade nude in front of their children are indulging in a kind of subtle seduction, according to Dr. Sandor Lorand, honorary president of the Psychoanalytic Association of New York. The sexual reality of the adult is a world apart from the sexual aim of the child.

From your letter, I would say your daughter has fallen in love with her stepfather. This, in itself, is not too unusual. Under normal circumstances, your daughter would pass through this phase, but if your husband encourages this it may lead to deep emotional problems that may permanently mar your daughter's chances of leading a healthy life later on.

Children are in a position of depending on the good sense and reasonableness of their parents. They are not equal to the father and mother. Parents should be aware of the immense responsibility that their parental status imposes. Teasing carries with it a great deal of hostility and the person being teased is the victim.

Your husband is, in various ways, arousing and taking advantage of your daughter's feelings and then, at the moment when it would turn into something serious, he becomes frightened and breaks it off by saying something that hurts her feelings. This is a cruel game and should be stopped immediately.

Your husband may be quite unaware of what he's doing; however, if he joins in the nudity game, he must have some clue. There is a sexual core in the hugging and kissing of children but the mature person must take the responsibility of knowing how far to go, and when to stop arousing primitive feelings in children. Children are sexual beings and your husband must be aware of this.

Have a serious talk with your husband and take a strong stand against any further "teasing" or disguised seduction. It would also be extremely helpful if you could have some kind of professional family counseling. It might save a great deal of trouble and heartache later.

Women students realize goals

NEW YORK (UPI) — Women returning to college after their schooling was interrupted, have specific goals and a long-range commitment toward education, according to a study by a University of Michigan graduate student.

Hazel Markus, who studies social psychology, said her research indicated "The more encouragement a woman received from her family or employer the more likely the chance she would stay in school. The woman who returned to college, according to Ms. Markus' study, is likely to be in her 30's, mahhied, has children and her husband is "well-educated and high-earning."

Sept. 15 nuptials charted

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Stan Simpson, Pomona, of the engagement of their daughter, Sharon, to Stan Jenik, Upland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Jenik, Chico.

The bride-elect graduated from Pomona High School in 1971 and from Northwest Medical College in 1973. She is a past honored queen of Pomona Bethel 47, Job's Daughters.

Mr. Jenik graduated from Chino High School in 1969 and attends Chaffey College. He is employed at First National Bank and Trust in Alta Loma. He is past master councilor of Chino Valley Chapter, Order of De Molay.

PRINTED PATTERN

Shirt shapes dress

IT'S SMOOTH IN FRONT, gathered all around via tunnel belting—that's why this is the most flattering version of fall's favorite shirtdress! Top stitching accents the impeccable details of Printed Pattern M26 by Alice Schweitzer—the beautiful curve of the yoke that meets the line of the raglan sleeve, the details on belt and pockets. The Original is a crisp linen blend. Consider also snythetic suede, wool jersey, doubleknits.

Printed Pattern M216 is available in Misses' Sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18. Size 12 (bust 34) requires 2⅝ yards 45-inch fabric.

Send ONE DOLLAR for Printed Pattern M216 to Progress-Bulletin, Pattern Department, P.O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York, N.Y. 10011. (Add 25c for each pattern for Air Mail and Special Handling.) Please print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZIP, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Honeymoon in Mexico follows garden rites

Wedding vows were exchanged Sunday in an afternoon ceremony uniting Miss Jill Edith Hyman and Gustaves Paige Hiatt III.

Superior Court Judge John D. Racanelli officiated at the double-ring rites performed in the garden of the bride's home in Hillsborough. The bride and groom are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hyman of Hillsborough, and Mr. and Mrs. Gustaves Paige Hiatt Jr., of Claremont.

The former Miss Hyman chose a gown of English tulle fashioned with a tucked bodice, long train, sweetheart neckline and butterfly sleeves for her wedding. The dress was worn by the bride's mother and an aunt at their weddings. Given in marriage by her father, the bride carried an old-fashioned bouquet of baby's breath, daisies, white rosebuds, stephanotis and fern. Mrs. Richard MacLeod was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Lisa Ostrow and Miss Barbara Weigel.

The groom's brother, Rex James Hiatt, served as best man. Ushers were William Alan Hyman, brother of the bride, Andrew Craven Crawford and Oliver Bradford Colidge.

A garden reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hiatt are honeymooning in Mexico for two weeks before making their home in the Pasadena area.

Birthday observance scheduled

Hawaiian theme set by Shrine

Pomona Valley Shrine, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, will use a Hawaiian theme to enhance the activities of the evening when the group meets at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Pomona Masonic Temple.

The officers of Pomona Valley Shrine are inviting officers of other shrines to fill their stations for the evening.

Mrs. Ethel Young, Balthazar Shrine, Whittier; Mrs. Thomas Jefferson, Mt. Rubidoux Shrine, Riverside; and Mrs. Victor Mosley, Aloha Shrine, Hemet, will be the guest worthy high priestesses at the invitation of Mrs. Wayne Dennis, worthy high priestess. Richard McDonald, watchman of shepherds of Guiding Light Shrine, Rialto, will be the guest of Francis Phillips, watchman of shepherds of the local shrine.

Honored during the evening will be 45 members who have held membership for 25 years or longer in the organization. Miss Bonita Jones, Mrs. Harriet Sarver and Mrs. Frances LaClair are charter members. Their membership dates back to March 24, 1927, when Pomona Valley Shrine was instituted.

A social hour will be held after the meeting.

Evaporated milk will whip easily only when it is icy cold.

Frozen fruits thaw easily if left overnight on a shelf in the refrigerator.

Megavitamin therapy not well understood

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I would like to know more about the megavitamin therapy.

Dear Reader — So would I. This is one of those areas in which there are many opinions and not very many well substantiated facts.

Large or huge doses of vitamins have been recommended to treat some medical problems, including psychiatric problems such as schizophrenia. Some advocates of this type of therapy claim remarkable results. Their adversaries claim they have not done well-controlled studies that will permit any valid conclusions. The point is that some people with medical problems, including manifestations of schizophrenia, have spontaneous remissions or improve without any medication. To prove the value of any medicine, whether it's a vitamin pill or something else, it has to be proved that it is more effective than a placebo (a sugar pill or even an empty gelatin capsule). This gets back to planning your research study in advance and planning it in such a way so that legitimate conclusions can be made. I'm sorry to say that I don't know of any such good study in reference to megavitamins at this time which will permit any definite conclusions.

I would say that it is an area worthy of further investigation, and at the same time would caution the general public that huge doses of vitamins taken on their own might actually produce some undesirable effects, even with the water soluble vitamins that we normally consider innocuous when taken in doses considerably larger than we usually think of as a daily requirement. Of course, the fat soluble vitamins, A and D in particular, are known to cause toxic reactions if they are taken in even moderately excessive doses over a prolonged period of time.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Could you help me with my problem? The part of my legs below my knees is too skinny. I have heard that certain exercises could build muscles in your legs and make them larger.

Dear Reader—In most people, the proper type of exercise will increase the size of a muscle or muscle group. The principle is to increase the weight which the muscle must lift, or the strength of the muscular contraction. This works equally well for men and women. When a muscle is contracted strongly it causes the formation of a chemical called creatine. This substance stimulates the muscle fibers to grow so the muscles gain strength and are able to contract even more forcibly, or to lift a greater weight. So it is, that the larger or stronger a muscle becomes, the more able it is to grow.

You are probably talking about the muscle group commonly called the calf muscles. A simple exercise to help build them is simply to stand flat-footed, then rise up, balancing on your toes, and then let your heels sink back to the floor naturally. By repeating this exercise over and over it will gradually increase the strength of the calf muscles. When they are strong enough, you can balance by placing the tips of the fingers against the wall or a doorjamb and simply rise up on the toes of one foot at a time. This will literally double the weight load on the calf muscle. This simple exercise will help you develop the size of these muscles, if you do it consistently.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of the Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on balance diet, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Balanced Diet" booklet.

Was time to refuse a ruff

By Oswald James Jacoby

East won the spade lead with his king and looked over dummy carefully. He had to lead something back and nothing looked very good. A heart lead was hopeless. South had bid very strongly and surely held the ace of that suit.

How about a club lead? Maybe West held a high club, but if he did it would keep. A trump lead looked attractive, but East had a better idea.

South was clearly marked with another spade in spite of the fact that he had dropped the jack at trick one. Why not force dummy to ruff? East led his ace of spades.

South had a chance to trump in dummy and play trumps. If trumps broke 2-2 South would wind up making a slam. If they broke 3-1 South would wind up with a headache so South discarded a heart.

East led a third spade and South was careful to ruff in his own hand with the 10-spot. Three leads pulled the trumps. He cashed the ace and king of clubs; led his carefully preserved six of trumps; overtook with dummy's seven and made the rest of the tricks with the good clubs.

Erma Bombeck

Well, if I had known the battle of the sexes was going to be fought on a tennis court, I wouldn't have let my knees grow together.

Ever since Bobby Riggs became Queen of the Courts (grass, clay and Margaret), people have talked of little else.

"I think in our own family, we should keep the conflict of the sexes on an intellectual level," I said to my husband. "You want to arm wrestle? Five out of seven?"

"Tennis is a great way of settling the dispute," he said. "For example, you say I should take out the garbage and trash every night when it is clearly in your domain. What better way to resolve the problem than to delegate the chore to the loser of a tennis match."

We met on the neighborhood court right after dinner. "Don't think you can psych me out just because you are wearing shoes with rubber soles," I said. Then I bent over to pick up the ball.

"What are you doing?" asked my husband.

"Picking up the ball," I said.

"You have all the grace of a gorilla retrieving a brown banana. You don't swoop in on a ball like your legs are in casts, you use the Eastern forehand grip at the end of the handle. Then by perfect timing and wrist action you extend your arm and racket downwards until the tip head contacts the ball. Then with short, rapid bounces you begin to bounce the ball . . . tap, tap, tap, until you bounce it onto your racket."

"Like this?" I said, bringing my racket down on the court.

"That depends. If you are beating a snake senseless that should do it. If you are picking up a ball, you have to have a little refinement.

Determinedly, I grasped my racket on the end and with short taps began to attack the little white tennis ball. A crowd formed. "Whatya doing, dear?" asked a woman in a neat tennis dress.

"Trying to pick up the ball. My husband said I wasn't doing it right."

"You mean 'Paunchy' Gonzales over there?"

"Hey look, lady," said a man nearby. "You've no right to slur a male tennis player. This woman on the court looks like Totie Fields swatting flies."

Another woman came up. "How would you like to have a sweatband around your neck?"

"It all started when they began smoking in the gazebo," offered another male spectator.

Me? I was just sitting there beating that little white ball to death and thinking how easy it was when we just burned bras.

Change bird feeders before cold weather

Dr. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: We replaced our old eyesore of a bird feeder of an old slab of cedar with an expensive and beautiful chrome and plastic feeder which is really something to look at. We put it out this time of year to give the birds plenty of time to get used to it and before the cold weather but so far they haven't. We haven't seen any birds eating out of it yet. We know there is other food around for the birds now and figure they will come to it later when they get hungrier. I don't really have a question, I just thought it was a good idea to tell people not to wait until cold weather to put up their bird feeding equipment, instead to put it up now so the birds have plenty of time to get used to it. — J.B.

Dear J.B.: Right. Putting feeders up now to give the birds plenty of time to find them and get used to them will undoubtedly result in better acceptance during those critical cooler months. At least it will in most cases. Unfortunately, I am not too sure that applies to your plastic and chrome job. That probably was built to appeal more to your eye than the bird's. You will find, in fact, that many birds simply can't get themselves to accept plastic and chrome "furniture," no matter how hungry they get. If you are more interested in looking at the feeder than the birds, the new one is appropriate. Generally speaking, however, the more natural-appearing that dinette is, i.e., your old cedar slab) the more readily it will be accepted by the birds.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Magnolia, our cat, is crazy about pork chops. We don't give her the bones, of course, but I wonder, is cooked pork bad for a cat? — S.W.

Dear S.W.: No, cooked pork is preferable to other things that cats occasionally develop a taste for. Certainly it is good protein though it is likely to be a bit high in calories which could be a problem, depending on Magnolia's shape. As with most off-beat foods, if they are reasonably good for a human, chances are your cat can handle them too. Just don't give it often enough to allow her to become so addicted she will turn down other more balanced rations.

'Doctor' pleads guilty to cancer treatment

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Harvey E. Howard, 59, of San Fernando and Tijuana, who passed himself off as a doctor capable of curing cancer, has pleaded guilty in Superior Court to charges of grand theft and treating cancer patients without a license.

Howard gave several persons in the San Ysidro and Tijuana area drugs which he claimed would provide a cure for cancer, according to investigators of the District Attorney's fraud division.

In distributing those drugs, the investigators said Monday Howard told would-be patients he was a doctor. The grand theft charge arose out of one of the transactions between Howard and a potential patient.

The incidents were jointly investigated by the California Department of Public Health and the fraud division.

Sentencing for Howard, currently free on bond, has been set for Sept. 21.

Ashes scattered on factory floor

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) — Sydney H. Sherwood got his last wish.

His former secretary said Monday the ashes of the oil lamp manufacturer were scattered on the floor of his factory J as he requested in his will.

Sherwood died in March at age 88.

"He made the request," said Miss Agnes Maguire, who help scattered the ashes, "because of his affection for the works, founded by his grandfather."

Here's good news; now for the bad

NEW YORK (UPI) — An intensification of the teacher surplus within the next four to five years is viewed by the U. S. Office of Education (USOE) as a combination of good and bad news.

In its report "The Need for Teachers in Our Schools and Colleges," the office notes that although more than one million too many teachers will enter the market, the surplus of teachers offer the opportunity for school systems to be more selective in their recruitment and more demanding in the preparation required.

SPEBSQSA plans quartet contest

ONTARIO — The Pomona Valley chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will be host for the preliminary quartet contest of the Far Western District Aug. 25.

The competition, open to the public, will be held at Ontario High School at 2 and 8 p.m. The evening show, at which the finalists will be judged, will be followed by a concert. The 100-man San Diego chapter chorus, fourth place international medalists, will take part.

Fifteen barber shop quartets from all over Southern California are signed up for the contest.

Tickets, $2 for the afternoon program, $3 in the evening, can be obtained from Pomona Valley SPEBSQSA members or by writing to the chapter at Box 981, Pomona.

Piano teacher to present demonstration

POMONA — Pianist-teacher Dr. Amanda Vick Lethco will give a lecture-demonstration for piano teachers at Ralph Pierce Music, 435 E. Holt Ave., at 9:30 a.m. Friday. It will end at 12:30.

This is one of a series of free music teacher workshops offered at the store throughout the year.

Dr. Lethco lives in Houston, Tex., where she devotes the major part of her musical career to the teaching of young children. Like many music educators, she feels that the best time to instill solid fundamentals is during the beginning stages of a student's lessons. She has studied with such teachers as Rudolf Ganz, James Friskin and Douglas Moore, and holds bachelor and master degrees in music and music education as well as a doctorage in the humanities. She is, according to Pierce, "one of the finest pianists in the business."

Dr. Lethco's interest in teaching has resulted in the recent publication of a series of instruction books for piano students. Written in collaboration with Willard Palmer, another music educator, they are some of the newest and most progressive text materials currently vaiable.

All piano teachers are invited to attend. The class will meet in the Music Education Center adjoining th store. Reservations can be made at 623-5525.

DR. AMANDA LETHCO

YOUNG LOVE — A search for his grandfather leads Ted Leplat to Jennifer Salt in Lanford Wilson's play, "The Hot 1 Baltimore." The comedy-drama, voted Best American Play last season by New York Drama Critics Circle, is playing at the Forum of the Los Angeles Music Center through Sept. 16. Tickets are on sale at all agencies.

Playhouse to stage 'West Side Story'

GLENDORA — The Young People's Summer Playhouse will present the Broadway musical hit, "West Side Story," in the gymnasium of Goddard Junior High School, 859 Sierra Madre Ave., at 8:15 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and Aug. 16-18.

The production is directed by John Francis with the assistance of Don Clarke, chorus; Anne Davidson, choeography; Rich Greenfield, stage manger; and Galen Wray, orchestra.

Tickets may be purchased at the night of each presentation and are priced at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students under 18.

Members of the cast are Roger McCoy, Debbie Hankins, Linda Hankins, Bob Curtis, Kevin McDonald, Scott Morrill, Brad Kahn, Kerry Parks, Gregg Stevens, Jill McDaniel, Greg Willison, Lyn Rowland, Patti Daly, Diane Gearty, Lew Crouse.

Two versions of collision

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — David Wickwire, 53, said he and a friend were watching the sunset when their 18-foot motorboat was struck by a 382-foot ferryboat.

But Harbor Patrolman Ken Fulk had a different version Monday. He said Wickwire was drunk and his boat struck the ferry.

Wickwire was charged with operating a watercraft while intoxicated.

Wife hunters will like Bonn

BONN (UPI) — If you're looking for a wife, maybe you should consider asking for a transfer to the West German capital. Bonn has 1.166 female residents for every 1,000 males in a population of 278,000.

Way to lower food prices

Campaign on to break up big food conglomerates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A campaign to lower food prices by trying to break up big food industry conglomerates has been launched here.

"If there had been more competition in just 13 food lines in 1972, consumers would have saved more than $2 billion at the supermarket," a spokesman said.

Two leaders of the "Food Action Campaign," launched Monday at a news conference, also called for the ouster of Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz.

Organizers plan a six-to seven-week nationwide effort to spark public demand for action against concentration in the food industry, including a symbolic mail-in to campaign leaders of labels from products of the Del Monte Corp. Del Monte, the world's biggest fruit and vegetable canner, was singled out as a symbol of how food industry concentration affects consumers, farmers and local communities.

The campaign theme is "Send Washington a Message" announced James Hightower, coordinator of the drive. "The message is simple: get off the dime and take action against concentration in the food industry."

"The answer to the current crisis of steadily rising food prices and growing food shortages is to restore competition to the food industry," former Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., told the news conference. "That means breaking up food corporations that have become so big they exercise monopoly power."

Harris said the Federal Trade Commission should file antitrust complaints, like one issued against breakfast cereal companies last year, against all major food industries in which four or fewer firms control 50 per cent of the market.

In San Francisco, a Del Monte spokesman said the firm flatly denies consumers are paying more than for any of its food products because of concentrated economic power.

"The proof is that prices for canned foods have been remarkably stable for the past two years," the spokesman said. He added that Del Monte profits, "regrettably," compare poorly with the average for manufacturing corporations, and said there is no case in which the firm or any three of its competitors control more than 50 per cent

Artificial heart unit is now rechargeable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Development of a rechargeable artificial pacemaker for heart patients was announced today by scientists of Johns Hopkins University.

The pacemaker is a muscle which regulates heartbeat. Artificial pacemakers have been in use for some time. Some 150,000 people in the world now use pacemakers to regulate their heartbeats. One drawback has been that the patients need surgery and hospitalization about every two years to have the devices replaced when the batteries wear down.

Scientists of John Hopkins' Applied Physics Laboratory and Medical Institution said their pacemaker can stay in a patient for "many decades."

The way it works is the patient is given a portable charging device. He plugs it in and places a "charging head" against his chest over the place where the pacemaker is implanted. It charges through his skin.

A weekly charge of 90 minutes is recommended, but the pacer will operate without recharge for about eight weeks, officials said. They said it is also smaller and lighter than present models. It uses a power cell adapted from NASA space programs.

MEETIN' & EATIN' AT BETSY ROSS

By Gene Neighbors

Hi, Neighbors,

G'morning'! Lots of people sure love pancakes, but we serve ours with love. What I mean to say is; it's not just the food that counts, it's the friendly service and plenty of butter and syrup and hot coffee—y'know what I mean? Well, this mornin' I could use some, and hope y'all drop in when you're pancake hungry too.

Most people look at the calendar to see when it's Wednesday. At Betsy Ross in Pomona Valley Center, the waitresses all know when it's Wednesday. MRS. LYDIA YANZEY and her eight children arrive for their special 8 Hot Fudge Sundaes, at 49c each, besides soup, hot French fries, pie and coffee. A course, the bill may run nigh ten bucks, but the Yanzeys are happy. The Sears bunch and Bank of America gang get in on that special too, as often as they can.

Whenever you feel hot and want something cool to eat—drop in one of our coffee shoppes and try one of our ice cole Chef's salad, made with plenty of sliced ham, cheese and turkey, with tomatoes and eggs. Or our Cottage Cheese and Fruit Salad made with all sorts of fresh fruits on crisp, tossed greens. Man, is it a beauty!

Many of our old time customers, who have been good friends of Betsy Ross over the years, have their own sign language when they walk in the door. They just put up one to five fingers and swirl their hand or turn it over, to tell their favorite waitress that they want Club Breakfast # 1, 2, 3, 4, or 5, with scrambled eggs or over easy. You can do it too next time you come in. And that sausage? Oh, boy, what flavor!

Know FRED FREEHLING? He's the co-ordinator of all five Coffee Shoppes, and one of the frien'liest guys you'd meet. Next time you're near 969 E. Holt, drop in and ask, "Hey, Fred, how're the Dodgers doin'?"

CAMPUS 'WHEEL' — Charles Aden, a student at Harvard Medical School, has no gas or parking problems as he pedals his way across campus on his unicycle.

Skin bank gives hope to burn victims

DALLAS (UPI) — Eight-year-old Sherry White, burned over 92 per cent of her body last spring, may survive though others like her nave died because of new burn techniques and posthumous donations of human skin, a Southwestern Medical School surgeon said Saturday.

"Sherry's burns covered her entire body except the sole of her right foot and the back of her head where her hair grew," Dr. Charles Baxter said. ""In the past—and not too long ago —we would have lost Sherry."

The young girl was injured last May 10 when gasoline being used to clear tar from her feet ignited.

"It was as large a burn injury as a human being has ever survived," Baxter, the past president of the American Burn Association, said. "In the past two years we've been able to bring four or five patients to this point, but we couldn't get the human skin covering.

"So we lost them."

Sherry's mother was her only live donor, having similar skin as indicated by blood and tissue typing. But had it not been for the families of six other persons who had died, Baxter said, there wouldn't have been enough skin available for Sherry's survival.

The Dallas Skin Bank, about six months old, is both a repository for human skin kept viable by freezing as well as a research center for developing some of the new techniques used with Sherry.

According to Baxter, human skin may be used for grafting immediately or frozen for later use if it is removed from the donor less than 24 hours after death. the skin is usually donated either by the donor in his will or by his family following the death, he said.

Baxter said the skin then is catalogued by blood and tissue typing techniques.

According to doctors at the University of Texas medical facility, Sherry will probably be hospitalized for another month to six weeks before going to Galveston's Shrine Hospital for plastic surgery.

Among the new tecniques in Sherry's case — besides the grafting of large quantities of human skin—was early massive excision of the burned tissue. The cutting away of the burns has traditionally been done at a later time, Baxter said.

Thief appalled after sobering up, calls police

WACO, Tex. (U I) — When an amateur burglar sobered up, he was appalled at what he had done, So he called police.

"I ought not to tell you this," he told Sgt. Floyd Kelinske Monday, "But I can't keep it off my chest. I got drunk and stole some stuff last night from Harrell's Garage."

Kelinske said the man told them where he had hidden trailer hitches he had taken during the burglary. Police went there and found the

Airmen don't care much about winning the war

B52 crewmen 'never let us down,' says commander

By BERT OKULEY

U TAPAO AIRFIELD, Thailand (UPI) — Their commander calls them professionals. He says they follow orders. But some don't want to know what they're doing and most would like to go home.

"They've never let us down," said Col. Walter C. Schrupp of Canby, Minn., vice commander of the 17th Air Division of the Strategic Air Command (SAC). "We hit the target that we're assigned."

A visitor to this 5,000-acre base on the Gulf of Thailand gets the distinct impression American airmen involved in the heavy Bt2 bombing of Cambodia don't care much about the war.

"It's difficult for me to worry about Phnom Penh," said Capt. Gregory J. Gamp, a B52 pilot who at 29 will leave the Air Force in November after five years and join his father's insurance firm in San Francisco.

He was part of two six-man B52 crews that "volunteered" to talk to a group of newsmen given a rare tour of this base 75 miles south of Bangkok. The fliers, accompanied by escort officers, were briefed on what they couldn't say for security reasons, but otherwise were allowed to talk freely.

Despite Col. Schrupp's assurances of never being let down, one of his men has balked at flying a Cambodian mission and is awaiting disciplinary action. Capt. Donald A. Dawson of Danbury, Conn., refused on moral grounds June 21 to fly a B52 flight.

The B52 crews want to go home and welcome the Aug. 15 bombing halt. They're all technically on TDY (temporary duty) from U.S. bases, but the tours can stretch to six months and most them have families back in the states.

Capt. James B.S. Streets, Gamp's radar officer and a career man from Seminole, Okla., said, "I would just as soon be somewhere else. I would like to get home."

Gamp, who was raised in Babylon, N.Y., said "There is a morale problem. But a lot of bad publicity has tainted the whole picture. Much of it is separation from family."

Most of the airmen interviewed shared the feelings of Capt. H. Dean Rogers Jr., a B52 copilot from Hillsboro, Tex. "We don't like war any more than anyone else," he said. "We'd rather go home,"

There are 45,000 American servicemen in Thailand at seven bases around the country with 7,500 of them at U Tapao. The bases are technically controlled by the Thais but only 200 local military personnel are stationed at U Tapao and the top Thai officer is a captain.

U Tapao is home base for about 40 to 50 of the heavy B52 bombers and a fleet of KC135 tankers to refuel them. Officials say U Tapao crews average 30 to 40 sorties—one flight by one plane—each day over Cambodia.

Salads From Around The World

From The Americas

Representing South America, a mixed salad of Spanish onions, avocado and tomato served with a pourable mayonnaise dressing seasoned with chili powder. And for North America, a shrimp and lettuce-wedge salad with a Green Goddess Dressing. The Green Goddess Dressing, created in the mid-twenties at the Sheraton Palace Hotel in San Francisco, commemorated George Arliss' starring role in William Archer's play "The Green Goddess."

The Chili and Green Goddess Dressings were selected to represent the Americas because they are both made by thinning real mayonnaise, a do-it-yourself idea very much in vogue.

Chili Dressing

- 1/2 cup real mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons corn oil
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1/4 cup finely chopped tomato
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/4 teaspoon chili powder

Mix together real mayonnaise, corn oil and vinegar. Stir in tomato, green pepper, salt and chili powder. Chill. Makes 1 cup.

Green Goddess Salad Dressing

- 1/2 cup real mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 2 anchovies, minced
- 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
- 1-1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 cup parsley sprigs, minced
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped chives

Stir together real mayonnaise, milk and anchovies. Slowly stir in vinegar and lemon juice, parsley and chives. Chill. If thinner consistency is desired, stir in additional milk. Makes 3/4 cup.

From France

In French cuisine, Salade Russe may be a mixture of almost anything that goes well together, seasoned with appropriate herbs and combined with real mayonnaise. There is no one set recipe for Salade Russe. It may be all vegetables or a combination of meats and vegetables as in the recipe here developed in the Hellmann's/Best Foods kitchens. Typical of French salads and particularly Salade Russe are vegetables cut in julienne, that is, cut into matchstick size pieces. Although this typically French salad often includes hard cooked egg wedges, the eggs were eliminated here.

Salade Russe

- 1-1/3 cups corn oil
- 2/3 cup tarragon vinegar
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 cups diced, cooked carrots
- 2 cups diced, cooked green beans cut in (1/2-inch) pieces
- 2 cups diced cauliflower, cooked
- 1/2 pound roast beef, cut in julienne
- 1/2 pound cooked turkey, cut in julienne
- 1/2 pound cooked ham, cut in julienne
- 3/4 cup real mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon frozen chopped chives
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves

Mix together corn oil, vinegar, sugar and salt. Divide in half. Toss together carrots, beans and cauliflower. Pour half of marinade over vegetables; cover and place in refrigerator. Place beef, turkey and ham in separate bowls, pour 1/3 of remaining marinade over each meat; toss; cover and refrigerate. Let vegetables and meats marinate several hours or overnight. Before serving, drain marinade from meat and vegetables, reserving marinade. Mix together real mayonnaise and 1 cup marinade until smooth. Stir in chives, parsley and thyme. Chill. Arrange vegetables and meat on bed of lettuce. Serve with dressing. Makes 12 (1 cup) servings.

From The Orient

Whenever a recipe includes water chestnuts, bamboo shoots and soy sauce, the inclination is to dub it Chinese. Actually, classic Chinese cuisine doesn't include what is ordinarily called a salad. The Chinese do eat raw vegetables with their meals and, like the Scandinavians, create beautiful sculpted vegetables. But since real mayonnaise is becoming a familiar food product in the orient, perhaps Chinese Chicken Salad may some day be just that. Shown with the salad are canned loquats, a favorite oriental fruit.

Chinese Chicken Salad

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken
- 4 ribs celery
- 1 carrot
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 small onion
- 1 cup water
- 1 can (8-1/2 oz) water chestnuts, drained (1 cup)
- 1 can (8-1/2 oz) bamboo shoots (1 cup)
- 2 canned pimientos, chopped
- 2 green onions, thinly sliced
- 3/4 cup Hellmann's or Best Foods real mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 quart torn lettuce pieces

Cook chicken with 2 ribs of the celery, carrot, salt, bay leaf, onion and water about 40 minutes or until tender, adding water if needed. Cool; remove skin and bones and cut into bite-size pieces. Slice remaining 2 ribs of celery. Mix water chestnuts, bamboo shoots, sliced celery, pimiento, green onion and chicken. Toss lightly; cover and chill. Stir together real mayonnaise, soy sauce and lemon juice; chill. Just before serving toss chicken mixture with dressing. Serve salad on a bed of torn lettuce pieces. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
Note: If desired, serve dressing on the side instead of tossing with chicken mixture.

From The Netherlands

A Dutch national dish, Huzarensla is said to get its name from colorful calvary soldiers called hussars who at one time back in history took a special fancy to the Dutchmen's combination of cold beef, beet and potato. In Holland, although the salad is always made with real mayonnaise, for special occasions, extra mayonnaise is used to glaze the mound of salad and the glaze decorated with a typically Dutch motif. The recipe given here was developed in the Best Foods kitchens by a Dutch-trained home economist. Shown with the salad are Zebra sandwiches made with pumpernickle bread and a cheese spread.

Huzarensla

- 6 cups diced cooked potatoes
- 3-1/3 cups chopped roast beef
- 2 cups chopped apples
- 2 cups chopped beets
- 1-1/4 cups chopped sour gherkins
- 1 cup real mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons corn oil
- 2 tablespoons vinegar from gherkins
- 2 tablespoons grated onion
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground pepper

Toss together potatoes, beef, apples, beets and gherkins. Mix together real mayonnaise, corn oil, vinegar, onion, salt and pepper. Toss potato mixture with dressing until well mixed. Cover and chill several hours or overnight. Line platter with lettuce leaves. Arrange salad on top or mold salad in large bowl before unmolding it on large platter. Makes 10 (1 cup) servings.
To glaze and garnish salad: Stir 2 tablespoons water into 1 cup real mayonnaise; pour over salad. Decorate salad with tulips cut from canned pimiento and stems from fresh green pepper.

Heart Association has new cookbook

Big news in the eating-reading line — a handsome hew copybook by the American Heart Assn. Medicinal? No. All good eating. Very good eating. It includes nutritional sanity, purposely designed to cut down on consumption of dietary cholesterol, suspected of being a contributor to heart disease.

A man-saving cookbook, one that proves it's fun to cook and eat right, it puts emphasis on the use of fish, poultry and lean meat. The menus using them are designd to keep to a minimum the intake of cholesterol.

In other words, it expresses the association's recommendations but with gaiety and practical guidelines.

This suggested breakfast proves the point: fresh strawberries, wheat germ pancakes with apple syrup or preserves or cottage cheese, low-fat milk, coffee or tea.

At a news conference luncheon in New York, we were served the following menu: tuna-dill pate, curried turkey with water chestnuts, cranberry chutney (or beef manicotti), ratatouille, spinach, avocado-orange toss, Southern raised biscuits, refrigerator pineapple cake. Actually, we found the food delicious and all the recipes come from the new cookbook.

No specific products are recommended. Recipes use natural foods for the most part, except margarine and oils in place of fat. The economics of food is considered. Modification of traditional diets is mild and modest.

Dr. John F. Mueller, chairman of the association's Committee on Nutrition, explained that evidence gathered so far indicates that excessive dietary fats and cholesterol contribute to hardening of the arteries. Therefore, it is wise to limit the intake of fats and cholesterol — lessening the prospects of atherosclerosis.

Several major studies have indicated that lowering the fat content of the diet and changing the ratio of unsaturated to saturated fats may very well lessen the heart attack rate.

The new cookbook has been designed to provide meal plans and recipes to put the association's warning against high fat and cholesterol into practical and enjoyable terms. Thre is a wealth of scientific data behind this purpose. High levels of blood cholesterol and other fats are linked to increased susceptibility to heart attack and stroke. Together these two diseases kill almost 900,000 Americans every year.

The book contains 500 first class recipes, all tested by the association's nutritionists. In practical terms, the book puts emphasis on fish and poultry and lean beef, all with a minimum of cholesterol.

The American Heart Association Cookbook is published by David McKay; $7.95.

Have European breakfast here

You don't have to be a tourist for this one. Your own homemade continental breakfast can outdo any room service. Mix ½ cup mashed cottage cheese with ¼ cup snipped prunes and 2 tablespoons brown sugar, sprinkle with cinnamon. Spread on refrigerated crescent dinner rolls; roll up, bake. Drizzle with ¼ cup powdered sugar blended with one tablespoon milk.

Watermelon was growing in desert

You might never suspect it — but the watermelon originated in Africa. In fact David Livingstone, the noted missionary explorer, found watermelons growing wild in the desert and semi-desert regions of Africa and published accounts in 1858 of his discovery. Now it's your turn to discover the fresh crop of ripe, red juicy watermelons at your market and enjoy them to the hilt. Mothers can please their youngsters by leaving thin wedges of watermelon ready cut in the refrigerator for kiddies to snack on.

A dash of courage, lot of taste

The ancient Romans fed their soldiers garlic in the belief it would give them courage. For some people today, it would take courage to try fresh garlic in their cooking. Once tried, however, the discovery is that garlic used wisely is a wonderful flavor enhancer, adding a subtle something to stews, soups, and salad. In case you have never bought garlic, look for a bulb-shaped vegetable that resembles an onion with a white, papery, membrane-like skin.

Watergate cookbook has fowl recipes

A new book that offers something for every member of the family is being introduced in bookshops and department stores across the country. It is called "The Watergate Fowl Cookbook Coloring Book" and it includes a collection of fine receipes for preparing fowl, as well as clever political caricatures of the people involved in the Watergate case.

Totally new and unusual in every way, the book is unique because it will appeal to the whole family. The caricature cartoons of government figures will amuse politically aware adults and college students. The sketches and a box of crayons or colored marking pens will keep small children entertained for hours.

And, the chef or cook who enjoys the preparation of unusual recipes will enjoy just browsing or preparing some of the unusual dishes for the rest of the family. The thought of Chiccken Breasts Bordelaise, Terrine of Duck with Orange, or Turkey and Ham Curry is enough to send a cookbook collector scurrying toward the bookshop for a copy.

All of the key figures in the Watergate case have been sketched by the noted political artist Freydon, including John W. Dean, Jeb Magruder, Richard Kleindienst, Archibald Cox, and even Martha Mitchell.

Freydoon spent many years doing political drawings for the "Nation's Business" in Washington.

Matching up the names of political figures with the faces that perch atop the bodies of various kinds of fowl in the sketches will probably be an amusing pastime. An owl, seagull, chicken, parrot, penguin, canary, and of course a goose, are but a few of the book's feathered friends. Because of its compact size the book is particularly appropriate for a gift to a friend in the hospital or to take along to a party.

A second edition has already been scheduled, to be published about election time this year. One of the features of the second edition will be recipes for fowl which have been submitted for publication by food editors and amateur cooks. Ten dollars will be paid by the publisher for each recipe published.

The "Watergate Fowl Cookbook Coloring Book" retails for $1.95 and is now available at the U.S.C. and U.C.L.A. Bookstores, the Pickwick Bookshop in Westwood, the Egg and the Eye, Anne Chiquoine Bookstore in Ventura, as well as other fine bookshops in Southern California. It is also available directly from the publisher, the Friendly-One Publishing Co., P.O. Box 90430, Los Angeles, Ca. 90009.

CYCLER'S LUNCH

Banana has reputation for providing fast energy

Bicycle racers, whether professionals or the youngster down the street, all put high stock in high energy foods. The banana has a great story to tell in this area. The well-liked fruit gives both quick energy and sustained energy. The explanation for this, says the Banana Bunch, industry-sponsored center for consumer information, is the character of the natural sugars in the banana, giving a quick energy pick-up as well as a longer-lasting charge of energy.

That is why so many sportsmen and sportswomen of all types eat bananas. They take them with them to track or ball park, and they also prize snacks made with bananas. We offer two homemade snacks today. The sportsman can take them with him, or eat them at home between bouts of his favorite pastime.

A wonderfully good cookie is just packed with energy and good taste. It's called Banana Granola Bars. It has the high energy and food value of the famous cereal plus the vitamins, minerals, and energy in bananas. This is a three-layer cookie with cookie dough top and bottom. In between is the most delectable jam-like banana filling. Great to pack for eating on a bicycle jaunt, or a picnic and ballplaying session outdoors.

If the sportsman would rather drink a snack than eat it, Super Nog is the ticket. It's a quick electric blender mixture of milk, bananas, wheat germ, honey and eggs, just bursting with good nutrition and energy value. This can be toted in a vacuum bottle and shaken just before drinking.

A pleasant surprise is the low cost of bananas as an energy snack ingredient. The fruit is always reasonably priced at market and there is a steady year-round supply so that one never has to worry about high prices becuse the fruit is out of season.

To suit any sport, make these high-energy snacks, and give your favorite sportster an energy lift.

SUPER NOG

- 2 cups milk
- 3 ripe bananas
- ¼ cup wheat germ
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 eggs

Combine all ingredients in electric blender container. Cover and process at highest speed for 1 minute. Serve immediately or transport in vacuum container and shake before serving.

BANANA GRANOLA BARS

Banana Filling:

- 4 medium bananas, cut in chunks
- ¾ cup sugar
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons cold water

In a large heavy saucepan, combine bananas, sugar and lemon juice. Cook over very low heat, stirring frequently to prevent scorching, for 50 to 60 minutes, until thick. Mixture will remain slightly chunky. Mix flour and water. Add to banana mixture, simmer 2 minutes, and cool.

Cookie Dough:

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup shortening
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup packed light brown sugar
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 2 cups packaged granola

Cream butter and shortening. Beat in eggs, baking soda, and sugars. Stir in flour and granola. Spread ½ of mixture over bottom of a greased 13x9x2-inch baking pan. Cover with Banana Filling and pat remaining cookie dough over top. Bake in 375 degree oven for 40 to 45 minutes. Cool and cut into 2-inch squares. Makes 24 bars.

Israel orders aid families to leave Cambodia

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel has ordered home the families of 50 aid experts stationed in Cambodia because of the heavy fighting around Phnom Penh, a foreign ministry spokesman said today.

The exodus of the experts themselves is being considered, the spokesman added, but there are no current plans to evacuate embassy personnel from the besieged Cambodian capital.

The Israeli aid experts have been helping the Cambodians with agricultural and immigration projects.

Diabetics' life simpler with this new cookbook

NEW YORK (UPI) — The diet for diabetics is a complicated, confusing and disliked regimen, especially for newly diagnosed patients.

Even those with a mild case of this vascular disease must avoid foods with high sugar and-or fat content. They must eat measured amounts of most other foods and beverages, and at regular intervals. They must not skip meals or eat between meals.

No one knows this better than Jeanne Jones, a former model and fashion editor and a diabetic herself, who has become an eloquent supporter of research and help for anyone afflicted with the disease. Diabetes is the fifth leading cause of death by disease and afflicts 6.3 million Americans.

Mrs. Jones, who lives in La Jolla, Calif., is on the board of directors of the Southern California Diabetes Assn., a member of a national legislative committee lobbying for laws to help diabetics and founder of an auxiliary to increase summer camp programs and start a tennis camp for children in San Diego County, Calif.

Wins Award

She has also written a prize-winning cookbook for diabetics and other dieters, "The Calculating Cook" (101 Productions, distributed by Scribners) took first place in the adult book category in the recent writing contest of the National Federation of Press Women, and in an earlier competition sponsored by the federation's California chapter.

In a telephone interview, Mrs. Jones said the book is an outgrowth of her attempt to adjust her own and her family's favorite recipes to the restrictions of the diabetic diet prescribed by her doctor five years ago.

Such diets are based on exchange lists—a system that divides foods and beverages into seven categories based on their carbohydrate, protein and fat content. The word exchange is used to describe a measured amount of a specific item. Many foods and some beverages are interchangeable when their precise food values are known.

Exchange lists compiled by doctors and drug companies and diabetic cookbooks explain this, but their listings of permissible foods are confined to a few common ones.

Dietitians Helped

Working with two dietitians, Mrs. Jones put together a much more extensive list that includes dozens of ingredients for international and ethnic foods as well as a lot of brand name products such as cereals, snack crackers, commercial sauces and bottled salad dressings.

They also list gourmet fare such as pate de foie gras, pheasant, quail, venison, squab, frogs legs, caviar and abalone, and ethnic foods such as tortillas, matzos, poi (pureed taro root, a Hawaiian staple), and 19 different varieties of cheese.

By contrast, the exchange list of the New York Diabetes Assn. lists only three varieties of cheese—cheddar or American, cottage and cream—and a comparably small number of other foods.

Mrs. Jones' recipes follow the same generous pattern. They range from caesar salad, Grand Marnier souffle, creole gumbo, beef stroganoff, shish kebab and coq au vin to children's favorites, such as pizza muffins and chile con carne, to ethnic specialties— gefilte fish, corned beef and cabbage and red snapper Veracruz style.

Colylect recipes abroad

Mrs. Jones said she brought many of the recipes back from trips abroad with her husband, Robert Letts Jones, whose job as a top-ranking newspaper executive takes them on frequent trips out of the country.

"I entertain at least once a week when I'm home," she added. "I'm having a lunch today—banana bread, chicken salad and peach whip."

Mrs. Jones, who learned to cook as a child and later studied cooking in Paris and Los Angeles, said she geared her book to busy people and children. Her own two sons, ages 11 and 12, and her husband share her diabetic's diet but eat larger portions than she is allowed.

Like many other diabetics, she said she found the most difficult adjustment to be achievement of balance and regularity in her menus and eating habits.

Dislikes breakfast

She was used to eating what she wanted when she wanted it. Lunch might be six crackers, a wedge of camembert cheese and a glass of wine, and breakfast usually was coffee and orange juice. Both meals are extremely hazardous for a diabetic.

"I still really don't like breakfast, so I have found a lot of shortcuts," she said. Baked apple with cottage cheese, whipped milk topping and graham cracker crumbs is one; orange caesar, another.

It's an eggnog drink containing orange juice, milk, egg, wheat germ, a sugar substitute and vanilla.

Brown urges voting right for ex-cons

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. has told the U.S. Supreme Court that former felons should be permitted to vote to give them "an incentive" to obey the law.

In a recent letter, Brown urged the high court to uphold a lower court ruling allowing former felons to vote.

The secretary of state, a contender for the democratic gubernatorial nomination next year, wrote that ex-felons "should be restored to full rights of citizenship as an incentive to remaining within the law in the future."

"The policy of the law should not be to make pariahs of former felons who have fully paid their debt to society," he said.

Brown said his letter was prompted by the Mendocino County clerk's appeal of a state Supreme Court decision which stated that former felons who finished their paroles should be allowed to vote.

"The petition of the clerk of Mendocino County reflects medieval concepts of punishment," said Brown, the state's chief elections officer.

Prior to the court ruling, former felons convicted of "infamous" crimes were not allowed to vote, and each county was allowed to decide what constituted an infamous crime.

Scones are favorite breakfast for Scots

Scones are a favorite breakfast or afternoon treat in Scotland served with butter or a spicy sauce. Since fresh plums are in season and make a more economical fruit buy at this time, top homemade scones with a Spicy California Plum Sauce. Early Japanese varieties of plums are medium to large in size and bright red, yellow or crimson. They are tart and juicy.

SCONES

3 cups sifted flour
3 tablespoons sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons shortening
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons butter

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Cut in shortening. Add milk and mix lightly. Roll out on floured board to one-fourth inch thickeness. Cut into rounds. Spread half the rounds with butter and top with an unbuttered round. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes. Split scones open and cover both halves with spicy California Plum Sauce.

SPICY CALIFORNIA PLUM SAUCE

1 pound fresh plums
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon allspice
1½ cups water

Cut plums in half; remove pits and slice. Combine sugar, cornstarch and spices. Gradually stir in water. Cook over medium heat until mixture begins to thicken. Add sliced plums, cover and simmer 10 minutes.

Hikers need quick energy

Halfway up that mountain you'll need some extra energy. Pack along premixed bags of walnuts, peanuts, sticks of Cheddar or Swiss cheese, and iron-rich, tender pitted prunes. Prunes in the mix give you a special food-hold — an easily digested natural fruit sugar.

Jiffy main dishes are easy to pack

Millions of American families will be on wheels this summer. Some will take to the woods and rough it; others will travel in trailers to a national park or drive to a beach cottage hideaway.

What about that gas shortage? These easy, economical recipes save not only time and money but even gas. Ingredients are easy to pack, carry or store, eliminating extra trips back to roadside food stands or country groceries. These hearty dishes for open-air appetites can be cooked on a small stove or over a campfire in a jiffy.

The potato crisped frankfurter omelet takes only ½ pound of sliced frankfurters, with an omelet mixture of eggs and mashed potatoes. You can use mashed potato flakes in cold water, no need to boil water; such a help when roughing it. Serve with canned green beans, buttered french bread, adding milk as beverage and sliced peaches for dessert.

This nourishing meal includes food from the basic four food groups which good health demands.

Another camping quickie is frankfurter stew, combining a package of scalloped potatoes with sliced frankfurters and canned vegetables.

POTATO CRISPED FRANKFURTER OMLET

½ pound frankfurters, sliced
¼ cup water
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1¼ cups mashed potato flakes
4 eggs
Chili sauce or catsup

Brown frankfurters in butter in large skillet; remove frankfurters from pan. Combine water, milk, salt, and 1 cup of the potato flakes in bowl; let stand until water is absorbed. Add eggs; whip lightly with fork. Stir in browned frankfurters. Sprinkle remaining ¼ cup potato flakes into butter in skillet. Pour in egg mixture. Cover and cook over medium heat until bottom is golden brown and top is set, 15 to 20 minutes. Turn out onto serving plate with brown side on top. Serve with chili sauce or catchup. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

FRANKFURTER STEW

1 pound frankfurters
1 tablespoon oil or melted shortening
1¾ cups water
1 can (13½ ounces) evaporated milk
1 package (5⅞ ounces) scalloped potatoes
1 can (1 pound) pork & beans
1 can (1 pound) whole kernel corn

Split frankfurters in half lenghwise; brown in oil in large pan. Add water, milk, potato slices and seasoning mix from package of scalloped potatoes, pork and beans, and undrained corn; stir to mix. Cover and simmer 20 minutes, stirring occasionally, until potatoes are tender. Makes 6 servings.

Metrics are expected to measure up

NEW YORK (UPI) — The metrics are coming. And when they get here everyone will need to know the new way of saying such things as "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

When the metrics get here, inches, pounds, quarts, acres will be on the way out. Schools are part of the training grounds during the transition to the metrics. The National Education Association (NEA) says the transition is already under way.

Last year the Senate passed the Metric Conversion Act which called for a partial conversion over a 10-year period. But it was not enacted into law.

Several metric bills have been introduced this year in Congress. Going metric is a way of keeping in step with most businesses and industries around the globe. They're on metrics.

The NEA has called for a carefully planned transition. Starting in the new school year, teachers are urged to stress metrics. By 1980, it is hoped the metrics will have taken over.

The National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and the National Science Teachers Association, since 1969 have urged conversion to metrics.

SNACK FOR THE CHAMP—A loaf of bread, a block of cheese, a bottle of wine, salad and three chickens make just a snack for Eddie Miller, 65, who holds the record as the world's champion eater.

Champion eater keeps form at 65

OAKLAND (UPI) —Eddie "Bozo" Miller stopped at a restaurant for a bite to eat —a 24-ounce steak, spare ribs, vegetables, potatoes and dessert, washed down with a parade of tall glasses of wine and champagne.

For the world's champion eater, it was just a snack.

The title of champion was bestowed on the 65-year-old Miller by the Guinness Book of Records, noting that he had been undefeated in eating contests since 1931.

The record book lists two of his more outstanding accomplishments: the downing of 27 two-pound pullets at one sitting and the consumption of 324 ravioli in another.

Miller, a sales manager for a wine and liquor distributor, admits he's not up to some of his old performances.

"I keep reading about those guys with high blood pressure kicking off and it worries me," the 5-7, 280 pound champ says.

"I used to train, especially when I was challenged and there was money riding on the match."

The training consisted of loading up with as much food and liquid as possible before the meet and then having his stomach pumped.

In Training

"That way I'd stretch my stomach. But you know, there aren't many really good eaters around. Some guys think they can eat but they overestimate themselves."

Miller says he still takes on challengers once in a while but his experience usually tells.

"I load up fast and that shakes a guy," he said as he worked his way through a plate of spare ribs. "You also have to know what the hard and soft meats are. Prime rib is a lot softer than, say, New York cut."

Just the night before, Miller had eaten prime rib heaped on a two-foot long platter at a San Francisco restaurant.

"I wanted to show them I could do it."

Gourmet at home

Before you write Bozo off as just another glutton, consider the gourmet meals he serves at his home.

Here's what he served to eight guests:

A mammoth tossed salad of butter lettuce, tomatoes, Bermuda onions, radishes and artichoke hearts; tortellini with Miller's own special cheese sauce; barbecued sirloin and breast of chicken with another pasta: asparagus and green beans with bacon and onions; sour and sweet French breads; flaming blackberries with ice cream; fruit, cheese and cafe Diablo.

There was a different wine with each course and the final touch was a selection of 130 bottles of liqueur, ranging from Cherry Heering to tincture of Tiger bone from Peking.

Dr. Edward H. Spiegel, Miller's physician, recalled that 20 guests were invited for dinner recently and all were served a chicken as a main course — a WHOLE chicken.

"Bozo's in good health for a fellow his age," the doctor said. "His blood pressure is a little high and he's always 80 pounds overweight but he's still in good shape."

Spiegel can't explain Miller's capacity. He said X-rays were taken to find if he had a large stomach.

"His stomach is just normal," the physician said. "I guess he has such a huge capacity for food and drink simply because he keeps his intake up."

Spiegel says he has seen Miller do "some fantastic things."

"We were at his birthday party and a piece of the cake was put in front of Bozo. He looked at it and then ate the entire cake."

The champ's consumption of alcohol is also "tremendous," Spiegel said. "I saw him put away 20 martinis once."

Miller's generosity apparently knows no limit, either. He usually picks up the tab for his meal and his guests."

"In the matches, though," he said, "the loser always pays."

Good snacks-- stuffed prunes

Keep the sails smooth and leave the wrinkles to the snacks. Dimpled pitted prunes in handy air-tight cans make tender shells for your favorite spread. Slit prunes and mound each with 1 teaspoon filling (try chicken or cheese spread).

This carrot, onion combo serves 8

English ladies of fashion once wore the feathery leaves of carrots to decorate their hair. In Greece, carrots were grown for medicinal purposes and used as a stomach tonic. Today, crunchy carrots make good eating and are of health value as a source of Vitamin A. For a quick vegetable dish, saute carrots for a savory treat.

SAVORY CARROTS

4 cups carrot slices
1 cup chicken broth
¼ cup squeeze liquid margarine
2 cups onion slices
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup water

Cook carrots in broth until tender, do not drain. Saute onion in liquid margarine; blend in flour. Gradually add water. Stir in carrots and broth. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened; continue cooking 2 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Barbecuing? don't waste red-hot coals

Cook a dessert on the grill? You bet!

You gain by "sweetening" up the grill this way. The coals are at just the right degree of heat when main-meal items are being finished off but go unused after these foods are removed and served. Cooking a sweet during the meal makes use of the gentle heat still coming from the dying coals.

Summer fruits are all good choices. We suggest that you start with foil-wrapped bananas. You will feast from the grill all over again at dessert time!

Heavy duty aluminum foil is the key to delicious so-easy Banana Yum Yums. Wrapping in the foil holds in flavor and moisture and means no attention is required during the cooking.

For do-it-yourself parties, each person can put together his own packet. Each can use seasoning additions personally chosen.

BANANA YUM YUMS

Peel bananas and place each on a square of heavy duty foil. Sprinkle one or two with brown sugar and grated lemon rind and drizzle with honey. Try pineapple tidbits, grated lemon rind and brown sugar on others. Still another delicious combination—sprinkle with brown sugar and flaked cocoanut.

Pick up the edges of the foil and seal loosely over top in double fold. Twist ends to secure. Place over hot charcoal at least 10 minutes.

Handy snacks for bike packs

Keep snacks handy in your bike pack — munchables easy to tote and easy to nibble. Prune-studded oatmeal cookies are packed with iron and potassium to keep those muscles pumping. Add ½ cup snipped pitted prunes to your favorite oatmeal cookie recipe — stow cookies in your saddlebag.

Fig outranks fig leaf in importance

Without the fig leaf Adam would have been in a heap of trouble. As strategic as the leaf was, down through the ages the fruit itself has become more important. Originally from western Asia and the Mediterannean regions, California grown figs now can be found in most nearby grocery stores.

Black Mission, the darker variety of figs, is on its way to market from the Fresno district this week. This variety was one of the many fruits brought here by the Franciscan monks who founded the long chain of missions along the coast of California.

This bluish-purple skinned fig has a reddish-purple meat and numerous small seeds. The Black Mission is not as large as some other varieties, but has a pleasant flavor .It is high in sugar content and an excellent energy builder.

The Calimyrna fig, a white variety, should be on the markets by now. This yellowish-white fig, produced only in California, is noted as the largest of all figs and will be harvested in the Fresno-Kern district, moving northward through the San Joaquin Valley as the season progress.

The Calimyrna fig, originally from Turkey, is large and "squatty" with a smooth, thick, yellowish-green skin. Noted for its delicious, nut-like flavor and tender skin, this fig is particularly favored for eating out of hand as a healthful fruit.

The fairly high cost of figs is explained by their extreme perishability and difficulty in handling. Figs mature at a rapid rate in high temperatures, shortening the season abrupty.

Figs, also known as the "old world fruit',' are mainly used for drying or canning today. Only about 10 per cent of all figs grown in California are sold fresh. To enjoy them fresh, eat them out of hand, or peel and slice them on top of cold cereal with milk.

Pound for pound, figs are one of nature's most delicious and healthful fruits. They are a definite aid to maintaining good health for growing children and active adults.

It's a short season for fresh figs, so hurry if you want them this summer. If you miss you can enjoy them dried or canned later, but there's something specia about fresh fruit.

Food Prices

Prices do come down! Remember that prices for fruits and vegetables are almost entirely passed on the law of supply and demand.

In produce marketing availability of supplies is balanced against demand, nation wide. For example, the weather in Maine will indirectly affect the prices we pay for potatoes in California.

Weather, disease, lack of planning and numerous other reasons affect supplies. When a shortage occurs in such a commodity as lettuce prices will be high automatically. However, California growing areas for lettuce have hit peak production recently, and aresupplying sufficient amounts to market. Lettuce prices have dropped from 60 cents to 25 cents or less per head in some markets.

All greens, such as broccoli, celery, Romaine and cabbage, also have been high because of adverse weather. Failure of Eastern crops puts pressure on western growers, whose production capacity has limits, and this eventually has limits, and this eventualy affects the consumer price.

When overproduction occurs, as it does frequently, demand decreases sharply and prices drop. Don't expect prices for fresh fruits and vegetables to be maintained at a constant level. Prices for nearly all agricultural products depend on one major economic axiom—the law of suppy and demand.

Prepare treat for swimmers

On vacation? Try this effortless fruit compote for tired swimmers. Mix assorted fresh fruit (bananas, melon, peaches, pears) and pitted prunes. Fill clear plastic drink glasses. Top with dollop of sour cream, sprinkle with brown sugar.

Smoked sardines in 24-layer pie

Think of appreciative palates and sociable living, and you think of Norway — where eating is not mere eating, but almost a party in disguise at every meal. Norwegians are sociable people, and their zest for living combined with the abundance of their coastal fjords, has helped create some splendid food ideas.

Fish is almost a national symbol and figures prominently in the Norwegian's daily diet. High on the list of all-time fish favorites is the smoky sardine, still processed by a centuries-old method developed by the Vikings. These special sardines are lightly smoked over slow burning oak embers before being gently hand-packed and processed. The savory fish then matures, like good wine, getting more flavorful and mellow with age.

A special plus for the rich and tender sardine is that it keeps well in its own little tin on your emergency party shelf. When unexpected guests drop in, simply open the sardines and serve with crisp rye crackers and a favorite beverage. You can enjoy those special preplanned parties, too, when sardines do half the work. They're great with many every-day items such as potato chips, crisp vegetables, crackers, toast and cheese.

For a spectacular first course, combine this special little fish with the savory goodness of chiles and pimientoes; add the rich tangy flavor of sour cream and layer between 24 tender crepes. The mellow richness of this golden tower makes it a great cocktail party or open-house specialty that invites sampling and resampling. And, a hostess-saving plus — it can be assembled the night before and chilled (well-covered) until serving time. The silvery sardine garnish is added at the last moment. Also, if the party isn't at your house, this is one hors d'oeuvre that's easily transported.

VIKIN 24-LAYER PIE

Crepes

- 4 eggs
- ½ cup sifted flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- Butter

In mixing bowl beat eggs well; then add flour, sugar and salt. Beat until smooth. Add milk gradually, beating constantly until all milk is added. Let batter rest at least 15 minutes. Melt 1½ teaspoons butter in heavy skillet. When butter begins to sizzle, pour in 2 tablespoons of the batter (this will make a 5-inch crepe). Remove crepes from pan and layer on a plate with paper towels in between each crepe. Makes 24 crepes.

Crepe Filling:

- 1 can (4 ounces) whole pimientoes
- 2 green chile peppers, seeded and coarsely chopped
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons grated onion
- 1 can (3¾ ounces) sardines, drained
- 1½ cups sour cream
- Watercress for garnish

Combine first five ingredients in a blender; blend until almost pureed — about 20 seconds. Pour mixture into a small bowl and blend in ½ can coarsely mashed sardines.

To assemble: Place a crepe on a serving dish, spread a thin layer of sour cream on it, top with another crepe, spread with sour cream, etc. Put sardine-pimiento filling on every fourth layer. Continue in like manner until all crepes are used, ending with an unspread crepe on top. Garnish with remaining sardines and a sprig of watercress.

Pie can be made and assembled ahead of time. Cover with plastic wrap; chill until serving time. Garnish with sardines just before serving.

Naturally good appetizers

Curry on down to appetizers made with natural ingredients — iron-rich tender prunes, fresh apples and B-bonus peanuts. Snip 1-3rd cup prunes; toss with 1 cup finely chopped apple, 1-3rd cup chopped peanuts. Add a pinch of salt, a squeeze of lemon juice, ¼ cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon curry powder; combine. Mound on sesame crackers broil until brown and hot.

Squash dish is a smash

Vegetable sideline for mashed summer squash: Add snipped Pitted Prunes, season with honey, salt, pepper, ginger. Dot with butter. Delicious.

Firemen seek to control their appearances

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — City officials should not be allowed to interfere with the "right of a public employe to control his own appearance," according to a suit filed by 34 Memphis firemen.

The federal civil suit filed Monday asks U.S. District Judge Robert M. McRae Jr. to issue a permanent injunction preventing city or fire department officials from firing or suspending firemen who grow long hair, mustaches or sideburns.

New kind of beef may hold prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new kind of beef that may eventually help hold down prices will be in limited distribution in coming months, says the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

It's called bullock beef, from bulls usually less than two years old. Revised federal meat grading standards now permit USDA meat graders to identify such beef on the carcass and grade it according to the criteria used for grading steer and heifer beef—as prime, choice, good, standard and commercial.

The latter three grades are leaner and usually tougher than prime and choice, and are recommended for moist cooking in stews, soups and pot roasts.

Bullock beef probably will vary more in tenderness than comparable grades of steer and heifer beef, says Herbert Abraham, a USDA live stock and meat marketing specialist.

In a telephone interview, Abraham said grading will assure certain standards of quality, but that the bullocks that mature fastest are going to be less tender and less desirable than slower growing ones.

"Bullocks are apt to be leaner than steers," he said. "They're less likely to grade choice. They have less of the trimmable fatness associated with marbling and other quality requirements.

"The leaner the animal is over all, the less marbling it's likely to have.

As a result, some will be as tender as steers the same age and some will be tough, he added.

Abraham predicted that no great quantity would be available when the grading standards revision became effective July 1, because only a few ranchers have been raising bullocks. He declined to speculate about the outlook for supply and demand, or the price picture.

Traditionally, cattle producers have either converted young bull calves into steers or kept them for breeding. Beef from bulls too old for breeding is used almost entirely in processed meat products such as bologna. Until grading standards were changed, all meat from bulls was labeled "bull".

Yukon was declared a Territory of Canada June 13, 1898.

The most popular dairy product of all—ice cream

The Roman Emperor Nero is said to be the first person to sample a frozen dessert. But, the Chinese are given credit for discovering the ice cream formula that explorer Marco Polo brought back to European civilization, according to the Dairy Council of California.

Polo, however, made one major change in the Chinese formula — he substituted milk for water. Today, one in every 3 homes has a similar form of ice cream in the refrigerator. In 1972 more than ¾ billion gallons were consumed in this country alone. Adding the total ice milk consumption, that figure raises to 1.1 billion gallons of ice cream or its imitation eaten last year.

The first ice cream factory was opened in Baltimore in 1851, but it wasn't until the ice cream cone was introduced at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904 that it swept the country.

California, the leading ice cream producer in the United States, spells out by law differences between frozen confections.

The law states that ice cream must be a mixture of cream or milk with sugar, flavoring, coloring and a stabilizer added. The frozen mixture must have at least 10 per cent milk fat and 20 per cent milk solids. And, each gallon must weigh at least 4½ pounds.

Ice milk is similar but has a lower fat content, between 2 and 7 per cent. Its milk solids are at least 11 per cent. It often has more calories than the natural food because of the increased amount of sugar needed to enhance the flavor.

Requirements for imitation are the same as for natural ice cream except that the milk fat has been replaced by a vegetable fat, usually coconut oil, or another animal fat. This is also true for imitation ice milk except that it must have a higher minimum fat content—at least four per cent.

Ice cream provides the same nutrients found in one-half cup of milk. Of the more than 200 flavors, vanilla is still the most popular. It is followed by chocolate, strawberry, neapolitan, coffee, peach and butter pecan.

For an ice cream information sheet, write Dairy Council of California, P. O. Box 28 B13, Sacramento 95801.

Dairy Council of California is a statewide nutrition education and research organization maintaining a staff of 25 nutrition consultants who regularly conduct workshops in nutrition education for school teachers, health and medical professionals and community groups.

ICE CREAM CIRCUS
(makes 4 servings)

Cut a round pint of ice cream into 4 slices. Make cages by placing 4 candy sticks on each slice. Put one or more animal crackers in the middle. Set a chocolate cookie on top of candy sticks. Freeze or serve immediately.

ANGEL'S RAINBOW
(makes 6-8 servings)

1 angel food loaf cake
1 pint black cherry ice cream, softened
1 pint mint ice cream, softened
1 cup whipping cream, whipped and sweetened

Cut cake lengthwise into 4 equal layers. Spread cherry ice cream on 2 layers, and mint ice cream on other 2 layers. On foil covered cardboard stack layers, alternating ice cream flavors. Freeze until firm. Frost sides of loaf with whipped cream and decorate edge around top and base with whipped cream put through a decorator tube. Return to freezer to set cream. Also try other ice cream combinations.

FROZEN VANILLA CUSTARD
(makes 1 gallon)

3 quarts non-fat milk
2 cups sugar
6 tablespoon flour
2 teaspoons salt
8 eggs, slightly beaten
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
3 tablespoons vanilla

Scald 2½ quarts of milk. Add the remaining 2 cups to the sugar, flour and salt which have been blended together. Pour the sugar mixture into the hot milk and cook over low heat until thickened. Remove from heat. Add some of the hot mixture gradually to the eggs and return all to the milk mixture. Stir in the gelatin which has been softened in the cold water. Continue cooking until mixture coats a spoon.

Refrigerate for several hours or overnight. Add vanilla to cooled mixture. Pour into 1 gallon freezer can. Freeze according to directions recommended for freezer. Allow to ripen several hours before serving.

ALMOND-PEACH ICE CREAM
(makes 1 gallon)

2 cups fresh peach pulp
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 quart undiluted evaporated milk
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon vanilla

Mash peaches and measure 2 cups. Blend into remaining ingredients. Pour into 1 gallon freezer can. Cover and freeze with ice salt mixture in proportions recommended for freezer. When ice cream is frozen) pour off the brine. Remove dasher and cover top of container with plastic wrap and replace cover. Pack with ice and salt and allow ice cream to mellow several hours or longer.

Lewis Homes moves to new quarters

UPLAND — Lewis Homes of California has moved its headquarters to 924 W. 9th St. in a 5,000 square foot structure acquired on a two-year lease.

Richard A. Lewis, president, said the move will bring together in one building the firm's executive offices, previously in Claremont, and the sales and designs office, located in Pomona.

The new building will also accommodate additions to the company's present 35 person home office staff.

The firm presently has housing projects in Upland, Alta Loma, La Verne, El Monte, Chino, Fontana, Glendora, Loma Linda, Hemet and San Jacinto.

Rum climbs the social scale and finally arrives

Although many people have a repertoire of rum-based drinks, few recognize the exotic effects and tropical nuances that can be introduced into foods by adding a measure of rum to the recipe.

Rum was, in long years past, considered solely the drink of "sailors and persons of low status." It was not until the 1920s, during American prohibition when cocktails were introduced to the drinking public, that rum became socially acceptable.

Even though acceptable, rum did not become fashionable in the United States until World War II when the Andrews Sisters sang the drink into American hearts with their rendition of "Rum and Coca-Cola."

Rum is the spirit obtained by distilling fermented products of the sugar cane. Wherever sugar cane is grown, rum is usually made. Rum was first produced on a commercial basis in Jamaica and today Jamaica is one of the most important rum producing countries in the world.

People who abstain from drinking alcoholic beverages may enjoy cooking with rum since all alcohol is boiled off in the cooking process and only the haunting flavor is left behind to enhance the taste.

Here are three recipes that are particularly popular.

CHICKEN DRUMSTICKS MONTEGO BAY

- 8 chicken drumsticks
- 2 tablespoons cooking oil
- 2 tablespoons butter
- ½ diced onions
- 1 small clove garlic, peeled, minced
- 2 sweet green peppers, diced finely
- ½ cup canned tomatoes, mashed
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon black pepper
- Pinch of ground allspice
- 3 cups cooked spinach
- ½ cup of Jamaica rum

In a large skillet with cover (Dutch oven) brown the chicken legs in a nixture of the oil and butter. Remove the legs as they are browned and keep them warm.

To the oil and butter mixture, add oinion, garlic and green pepper and cook stirring often, over medium heat until soft but not brown. Add tomato, salt, black pepper and allipice and continue to cook until all flavors are blended.

Return the chicken legs to the skillet and stir in spinach. Mix well, cover skillet and simmer over low heat until chicken is tender. Blnd in Appleton rum and cook uncovered for a few minutes. Serve each portion of the hot chicken is tender. Blend in Ap- of the very tasty green gravy.

KINGSTON BEEF STEW (Serves four)

- ¼ cup rum
- 2 pounds lean beef, cut into neat 1 inch cubes
- ½ cup of flour
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- 3 to 4 tbsp. cooking oil
- 1 large clove garlic, minced c[illegible]ushed
- 2½ cups coarsely chopped onion
- 2 cups coarsely chopped sweet green pepper
- 6 scallions, with green tops, coarsely chopped
- 1 large bay leaf
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3 tablespoons tomato paste, ble[illegible] with
- 1 cup of water
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1½ cups peeled ripe tomatoes, cut into thin wedges
- 8 to 12 stuffed olives, thinly sliced

Combine the flour, salt and black pepper in a firm bag shaking to mix. Dredge the beef cubes in this mixture, then brown the beef cubes in a large heavy skillet with cover. Cook a few at a time, in the oil, until very wel browned on all sides.

Remove beef cubes as they are done and keep them warm in a covered container on lower heat. When all of the meat is cooked, add the garlic, onion, and sweet green pepper to the skillet. Cook, stirring often, until vegetables are just ender.

Add the chopped scallions, reduce the heat, add the bay leaf, soy and Worcestershire sauces, tomato paste which has been thoroughly blended into the water and the sugar.

Mix well, stirring up all bits of browned meat off the bottom of the pan cover and simmer for about fifteen minutes, stirring occasionally.

Return the browned beef cubes, mix well, re-cover and simmer over lowest heat until the meat is tender. Add the rum, small wedges of ripe tomato, sliced stuffed olives, recover again and simmer for about ten minutes. Serve over rice or noodles.

PORT ROYAL CHOCOLATE RUM PIE

- 1-3rd cup rum
- ¾ cup granulated sugar
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- dash salt
- 1 cup milk
- 2 beaten egg yolks
- 1 6-ounce package semisweet chocolate pieces or 1 cup
- 2 egg whites
- 1 cup heavy whipping cream
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, preferably made from graham crackers
- heavy cream, whipped
- pecan halves or pieces

In a heavy saucepan, combine ½ cup of the sugar, gelatin and salt. Stir in milk and egg yolks. Cook and stir over a low heat until slightly thickened. Remove from heat, add chocolate pieces and stir until melted. Add the rum. Chill until partially set. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form.

Gradually add the other ¼ cup of sugar until stiff peaks form. Fold into the chocolate mixture. Whip the cream with the vanilla. Layer the whipped cream and chocolate mixture into the pastry shell, ending with whipped cream. Save a little cream for decorating. Swirl the top to marble and chill until firm. Decorate on top with the additional whipped cream and pecans and serve well chilled.

The economy-minded are talking turkey

These days, when food prices dent the family finances, smart shoppers keep an eye out for specials. Smaller size turkey, the 6-to-8-pounders, offer good value plus all-important protein. These mini but meaty young birds are ideal for barbecues and outdoor entertaining.

Cooking yours on the rotisserie or grill is a breeze, for you don't stuff such smaller fowl. Just fasten the turkey securely on the spit, wings tied flat against the bird and with legs tied together. If you prefer to use turkey breast or legs, place directly on grill and cook 5 to 6 inches above coals until tender, turning frequently and brushing with sauce.

The secret of fine flavor lies in the basting sauce used and here is a new one. Blended of butter, spaghetti sauce mix and orange juice, this makes your barbecue a tasty treat. Brush the turkey when you begin barbecuing. Continue to brush with the sauce, as your bird becomes crisp and brown — about two hours is what it takes.

Good companions for the turkey treat include Hot and Savory Bread, spread with a mixture of soft butter and chicken gravy mix, plus a tossed salad of crispy greens. Add tall, frosty glasses of iced tea or lemonade, then finish the feast with lush, fresh peach shortcake.

No wonder women with an eye on economy are talking turkey!

GOLDEN GRILLED TURKEY

- 6-to-8-pound turkey
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 envelope (1½ ounces)
- 1 envelope (1½ ounces) spaghetti sauce mix
- ½ cup orange juice
- ½ cup water

Place thawed turkey on rotisserie spit, making sure it is evenly balanced. Tie cord around body, holding wings flat against the body. Tie legs together and fasten to spit. Melt butter in small pan. Stir in contents of sauce mix envelope, orange juice and water; brush generously over turkey.

Grill two hours or until turkey is tender and meat thermometer inserted in thigh registers 185 degrees. Brush with butter mixture frequently. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

If preferred, use turkey breast or legs instead of whole tufkey. Place directly on grill and cook 5 to 6 inches above coals until tender, turning frequently and brushing with butter mixture.

HOT AND SAVORY BREAD

- 1 loaf French bread
- ¼ cup soft butter
- 1 envelope (1⅛ ounces) chicken gravy mix
- 1 teaspoon parsley flakes

Cut bread into thick slices. Stir together butter, contents of gravy mix envelope, and parsley flakes; spread on bread. Wrap loosely in foil. Place on edge of grill and heat over hot coals for 10 to 15 minutes, turning occasionally until hot. 8 to 10 servings.

AUGUST IDEAS for COOKING WITH BEER!

PORK AND SAUERKRAUT CASSEROLE

- 2 lbs. sauerkraut
- 4 cups beer
- 6 pork chops
- 1½ tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1½ cups chopped apple
- 1½ cups grated potato

Wash sauerkraut, drain, combine in saucepan with 2 cups beer. Cook over low heat 2 hrs., stirring often. Brown chops on both sides, season with salt and ½ tsp. pepper. Spread half the sauerkraut on the bottom of a casserole and sprinkle with remaining pepper and garlic; arrange chops over sauerkraut. Spread apples and potatoes over them, cover with remaining sauerkraut, and remaining beer. Cover and bake at 350 deg. 45 min. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer, or until chops are tender. Serves 6.

TOMATO RAREBIT

- 1 can (10½ oz.) condensed tomato soup
- ⅔ cup beer
- 3 cups grated American cheese
- ½ tsp. dry mustard

Mix soup and beer until very smooth; stir in cheese and mustard. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently until cheese melts. Delicious on toasted English muffins. Serves 4-6.

★

VIENNA HAMBURGERS

- 1 lb. ground beef
- ½ cup dry bread crumbs
- 1½ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. pepper
- ⅛ tsp. garlic powder
- 2 tbsp. grated onion
- ½ cup beer

Mix all ingredients together lightly. Shape into 6 or 8 patties. Broil or pan-fry.

THE BASE STEALING BUBBLE MACHINE

Dodgers come home after taming Padres

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — The Dodgers, back home from a successful tour of the West, are eager to tackle the East in an eight-game home stand opening tonight at Dodger Stadium.

The Dodgers even learned how to handle the pesky San Diego Padres on their journey, completing a two-game sweep of the last place team with an easy 6-1 victory Tuesday night at San Diego Stadium.

On the trip to Houston, San Francisco and San Diego, the Dodgers compiled a 5-3 record to maintain their four-game margin over the second-place Cincinnati Reds. With the third-place San Francisco Giants losing to Montreal Tuesday, L.A. is now a healthy nine games ahead of its biggest rival.

The Dodgers look forward to hosting the Mets, Phillies and Expos in a West vs. East exchange. Considering their 13-6 record against the next three opponents thus far this season, the Dodgers have an excellent opportunity to extend their margin starting tonight against Yogi Berra's Mets.

Overall, L.A. is 31-15 against the East but only 34-27 versus the West.

The Dodgers were able to get rid of one of their most infamous statistics Tuesday by evening the season series against the Padres at six wins apiece.

L.A. went to San Diego as the only team behind the Padres, thanks mainly to a three-game sweep by the Pads at Dodger Stadium in early July.

If there is such a thing as a knockout punch in baseball, the Dodgers applied it Tuesday, scoring all six runs early with three apiece in the first and second innings to KO starter Rich Troedson, a lefthander who beat L.A. in that July sweep.

With a healthy 6-0 lead and Don Sutton, the ace of the staff, on the mound, manager Walt Alston decided to give some of the regulars some rest.

What wasn't expected was Sutton's departure after the seventh inning.

Sutton, who had allowed only two singles to Jerry Morales in facing 23 batters, had to leave the game because his right shoulder stiffened.

Alston brought in Doug Rau but had to call on Jim Brewer, the master of the bullpen, in the ninth inning when the Padres finally scored on four singles.

Brewer came in with the bases loaded and only one out but he took care of the problem with dispatch, getting Jerry Morales to pop up to third baseman Ron Cey and retiring Jerry Kendall on a grounder to pick up his 15th save of the season.

Thanks to Brewer, Sutton was able to enjoy his 14th victory as he remains in contention for his first 20-victory campaign.

"I would have liked to pitch the full distance," Sutton said, "but we still have six more tough weeks of baseball left this season and I have my career to think about."

"It was a freaky thing," Sutton continued. "I slept on my shoulder wrong and woke up with it being stiff. It didn't loosen up during the game so we thought it would be better not to extend it."

Steve Garvey, who has been swinging a hot bat, did most of the damage. He drove in the first two runs with a double in the first inning and added a third RBI with a single in the second.

Ron Cey hit the first of his two doubles to score Garvey in the first for his 61st RBI while Davis' single plated Sutton in the second for Willie's 63rd.

After the first two explosions, the Dodgers were blanked the rest of the way by Padre pitchers Gary Ross, Frank Snook and Mike Corkins but the damage had been accomplished.

Brewer says the Dodgers can't feel they have the upper hand on this home stand because they are playing teams they have handled this season.

"We have to beat everybody the way Cincinnati is playing," Brewer warned. "It doesn't make any difference who we're playing. They're all tough."

Brewer is also asking for some help from the offense.

"We have to score more runs," he said. "We've been a little short of runs the past few weeks but our pitching has been holding up. As a result, we are playing a little above the .500 level but we need to pick up our pace with more runs.

San Diego manager Don Zimmer sees a tight race between the Reds and Dodgers the rest of the way.

"I think Cincinnati is playing good ball but the Dodgers will be tough to catch, primarily because of their pitching staff," he said.

DODGER NOTES — The Mets will use a pair of lefthanders against the Dodgers in the brief two-game series with Jon Matlack facing Andy Messersmith tonight and Jerry Koosman opposing Claude Osteen Thursday . . .

The Padres are averaging 8,976 customers a game this year compared to 9,204 last season . . .

San Diego is 24-37 against the West but are only 13-38 versus the East, including an 0-7 mark against the Phillies, tonight's opponent in San Diego . . .

The Phillies will come to L.A. for the weekend with Saturday's game being the annual Hollywood Stars Night. Montreal closes the stand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Ready for Twin 100's

Johncock is impressed

ONTARIO — When Gordie Johncock first heard about the Twin 100 qualifying races for the California 500, he snorted in disgust.

"The first story I heard was that there would be very little money on the races — so why should we run 'em?" says the 1973 Indianapolis 500 winner.

"But those were the first stories I heard. Then I found out there would be good money on each race and it gives you a reason to run.'

"With $50,000 riding on them, I think it's a great idea. It'll be like one big sprint race; they should be great shows. And the people should love 'em."

For the first time in United States Auto Club championship racing, qualifying races will be run at Ontario Motor Speedway Sunday August 26, the second day of time trials for the 1973 California 500.

It's a new idea to provide California racing fans with an "extra added attraction" and to enhance the excitement of the up-coming 500-miler.

"With $50,000 going on those races, everyone will be going all out," says Johncock. "Even if I were lucky enough to be one of the top three qualifiers, I'll be running in the 100-milers, too."

"That's good money for a race — it's as much if not more than we'd be getting for a race like maybe Phoenix. Since we're already in California, we don't have to worry about hauling out here or anything else."

"We'll be fresh from qualifying and this will give us a chance to run our cars under racing setup and check our fuel mileage for the 500-miler. We'll get more good out of those races than we would running on carburetion day."

"Everyone will have to make at least one pit stop during the 100-miler and I guarantee you they'll be darned good races."

"No one will be holding back with big money and championship points on the races. We'll be running our qualifying engines so it won't make that much difference if we lose one since we'd be changing engines before the race, anyway."

Parnelli Jones, president of the Ontario Motor Speedway, is the man who thought up the revolutionary idea for the qualifying races.

"Sure, I suggested it," says Parnelli. "We wanted something extra to give our race fans and we wanted to generate a little more excitement for the second day of qualifying as well as the race."

"At Indianapolis, there is a whole month to generate the excitement of the race. We don't have that much time and even at Indy, you have sort of dull times on the second and third day of qualifying."

Jones added that tickets for the Sunday "Twin 100's," set at $6 general admission, as well as tickets for the Sept. 2nd running of the California 500, are available at all Ticketron outlets and at the Speedway ticket office.

"We're trying this to see how people react and if they like it. Personally, I think everyone will like it. Every driver I've talked to likes the idea so it can't be all bad, can it?"

As Johncock says, they should be great races.

Rams release Herb Adderley

FULLERTON, Calif. (UPI) — Former All-Pro defensive back Herb Adderley was released on waivers Tuesday by the Los Angeles Rams, who acquired him less than two weeks ago in a trade with New England.

Adderley, a 13-year veteran who played with Green Bay and later with the Dallas Cowboys, was among five players released by the Rams to bring the roster down to 62 players, one under the club's limit.

Also released on waivers were rookie free agents Hugo Salcedo, a placekicker from the University of California at Riverside, and Rick Kay, a linebacker from Colorado.

Oklahoma put on probation for two years

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The University of Oklahoma, ranked No. 2 in the nation last year in collegiate football, was placed on two years probation for recruiting violations by the Big Eight Conference, commissioner Chuck Neinas announced Wednesday.

The Sooners, who were stripped of their 1972 conference championship, shall be ineligible to participate in bowl games following the 1973 and 1974 seasons.

Oklahoma also will be ineligible to appear on the NCAA football television series during the regular season in 1974 and 1975.

Oklahoma will be allowed to fulfill its contractural obligations in connection with television appearances this season, including national televising of games with the University of Texas and University of Nebraska.

The conference judged Oklahoma guilty of 10 football violations, three basketball violations and one general transgression of conference rules.

The investigation by the Big Eight was begun in April after discovering transcript alterations of two freshmen, Kerry Jackson and Mike Phillips, both of Galveston Ball High School in Texas.

The conference ruled that Phillips' high school transcript had been altered, but that no one at the University of Oklahoma was involved or had prior knowledge of the alteration. It ruled that Phillips will be eligible for the 1973-74 academic year.

Jackson, a speedy freshman who subbed at quarterback on the varsity, will be ineligible for the coming football season. But the NCAA has ruled that he may retain his football scholarship.

In addition to the other penalties, the conference ruled that assistant football coach Wendell Mosley and assistant basketball coach Dennis Price will be prohibited from participating in recruiting for one year.

By forfeiting the games in which Jackson played, Oklahoma finished in a tie for fifth in the 1972 Big Eight football race with a 3-4 record instead of the 6-1 it posted on the field.

The Sooners fate was determined Tuesday in Chicago at a five hour, 15 minute session of the Big Eight faculty representatives and athletic directors.

Prior to last season, the Sooners had won or shared 21 conference football championships.

They played 74 consecutive conference games without a loss between 1946 and 1959. It was near the end of that streak under former Coach Bud Wilkinson that the Big Eight became known as "Oklahoma and the Seven Dwarfs."

Oklahoma won or shared 14 consecutive Big Eight football championships from 1946 to 1959. They also won 47 straight games between 1953 and 1957.

The last two seasons under Chuck Fairbanks, who resigned last winter to accept a lucrative contract with the New England Patriots, Oklahoma had won 22 of 24 games, including consecutive Sugar Bowl triumphs over Auburn and Penn State.

Progress at Camp Bronco

By CURT WEBSTER
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — So far, there is only one standard to judge John Ralston's progress as a professional football head coach, and that's his handling of Camp Bronco at Cal Poly.

Camp observors say that the 1973 ediction of the Denver Bronco training session has been an improvement over last year's, when Ralston was making his debut.

The Broncos came out of Pomona in '72 and were promptly smashed by Washington in an exhibition game, 41-0, going on to a 5-9 record during the regular season. That's not a horrible showing by Denver standards, but disastrous for a coach who had built perennial winners at Stanford.

Ralston the student has taken steps to transform himself into Ralston the winner, and the difference is apparent already.

A fundamental difference between college and professional football players is that the pros really require less conditioning.

Recognizing that difference, Ralston has emphasized conditioning less than last year. He cites fatigue as one of the contributing factors in the Redskin debacle.

The Broncos got last weekend off, and have another lengthy rest period after today's activity.

The 1973 training camp opened with close to 80 players. A year ago 100 reported to camp, and Ralston's staff eventually became bogged down in cut decisions.

This year, more time has been spent drilling sure-fire varsity performers than deciding who is going to make the team.

The upshot of less work and fewer players should be a well-rested, better-drilled team Friday night in Washington.

Last year, no less than three potential first string signal-callers reported to Pomona.

Don Horn, John Stofs, and Steve Ramsey were all jockeying for the glamor slot.

This year, as the Bronco press guide proudly calls to attention, Denver fans have a starting quarterback going into the season, as Charley Johnson plans his first full year at the club's offensive reigns.

Johnson is starting his 13th year in the National Football League, most of his experience coming with the St. Louis Cardinals.

While Ralston has the security of a proven starter at quarterback, he also has the benefit of a spirited battle for the back-up job between Ramsey, Mike Ernst, and rookie John Hufnagel.

Ralston's plans call for two of the three to stay, one going to the varsity, and the other to the taxi squad.

The whole idea of training in Pomona is to create an isolated situation, which should, according to Ralston's psychological calculations, bring the squad closer together.

Numerous personnel changes after the Broncs broke camp last year all but nullified what Ralston intended to accomplish here.

BRONCO NOTES . . . Billy Masters returned to practice Tuesday as expected. The veteran tight end has been out with a viral infection.

Marv Montgomery, the ex-USC tackle, got his shoulder out of the sling Tuesday, but won't be ready until Denver's second exhibition game with St. Louis on August 18 . . Center Larry Kaminski suffered a slight muscle pull in Tuesday's practice.

Bronco freezer full despite beef shortage at other camps

P-B Wire Dispatches

POMONA — Trainer Alan Hurst of the Denver Broncos says the team hasn't felt the beef shortage which has hit Southern California and the rest of the country.

The Broncos are in summer training at Cal Poly University here.

The Broncos have meat on the table, said Hurst, because "the school really stocked up its freezers" with beef before the shortage became acute.

Hurst is worried, though, because the team leaves for Denver Thursday, and the place where the team stays has said it will raise the Bronco food bill substantially.

At other professional football camps in Southern California, however, things aren't quite as rosy.

The Rams revealed Tuesday their food bill has risen from $750 a day to $900 to keep the players eating beef four nights a week. "We're paying exactly what the average person pays — like $4.25 a pound for New York steak," said controller Don Canning.

Bobby Hood of the San Diego Chargers training camp in Irvine said, "we like flank steaks and our supplier called five meat companies and couldn't get any."

Although some pro teams in the east have reportedly had to go to substitutes such as spaghetti and fish at the training table, Hood said the Chargers, "May not be getting the cuts we desire and the meat sometimes isn't as thick, but we haven't had macaroni and cheese yet."

The Felt Forum features bout

NEW YORK (UPI) — The feature attraction at the Felt Forum Monday night, Aug. 13, will be a 10-round light-heavyweight bout between Ray Anderson, 29, Akron, O., and Jorge Ahumada, 27, Mendoza, Argentina.

Anderson has been one of the leading light-heavyweights for the past 10 years and has compiled a 34-8-1 record, including 20 knockouts. The height of his career came in a title fight with Bob Foster in April 1971 at Tampa, Fla. Anderson lost a 15-round decision, but has been the only challenger Foster hasn't knocked out.

Ahumada made his U.S. debut on July 2 with an eightround knockout of Hal Carroll of Syracuse. Ahumada's record is 32-5-1, with 17 KOs.

Ryan impressive again as Angels post 6-5 win

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The California Angels scored both team and personal victories Tuesday night as they edged the Milwaukee Brewers 6-5.

Angel pitcher Nolan Ryan tied his own American League record of eight consecutive strikeouts in the first five innings. Ryan is two strikeouts short of the major league record of 10 held by Tom Seaver of the New York Mets.

Ken Berry scored the winning Angel run in the 10th inning with a pop single to short rightfield. He was sacrificed to second by Billy Parker. A single by Tom McCraw sent Berry to third and with bases loaded following a walk of pinch-hitter Lee Stanton, Berry slid home on a fly ball by Bob Oliver. Shortstop Tim Johnson caught the fly and threw to catcher Ellie Rodriguez seconds behind Berry.

Milwaukee got four runs off Ryan, now 13-13, in the first inning plus an unearned run in the sixth inning. He walked three batters in the first inning and gave doubles to Bob Coluccio and Pedro Garcia. Darell Porter slammed a two-run homer before Ryan was relieved in the 10th inning by Aurelio Monteagudo.

The score was 5-5 with two runs off Milwaukee starter Jerry Bell in the eighth inning. The runs in the eighth came by way of singles by Mike Epstein, and Richie Scheinblum, a sacrifice by Parker and a two-run single by McCraw.

Milwaukee's Chris Short became the first American League pitcher to reach base as a batter this season. In the ninth inning, Short got to first when catcher John Stephenson tipped his bat and was called for interference.

Nelson, Kelin tiff in Denver

DENVER (UPI) — Denver heavyweight Donny Nelson and unbeaten Heinz Klein of Vancouver, British Columbia, were named Monday to meet in a six-round preliminary bout at the Denver Coliseum Aug. 15.

Co-feature heavyweight bouts on the card pit sixth-ranked Ron Lyle against Jose Luis Garcia and Oscar Bonavena against Lou Bailey.

Nelson, fighting out of Phoenix, Ariz., has compiled a 5-1 pro record while Klein is 3-0, with two of his by knockout. Both fights are 6-5, but Klein weighs 240 pounds, 15 more than Nelson.

PGA starts Thursday

Miller's out for fun

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Johnny Miller has a message for his fellow touring pros: "Treat golf like a game and don't get uptight when you play badly."

Miller, the U.S. Open champion who now plays out of Sea Pines, S.C., plans to "have fun" when he tees off here Thursday in the 55th Professional Golfers' Association Championship.

"That does not mean I will not play seriously and be trying for the title," the 26-year-old San Francisco native added. "But I'll have fun and won't jump off the bridge if I don't do well."

Miller maintains he is a big occasion player. "I play my best in the big tournaments. I seem to get charged up for them, but the incentive does not seem to be there for the regular tour events.

"I think I have the best stroke average in the big events outside Jack Nicklaus in recent years.

"Look, if I'd have only driven reasonably well, I'm sure I would have won the British Open as well instead of finishing second to Tom (Weiskopf)."

Asked whether he considered himself a serious contender at Canterbury, Miller said: "I'm very tired; my game is off and I want a rest. But I'll be mentally ready by Thursday and if I can put together three regulation rounds and one 'super' round, then I'll have a chance."

But Miller, who has banked $118,238 on the tour to date to stand sixth in earnings behind Australia's Bruce Crampton, does not expect to produce a round of 63 as he did at Oakmont to win the Open. "I'll settle for three 70s and a 68," he said.

Canterbury has a par 71 for its 6,852-yard length and most players figure 280 would be a good score for the 72 holes.

Miller said the course, from tee to green, was the best he'd ever seen for a championship. "But the greens are tricky. There are some strange undulations and it's hard to line up a putt."

Crampton, who has won four tournaments and finished second four times en route to winnings of $245,141, saw Canterbury for the first time Tuesday and was satisfied with what he saw.

"It's not as long as what I was led to believe," he said. "I can't really explain it, but you build up a picture of how a thing should look in your mind and then it does not add up."

The 37-year-old Sydney native, who has made Dallas his American home, said he did not find the greens too tough, nor did he feel the three finishing holes were anything extraordinary. "But No. 13, now that's something else. It's a brute and I guess we'll all be happy to make our par fours there."

Crampton, acknowledged as one of the fittest men on the tour, also complained about being tired. "I've only taken six weeks off, but if I don't get tired I guess I have as good a chance as anyone. My swing is under control and I'm generally satisfied with my game," he said.

Asked if he had formulated a plan on how to play the course, Crampton said: "There is no way you can pre-plan the way you'll play. You have no control over the way the ball will bounce once it hits the grass, so you just play it hole by hole and hope you score one under the next guy."

The ever-popular Arnold Palmer, who spent almost three years of his Navy career playing at Canterbury, seemed in a happy mood with his short game but he was still dissatisfied with his putting.

"I guess you can say I putted reasonably well. As a matter of fact, if I'd putted like this all year I would have won more money," he said. Palmer won the Bob Hope Desert Classic back in February but has fallen away since and stands 21st in the money list with winnings of $71,373.

Lanny Wadkins, winner of the Byron Nelson Classic and fifth in earnings with $137,006 said Palmer "putted super." Wadkins made no comment about the 65 he shot, but Palmer said: "It was one of the most amazing rounds I've ever seen. He had nine putts on the back nine which looked like none."

Allen Miller, meanwhile, took the sting out of the 180-yard, par 3, third when he took a six iron from his bag to score an ace.

Gibson undergoes surgery

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI —Bob Gibson was to have knee surgery today, and the St. Louis Cardinals were worried about how quickly the dean of their pitching staff could return to baseball.

Gibson suffered torn cartilage on the outside of his right knee in a game against the New York Mets last Saturday. Team physician Dr. Stan London says Gibson may be pitching again in four to six weeks, but Cardinal fans were concerned that the 37-year-old Gibson might not be able to bounce back from an injury as impressively as in the past.

The Cardinals, the last team to win the National League pennant before both leagues were split into divisions, currently have a five-fame lead over both the Chicago Cubs and Montreal Expos in the Eastern Division. The team and Gibson both had a poor start this season, but Gibson had improved his record to 11-10 before the injury.

Gibson was the hero of the 1967 World Series when the Cards beat the Boston Red Sox in seven games and Gibby won three of the games.

Those World Series accomplishments followed a season in which Gibson was also injured. He suffered a broken leg when hit by a ball off the bat of the late Roberto Clemente July 15 but returned with about a month remaining in the season and pitched the game which clinched the pennant for the Cards.

Whether the two-time Cy Young Award winner an duplicate that feat is critical to the Cardinals' chances. London says Gibson has unusual recuperative powers which can put him back into the lineup before other athletes with similar injuries would be ready to play.

In Gibson's absence Manager Red Schoendienst plans to use a five-man rotation of Rick Wise, Reggie Cleveland, Alan Foster, Rich Folkers and Tom Murphy.

SPORTS NEWS IN BRIEF

THE ATLANTA BRAVES Tuesday acquired pitcher Joe Niekro, brother of Phil, who had a no-hitter last weekend. Joe was picked up on waivers from the Detroit Tigers. Joe, 28, is five years younger than his no-hit brother, and was 7-10 with a 3.70 ERA this season with Detroit and the Tiger A farm club in Toledo.

THE CAPITOL BULLETS said Tuesday, that the contract of veteran guard Flynn Robinson has not been renewed, making the seven-year veteran a free agent. Robinson was acquired from Los Angeles last season when starter Archie Clark was holding out for a better contract, but saw little action after Clark returned.

THE HAWAII STATE Boxing Commission revoked the license of Chango Carmona, the former World Boxing Council lightweight champion who was knocked out by Shinchi Kadota of Japan last week. The Commission said Carmona's license was being revoked "for his own protection and that of the public." Carmona appeared unusally listless in the bout and the commission ordered a test for possible drug use after his loss to Kadota. But the tests proved negative and the revocation of his license followed.

THE NEW YORK NETS signed St. John's University star Billy Schaeffer for a reported $250,000 Tuesday. Schaeffer was the Nets' No. 2 draft choice. The club outbid the Lakers for Schaeffer's services.

GARY McCORD of Riverside won the Western Tournament Golf Association's weekly tournament at Valencia Country Club Tuesday and became the Regional Tour's leading money winner with total earnings of $11,318. McCord had rounds of 73 and 70 for a 143 total and first place prize money of $4,000. Greg Pitzer, Westwood, had a 146 for second place, and tied for third at 147 were Steve Veriato, Hilo, Hawaii and Rick Carpenter, Missoula, Mont.

THE OAKLAND A's announced Tuesday that pitcher Jim "Catfish" Hunter and outfielder Joe Rudi have been placed on the disabled list. Hunter sustained a thumb injury in the all-star game and has been out of action since. He was placed on the 21-day disabled list retroactive to July 24 and will be eligible to play again Aug. 14.

Bobby Lee Hunter gets parole after six years

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI) — Bobby Lee Hunter, whose boxing skills gained him national attention, was paroled today from the South Carolina prison system after serving six years of an 18-year sentence for manslaughter.

Hunter was granted his parole after a four-minute hearing before the State Pardon and Parole Board.

The board told Hunter, who won a medal in the Pan American Games in 1971, that he was paroled because of his prison record and not because of his boxing achievements.

Frank Draine, Hunter's attorney, told the board that Hunter, 22, had been offered employment with a Columbia construction firm and at the training camps of boxers Joe Frazier and Mumammad Ali.

"I feel I am a much better man today," said Hunter. "I feel as though I have paid my debt to society and am going to prove to society that I am not only a boxer but a good citizen."

He plans to live in Columbia with Sylvester Mills, assistant principal of Hand Junior High School, and work for the construction firm while making a decision about his future.

Hunter, who was unsuccessful in an attempt to make the Olympic boxing team, said he planned to go to Charleston and buy his mother some new clothes with money received for a production on his life by ABC-TV.

The Parole Board admonished Hunter, however, not to take up residence in Charleston again.

He was sentenced in 1967 to 18 years in prison for a manslaughter conviction in Charleston.

Post 30 Legion honors players

POMONA —Local baseball fans have a chance to honor the American Legion District 18 champion Post 30 Gems Thursday with a banquet at the Legion Hall at 239 East Holt.

Cost of the dinner is $2 per person, and no reservations are required.

The program, which will begin at 7:30 p.m., will include presentations of most valuable player, and other awards by coach Woody Hansen.

Mautz Flooring leaps into finals

By JIM McConnell
P-B Correspondent

POMONA — Mautz Flooring proved to be less than brotherly to Clark Bros. Tuesday in the City Little League consolation semifinals, as they used a six-run third inning to upend Clark Bros. 6-4. The win places Mautz into the consolation finals to be held Thursday at 5:30 P.M. The Pomona Police nine will oppose Mautz Flooring in the contest to be held at Montvue School.

City playoffs

Tuesday Results
Mautz Flooring 6, Clark Brothers 4
Today's Game
Optimist (American) vs. Meatcutters (Southwest) at Montvue Park, 5:30 p.m.

Clark Bros. got off to a flying start in the game, as leadoff man Bill Powers walked and Jeff Osborne socked a long drive to left which bounced off leftfielder Jeff Rich's glove and over the fence for a homerun, putting Clark Bros. on top, 2-0.

That lead held up until the third, when Mautz put together four hits and benefitted from five Clark Bros. errors, the dust settling with Mautz having tallied six times. Cory Miller got the rally started with his double to left, and after Keith Andrews had reached first on an error, Tony Magur drove one of pitcher Lee McCollum's tosses over the centerfield fence, giving Mautz a 3-2 lead. Mautz went on to score three more times in the frame, using some heads-up baserunning and Clark miscues to post a 6-2 advantage.

Clark Bros. rallied for one run in both the fifth and sixth, but fell short of the victory. Steve Hoare's bases-full walk off reliever Don Hill netted one run, while McCollum's long circuit shot to right in the sixth pushed Clark Bros. closer at 6-4. But Hill bore down to get Jeff Claire on a fly to center to wrap up the contest and place Mautz into Thursday's battle with the Pomona Police Little Leaguers.

Olive Medical Center posts 7-4 win; nightcap called

By BRAD FORSYTH
P-B Correspondent

POMONA — Olive Medical Center of Ted Greene League stayed alive in the City Senior League Play-Offs by beating Ries Refrigeration of Pomona National League, 7-4 at Ralph Welch Park Tuesday evening.

Mike Keegan of Olive Medical didn't wait long to score. Keegan hit the first pitch of the game to left center for a home run.

Senior Division

Olive-Medical vs. winner of First Federal-Market Spot, 5:30 p.m., Ralph Welch Park.
VFW vs. Optimists, 5:30 p.m., Ralph Welch Park

Olive Medical scored two runs in the second on two hits, two walks and a sacrifice fly.

Ries made the score 4-3 after four innings, when Mark Grip walked went to second on a passball. Mark Shetterly singled to left but the ball got by the leftfielder to score Grip. Shetterly came home when the ball got past the catcher for the last run.

Olive Medical put the game out of reach by scoring three in the fifth on a walk, three hits and an error by the catcher which gave up a run.

First Federal of Northwest and Market Spot of Pomona American fought for a 8-8 tie. The game was called because of darkness.

The game will continue Wednesday at 5 with First Federal up in the top of the seventh.

First Federal scored three runs to take a 6-5 lead. A walk and two singles loaded up the bases. Lenader Williams walked to score a run, then a sacrifice by Wayne Smith knocked in a run. Ken Dudley doubled to drive in the third run.

Market Spot was trailing 7-5 going into the bottom of the sixth and came up with three runs to go ahead 8-7.

Randy Akers singled and then an error by the second baseman put men at first and second. Dale Higley lined a triple to center to drive in two runs to tie the score.

An intentional walk to Felipe Lopez put men at first and third. Then the pitcher was close enough and Herrick bunted, and Higley slid under the tag for the go ahead run.

First Federal came right back and tied the score up on a double by Smith. Ken Dudley tripled over the left fielder's head to drive in the tying run. At that point the game was called.

Olive Medical will play the winner of First Federal and Market Spot at 5:30 at Welch park.

Optimists of Pomona National will play VFW of Southwest League at 5:30 at the southwest field. The winner will be playing Friday for the championship.

Nastase dislikes night play

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ilie Nastase has had his first taste of singles tennis at night, and he doesn't like it.

"I don't like playing under the lights at all," the Romanian said as he walked from the courts at the Western Tennis Championships late Tuesday night. "There are too many dark spots and I can't see the ball soon enough."

However, the lights, which officials at the Queen City Racquet Club proudly proclaim as the best in tennis, didn't keep Nastase from overpowering his opponent.

Nastase, top-seeded in the $75,000 event, blasted outclassed Patrick Dupre of Birmingham, Ala., 6-1, 6-0 in his opening match.

The women's top seed, Chris Evert, also got off to a blazing start. Calmly hitting deep corner shots that ran her opponent — Pat Bostrom of Seattle, Wash.—Miss Evert advanced with an easy 6-1, 6-0 victory.

Jimmy Connors, the men's No. 2 seed and Miss Evert's constant companion here, had a slightly harder start in defeating Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia, 6-4, 6-2.

Nastase, sometimes called "Nasty" because of his temper, wasn't angry about the lights, just confused.

"I've played doubles under the lights, but never singles before tonight," he said, shaking his head the moment he left the court at 10:30 p.m. "I won't say I missed any points because of the dark spots, but it took me longer to pick out the ball and my game was far from its best."

Miss Evert didn't talk about lights after her convincing win, only how pleased she was.

Chris and her 15-year-old sister, Jeanne, are entered as doubles team here and have been seeded third. The Evert sisters play their first doubles match Thursday.

Women may jump into boxing ring

TOKYO (UPI) — It appeared possible today that the first international boxing match between two women may be held in Tokyo in October.

Masako Takatsuki, 26, a trainer at the Saitama Chuo boxing gym near Tokyo who sparred two rounds each with two male fighters in Tokyo on Aug. 1, received a challenge Tuesday from Millie Golden, 26, of Alhambra, Calif., the Sankei Sports newspaper reported today in a front page story.

The challenge came in the form of a letter. Miss Golden said she was a boxer and that she had read about Miss Takatsuki in the newspapers. She said she was willing to come to Japan for a match with Miss Takatsuki. She sent a photograph of herself in fighting pose, wearing a swimming suit.

The newspaper quoted Miss Takatsuki as saying she was quite willing to meet the American woman in a match. But she said she would box with a t-shirt and boxing trunks over tights. She said she was opposed to wearing a swimming suit because "boxing is not for sex appeal."

Miss Takatsuki was quoted as asking the manager of the Saitama Chuo Boxing gym to start negotiations to bring Miss Golden to Tokyo for the match.

Zetterberg wins doubles event

CLAREMONT — Alan Zetterberg, a former Pomona College tennis star, won the doubles portion of the recent Sundance Open Tennis Championships in Vermont, with partner Tabor Browder.

Zetterberg and Browder decisioned Richard and Phil Kadish 6-3, 2-6, 6-0 to claim the doubles title.

Zetterberg will begin his third year of study this fall at Columbia Law School.

Mining threatens Bonneville?

Deke Houlgate

Motor sport today

One year ago Harold J. Tippetts, director of the Utah Division of Parks and Recreation, declared, "The State of Utah has no intention of losing the Bonneville Salt Flats," adding that the historically significant landmark ha "an unparalleled record of use as a high speed race track."

That statement came at the urging of Gov. Calvin Rampton, who had turned a symphathetic ear to the pleas of the advocates of a growing movement to "Save the Salt."

According to Mar Dees, city attorney of Inglewood, Cal., there is a growing body of evidence that potash mining on the edge of the salt is gradually depleting the surface, only one like it anywhere in the world.

His position is supported only by the few users of the salt flats who go back year after year to race their cars, plus some public spirited Utah citizens who share a sense of historical perspective about the salt.

Dees recently addressed the Utah Hisotircal Society as president of the Bonneville 200 Mile an Hour Club, pointing out the significance of runs made there by John Cobb, Sir Malcolm Campbell, Ab Jenkins, Craig Breedlove, Gary Gabelich and other Land Speed Record setters to the American heritage. Thippetts was at the same meeting and told of plans to have the salt flats preserved as a national monument.

In front of TV news cameras later, Dees called for a state or federal investigation to make sure that potash mining was not draining the salt, indicating he and others believe what they see out there more readily than what state officials tell them.

The dispute centers around whether canals dug by the company mining the west end of the salt flats are draining off surface water that has acted for thousands of years as a preservative.

Tippetts claims that his department has commissioned studies in 1967, 1968 and 1972 bu failed to link the potash plant to deterioration of the surface. He admits some questions remain unanswered but insists the miners stopped pumping brine from the salt into one of its ditches in 1966 and the other in 1970. Dees disputes these findings.

"If it is true that the canals have breached the watertight 'bowl' surrounding the race course," Dees wrote in areport to other Bonneville racing enthusiasts, "then they draw the brine from the flats whether the canals are actually pumped directly or not.

"An experienced hydrologist who has worked on the Salt Flat problem states that, if our fears are confirmed, the flats can be saved by surrounding them with a ditch backfilled with impermeable clay or slurry at an estimated cost of $150,000 to $250,000.

This would achieve what the state is apparently trying to do — keep the salt flats in good condition without shutting down the mine. Dees suggests that if the state would forego the expense of making a recreation park out of nearby Wendover Air Force Base, it could easily afford to dike the salts in this manner. (That is only a suggested project.)

In the next few weeks this issue may become important in Utah, because Aug. 19 marks the start of the 25th annual Speed Week at the Salt. Dees said his inspection of the course last month showed a sea of white with no mud or blothces of clay marring the surface, the result of a very wet winter.

Good salt this year might take the heat off state officials, but veteran racers expect the ravage of one of the world's unique geographical wonders to continue.

The Japanese complicate our economic problems by shipping us cute little automobiles and tiny transistor radios, but we are getting even. We are now exporting drag racing to Japan.

Tony Nancy, the Commodoe Perry of the hot rod set, has just returned from triumphal tours of Japan and England flushed with success. He is already planning to spread the plague of noise, smoke and speed to other corners of the world, South America later this year and South Africa in the near future.

Nancy, an ex-Marine hero of the Korean War, is by far the most well traveled drag racer in the sport. He has raced in Australia, Italy and England before, but his assault in the Land of the Rising Sun may have the most significant effect on the future of drag racing internationally.

"I think you will find there will be a great deal of guys in drag racing in Japan," he said. "The typical Japanese in motor racing comes from a wealthy family. The average Joe doesn't participate.

"I got so may questions from these guys, and afterwards my sponsor, Revell, got a lot of letters asking for dimensions of cars, specificationsand just information in general about drag racing.

"While I was there they took a million pictures of my car. You know how good those Japanese guys are at copying."

Nancy's exhibition runs in his fuel dragster, "The Longer," were made during the nation's biggest motor sports event, the Japanese Grand Prix at Mt. Fuji Raceway.

Nancy's burnout and backup maneuvers which are always made to heat up the tires so they will give better traction on the timed runs, were disappointing at first to the 110,000 fans on race day. They thought he had blown up his car.

"The public address announcer kept explaining over and over what was going on, and then they understood. On the last run I did a fire burnout, and the people about fell out of the stands, including the Prince of Japan in his private box."

Afterwards Nancy was asked to go up into the stands to sign autographs.

"That was a big mistake," he said, but not seriously. "I didn't think I would ever get away. I was up there for two hours. There were so many people around me I couldn't see the sun. I thought I was going to get claustrophobia.

"We (the driver was accompanied by NHRA photographer Leslie Lovett and mechanic Steve Kreimendahl) handed out 15,000 color photos of the car, and I think they wanted me to sign every one of them. I signed everything from bellies to shirts and hats."

The "Bellies," he explained, belonged to attractive young girls who wore midriff outfits to the race.

If drag racing establishes a beachhead in the country or not, Nancy has left behind him a new line of products which the speed-hungry Japanese are grabbing up — model cars, T-shirts, crash helmets with "The Longer" painted on them, decals and autographed pictures.

Before Nancy made the junket the Japanese distributor for Revell wouldn't buy model car sets of his dragster, because the Japanese simply didn't know what it was. Now the dealer can't get enough to sell.

That'll teach those people for messing up our currency. We will now clutter up their homes with pieces of those model cars.

OCIR officials announce Race of Winners cancellation

EAST IRVINE — Orange County Interantional Raceway general manger C.J. Hart announced last Thursday the cnacellation of OCIR's Annual Anniversary Race of Winners scheduled for Saturday.

Hart, joined by officers of the American Hot Rod Association, stated the reasons for termination of the Anniversary event as, "its past inability to suceed financially, its incapability to draw name entries due to schedule conflicts as well as its incompetence to produce the caliber of racing advertised for such an event."

In the same statment Hart also announced that on Saturday, Agust 18, the Raceway will feeture a drag racing double header. . .a Funny Car Invitational Tournament plus the American Hot Rod Association's Grand American Regional Points Meet and World records Runs.

Funny car competition will spotlight a 16 car field with eight of the Wests fastest cars battling with 8 all-star entries for East-West supremacy. The second half of the double feature will see the sports finest sportsman racers vying for valuable American Hot Rod Association points as well as trying to set official AHRA records.

September 14, 15, and 16 OCIR will host the AHRA Grand Americann featuring Don Garlits, John Wiebe, Chris Karamesines, Tom McEwen, Don Prudhomme, Don Schumacner and many other top stars.

Sorry about that

AVIEMORE, Scotland (UPI) — An Army team walked off with the trophy in an inter-serices ski championship here. Then the judges checked again.

Oops, they said. The actual winner was the Royal Air Force team. The Army team, which had spent the weekend celebrating, handed over the trophy to the RAF.

Riverside International Race of Champions a unique one

LOS ANGELES — Twelve of the world's greatest race car drivers will compete against each other in identical Porsche Carrera racing cars in a series of match races worth more than $140,000, it was announced yesterday.

The International Race of Champions, one of the most unique ventures in the history of auto racing, will be held on road courses in Califofornia and Daytona and taped by ABC television sports for telecasting early next year.

The announcement was made by Roger Penske and Les Richter, principals in the race organizing Penske Productions.

Eleven of the 12 drivers, representing four branches of racing, were named yesterday. The elite list includes world champions Jackie Stewart, Emerson Fittipaldi and Denis Hulme from Formula One; American road racing champions Mark Donohue, Peter Revson and George Follmer; Indianpolis 500 winners Bobby Unser and Gordon Johncock from the U.S. Auto Club; and NASCAR stock car drivers Richard Petty, Bobby Allison and David Pearson.

Penske said the twelfth driver has not been signed yet, but indicated he would probably come from USAC championship car racing.

In a separate announcement released yesterday, ABC's Roone Arledge said the four races will be taped in their entirety and telecast on consecutive weekends beginning next January 27. Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. wil be the major sponsors of the telecasts.

Three of the four races, each about 75 miles in length and 40 minutes duration, will be held at Riverside International Raceway on October 27-28 in conjunction with the Times Grand Prix Can-Am event.

The fourth race, which will determine a champion from the top six drivers after the first three races—will be held at Daytona International Speedway on February 15, the weekend of the Daytona 500.

Riverside's three races each carry a purse of $25,000 and the Daytona event is worth $65,000. The winner's share of Daytona's purse is $35,000 and his total winnings could reach $50,000, Penske said.

"The concept of having the world's best drivers competing against each other in identical race cars has been a dream in auto racing for years," Penske said. "We are happy to say the dream is now a reality."

Penske Productions has ordered 15 special 1974 Porsche Carrera RSR three-liter racing cars from the Porsche factory in Germany. Each one, Penske said, would be checked out and set up there by race personnel before shpment to California in early October.

"The concept for this event from the very beginning has been to provide a world championship based purely on driver skills," Penske said. "To that end, we have removed virtually every mechanical variable we normally see in auto racing."

Every car will be identical, he said, including tires which are being developed and tested by Goodyear, sparkplugs, shock absorbers, fuel and lubricants. Drivers will not be allowed to make any mechanical changes to the cars other than to adjust the driver's seat.

Southland racing

VALENCIA — A motocross squeeze play, the younger riders against the more experienced, will become a distinct possibility this week during three full competition programs for the bound-and-bounce motorcycles on the challenging dirt tracks at Indian Dunes Park near Saugus.

With veteran racers beginning to feel the pressure now being exerted by an ever-increasing number of youthful "tigers," many of whom are hopeful of attaining top rungs in motocross sport, the track's current point standings are expected to be subjected to a severe test Tuesday and Friday nights, as well as during the course of a daylong show Sunday.

GARDENA — Jimmy Oskie has a typical race driver's incentive to hold his narrow lead in the California Racing Association sprint car point standings when he returns to Ascot Park this Saturday night.

The CRA is building a record point fund this yeur with their weekly crowds at a 10-year-high, and first-place money would help the unsponsored Oskie get a new engine for his J-Ram Chevy. Last year, S. McElrath got a check for $3,400 for winning the point crown (20 per cent of $17,000). This year, the winner's share may go over $5,000, and for Oskie that would go a long way toward a racing engine.

SAUGUS—Saugus Speedway Fans will be able to see all three Olympic Racing Association Divisions in action this Saturday night. Marshall Wilkings, Promoter, has scheduled a full card of thrills for the Super Track with three main events, a forty-lap Sportsman Main, a twenty-five lap Limited Stock Main and a twenty-lap Jalopy Figure 8.

CORONA — Slamming, banging and crashing will be the order of the night when Corona Raceway presents Figure 8 quarter mile oval and Powder Puff racing Saturday night at 8 p.m.

Last time out, on the quarter mile oval, Jerry Nove fought tooth and nail with Dorsey Steele as they drove side by side through all four turns. As they slid through the final turn, Steele edged into the lead and took the win by not more than six inches.

CORONA — SCIDA Sprint Buggies and Sprint Sedans, along with the stock 1200cc class and the Powder Puff Division, will return to Corona Raceway's torturous hi speed dune buggy track Sunday night at 7:30 p.m.

Growing in popularity, these sand masters have been drawing entries from San Diego and as far away as San Francisco, thus providing some stiff competition for the local drivers, who try to fend their home ground.

With the desert season over, an influx of super drivers is expected to be on hand for the night's racing. Among these are Tim Lightfoot, Roger Mears, and Tim Orchard.

The racing will get under way on the brand new track that has been specially designed for high speeds, spectacular jumps, and thrilling action.

IRWINDALE — Driving out of La Puente "Hawaiian" Joe Mello will rejoin the claimer stock car racing competition at San Gabriel Valley Speedway in Irwindale this Saturday night at 7:30 p.m.

The United States Racing Club leadfoots will rol into ten events of thrilling claimer stock car racing with a figure eight grand finale rounding out the program.

It was just a little over a year ago when Mello first made his decision to become a claimer stock car racer.

IRWINDALE — Three time track champion, Ivan Baldwin, and challenger, Bill Spencer, are still locked in a tight see-saw battle for the 1973 title at San Gabriel Valley Speedway in Irwindale, but several other NASCAR sportsman racing stars are closing ground on the leaders.

Bill Osborne, driving the Baldwin racing stable team car, has moved into fourth in point standings while Ron Esau jumped up to third and George "Big Daddy" Esau rides fifth.

SAN BERNARDINO — The high pitched sound of finely-tuned racing engines will echo from the Orange Show Speedway in San Bernardino this Saturday night was the NASCAR sportsman stock cars share the racing program with the mighty midgets of United States Racing Club.

The 16 event speedfest will begin at 7:30 p.m. with trophy dashes followed by heat races and semi-main events. The stock cars will run a 40 lap main event and the midgets roll into a 30 lap feature.

GARDENA—The motorcycle pros who ride at Ascot always have "hope."

Now they are riding for "HOPE."

J. C. Agajanian, president and general manager of Ascot, announced a program for the American Motorcycle Association event for Friday night for the benefit of the "Help Out People Enclosed" organization.

Ewbank keeps his Jets honest but not very rich

By United Press International

If there's one subject that can rattle Weeb Ewbank's mind, it has to be money.

Ewbank, the coach and general manager of the New York Jets, isn't quite up to date on inflation these days. As the old saying goes, he passes out nickels as if they were manholes covers.

Joe Namath is able to negotiate directly with owner Phil Iselin and so he has a six-figure contract. But Ewbank is a tough negotiater who likes to keep the rest of the Jets stars at the $50,000 figure.

Neither one of his two top running backs, Emerson Boozer and John Riggins, wants to play for that figure and they're just two of the many players on the squad who have refused to sign.

But they're annoying Ewbank more than the other players. He gruffly announced Tuesday that the Jets can win without the two running backs. To back up his statement, he said he won the 1968 NFL title with L.G. Dupree and Tom Matte in the backfield along with Alan Ameche.

Well, Ewbank did win the NFL title in 1968 as head coach of the Baltimore Colts. But Matte would have been surprised to see his name mentioned—to say nothing of Woody Hayes because in 1959, Matte was playing at Ohio State for Hayes. He didn't join the Colts until 1961.

Ewbank's memory failure isn't too surprising since he was too busy defending his point. "Jim Nance is a fine back and we could win a championship with people like Nance and Mike Adamle and Steve Harkey," he insisted.

Well, that's just negotiation talk because the Jets aren't really considered a real threat to Miami, anyway. But without Boozer and Riggins, they wouldn't even be taken seriously.

He added, "sometimes players get to the point where what they want is more than they can get from pro football. If I gave them what they want, then the price of tickets would have to double because all the salaries would have to go up. I don't think it's in the cards to pay them that much."

Actually, football salaries stopped skyrocketing when the two leagues merged but Ewbank, who is retiring as head coach at the end of this season, apparently wants to hold to his traditional hard-line position.

He's offering Riggins, Boozer and star tackle Winston Hill all about $50,000. Riggins is asking for $150,000 and both Boozer and Hill are asking for $100,000. Riggins got $25,000 last year while Boozer made $40,000 and Hill $45,000.

Riggins has yet to join the team while Hill and Boozer are drilling with the second unit after failing to play last week against Houston.

Among the other unsigned players who are in action are Al Atkinson, Ralph Baker, Richard Caster, John Elliott, Don Maynard, Clifford McClain, Mike Taylor and Phil Wise.

Most of the other clubs were concerned Tuesday mainly about cutting their squads down to the 60 player limit—not including All-Star game players. Of course, the teams still have 20 players to slice by the start of the season. Most of the players cut were rookies.

One of the biggest names to be released was former all-pro cornerback Herb Adderley, who was cut by Los Angeles. The Rams obtained him just two weeks ago from New England. He played with Dallas last year but is remembered mainly for his great seasons under Vince Lombardi in Green Bay.

St. Louis picked up defensive end Steve Boekholder from the Washington Redskins in return for an undisclosed draft choice. Imagine, George Allen gave up a player for a draft choice.

In another deal, New England traded kicker John Smith to Pittsburgh for a future draft choice.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The recent turnabout in the market, according to Argus Research Corp., has been triggered by evidence the economy is slowing down from an overheated condition. The firm says the "public's disposition is to greet signs of a slowdown with a sigh of relief—and an increased disposition to buy stocks."

Argus Research Corp. also is worried about rising interest rates and what they will do to the market. "Fear of credit control and inflation encourages precautionary borrowing which has and will continue to place upward pressure on interest rates," the firm says.

E.F. Hutton believes the market, in light of some recent strong gains, is going through a process of consolidation. However, the firm said, there has been "very little in the way of selling pressure." The firm said it is cautious in its approach for the near future.

The Venezuelan Constitution was promulgated Jan. 23, 1961.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Falcon Seaboard, Inc., said it is negotiating to sell 15 million tons of coal over the next 10 years for about $112 million. The company will have to spend $4 million to expand production from its mines to around 1.5 million tons yearly by 1975.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Western Electric Co., the manufacturing arm of the Bell Telephone System, will build a $5 million warehouse and distributing center at Martinsburg, W.Va. It will serve Bell companies in six states.

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. said its steel products subsidiary will build a $13 million plant to make truck wheels and demountable rims at Henderson, Ky. It will employ 500 when it goes in operation next year.

HAUPPAGE, N.Y. (UPI) — Applied Devices Corp. has won a $998,000 order from the Army for improved Hawk simulator maintenance test equipment to be installed at Chambersburg, Pa.

Better return in added risk

By ROGER SPEAR

Q — We are in our mid-eighties. We hold 401 shares of Tri-Continental Corp. (NYSE) about which we are concerned. Also have $25,000 in U.S. Treasury Notes, 5M General Motors Acceptance 5s of 1977, 10M each in Southern Bell Telephone 8s of 1999 and American Telephone 8.7s of 2002. Do you think these are safe investments now? — M.A.

A — Tri-Continental, a closed-end investment company, has performed well over the past 5 years. Shares, however, are currently trading at a 21 per cent discount from net asset value, a deeper discount than average for closed-end trusts. The fund's good quality portfolio is comprised of about 100 different issues, with emphasis on the consumer goods, electrical and retail, chemical and oil industries. While income dividends yield a modest 2.9 per cent currently, $2.05 a share in securities profits were distributed earlier this year.

The debt securities in your portfolio currently yield an average of 7.1 per cent, which could be increased if you are willing to make some concessions in the quality of your holdings. Two of the U.S. Treasury notes, which are now trading within about 2 per cent of face value, the 5¾s of 1974 and the 6s of 1978, might be switched into 14M Columbia Gas 9s of 1994. This maneuver would produce $375 more income annually for an average yield on the bond portion of your portfolio of 7.9 per cent.

Q — We are contemplating switching from Keystone K-2 to Keystone K-1 Fund. Although we do not need extra income right now, K-1 appears to be a more conservative investment. We also would incur a sizable tax liability if we made the change. Your view would be greatly appreciated. — G.B.

A — The primary consideration at this time is whether the market is poised for recovery or not. K-1, because it is a balanced income fund rather than a growth fund as is K-2, has a more stable record in a down market. However, in an up market K-2 has greater potential. At this time I would be inclined to stand pat.

Long winter forecast true

Patrick Murphy's Weather Almanac for 1838 said flatly that January 20 would be the coldest day of the winter. It turned out to be the coldest day England had suffered on generations, and the 1837-38 season was long known as Murphy's Winter.

West region has resources

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — If the nine Western states were to secede and become a separate nation, the region's $184 billion gross national product would make it the sixth biggest economy of the warld.

It would rank just behind the rest of the United States, the Soviet Union, Japan, West Germany and France just ahead of the United Kingdom and Mainland China, according to the Western Market Almanac.

Reform may alter election campaigning

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nobody paid much attention to (b) (1) on page 52 and (b) (2) on page 53.

After all, the campaign reform bill approved by the Senate was so big, so far-reaching, and so complex, it was difficult to grasp all its implications.

But should the bill become law, presidential candidates and their campaign managers will have to take a hard look at pages 52 and 53.

Those two sections — (b) (1) and (b) (2) —may change the entire tradition of running a nationwide campaign.

In legal terms the two sections mandate that no presidential candidate can spend more in any one state than the amount permitted to a senator or a congressman running at-large in that state. One section applies to the primaries and the other to the general election.

In political terms, the sections mean that no longer would a candidate for the White House be allowed to pump all the financial resources at his disposal into the key or swing states.

Under the bill, a presidential candidate can spend an overall 10 cents per eligible voter in the primaries and 15 cents per eligible voter in the general election.

The population figures are going to change by 1976 but had the bill been law last year, President Nixon and George S. McGovern could have each spent $13.9 million in the primaries and $20.8 million in the general election.

As an overall figure, $34.7 million appears to be an acceptable figure. McGovern did it for less ($25-$28 million) but, of course, he won only one state and the District of Columbia.

Nixon, who took the rest, spent between $50 million and $55 million. The change would result in the inability of a candidate to direct where the money can go.

Political realities always dictated pouring all a candidate's resources into the big seven (New York, California, Illinois, Texas, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and Ohio) plus the swing states in an effort to put together the required number of electoral votes needed to win.

A presidential candidate did not fritter away money or expend his own energies in a state that was either beyond redemption or locked up.

Under the proposed law, a presidential candidate could spend (according to the 1972 census) $2 million in California. That's it.

A Democratic candidate, considering Nebraska hopelessly Republican, could not take his $255,250 allocation and route it to California, no matter how vital it might be to the election.

Similarly, a Republican candidate, knowing full well that he does not have a chance in the District of Columbia, could not channel that $175,000 across the continent to California.

Should the bill become law, the two sections could bring either of two changes, both of them good:

—Either a candidate will wage a truly national campaign, paying attention, at least in a monetary sense, to all the states, including those generally disregarded because of their few electoral votes.

—Or the presidential candidate will husband his money, reducing the cost of running for the White House even below the ceilings adopted by the Senate.

No hamburgers for thieves

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Thieves netted nary a hamburger when they struck Martin Meats.

But, police said, they did make off with cases of pizza, strawberries, potatoes, broccoli and shrimp.

All the loot, police said Monday, was recovered and two juveniles were taken into custody.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

President George Washington's Farewell Address of 1796 gave strong warnings against permanent alliances with foreign powers, partiality toward favorite nations, big public debt, a large military establishment and the devices of a "small, artful, enterprising minority" to control or change the government, The World Almanac recalls.

She wants marriage kept secret

Dear Ele: When I was 16 I was married for several months. No one knows this part of my past, and I would like it if they didn't find out. The trouble is that my sister is coming to visit, and she talks a mile a minute and tells everything she ever knew to anyone who'll listen. Considering this, do you think I should tell the news of my marriage here before she does it for me?

There is no use telling her not to tell. That will just make it the first thing to pop out of her mouth. (Don't get me wrong, I do love and miss her, but compared to her, Martha Mitchell is a mute. Grace.

Dear Grace: If you're certain sis will pop the news, you'd be wise to announce that particular bit of personal history before she arrives. Who should be told? Anyone who feels she/he has your full confidence and trust, plus anyone with whom you're linked romanticaly.

By choosing to break the news of your mini-marriage yourself, you can pick a time and place when it's possible to explore the topic as fully as you feel necessary. But if you leave it to sis to launch the news, the circumstances may produce very negative vibes from all the untold people who thought they were close to you.—Ele

Dear Ele and Walt: Is it good manners for a girl to tell a boy exactly what she wants for her birthday? I am not complaining about the price because I can afford that. But it isn't any fun to give something that is no surprise to the person you love.—Eddie

Dear Eddie: Loved ones sometimes do presume on their relationship to make holiday and special occasion giving an open-and-shut affair with no creativity possible. ("I want the orginal cast 'Jesus Christ Superstar'—The movie version — and nothing else.")

When faced with such a request, we've usually followed through, but then tried to add one tiny gift of our own to allow for some element of surprise. It might be as simple as a pocket novel, a kite and cord, or a hommade hanging mobile decorated with snapshots. But still it was something more than was expected, something influenced by our own knowledge of that person's interests.—Ele and Walt

Dear Walt: Lately I have found that girls honk at me when I am walking down the street. I wave at them if I know them, but don't if I don't. What bothers me is why strange girls would do this to me. I am not outstanding, in the looks or body department in any way. Do you think they are trying to satirize me or something? (I do not walk like a girl if that's what you're thinking.) — Ken

Dear Ken: More likely than not it's a case of the women daring themselves to do something a bit forbidden ("Nice girls don't phone boys or honk at them.")

But to double-check, ask some of your female acquaintances to observe your walk someday when you're unaware of their gaze. They just might detect some "Mr. Super-Cool" strut or "Johnny Stud" ramble to your amble. If it's natural to you, you may well decide to keep your walk as is, but a least henceforth you'll know why the honkers honk.—Walt

Something mysterious killing Virginia bees

By ANN JACOBS

BERRYVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Arlington Palmer hasn't had much luck since he noved to Berryville six months ago to become the largest, but most disaster-prone beekeeper in the area.

Less than three months after taking over the Old Virginia Honey Company, a then-prospering business, Palmer's bees started dying. The bee kill has continued and has wiped out a third of Palmer's colonies.

The mysterious death of Palmer's bees and those of a number of other beekeepers in the Northern Virginia area is puzzling state experts who say the situation is hopeless unless the cause of death is discovered soon.

About 80 per cent of Palmer's income comes from honey.

"I've just about lost the honey now ... it's too late to do anything," said Palmer, estimating his total loss to be near $25,000.

The death of the bees also will affect apple orchard owners who rent bees for pollenation purposes in the spring of each year. Palmer said the loss of so many colonies is going to force the price of rental bees from $5.50 to $8 or $9.

"Even if the price doubles, it's not going to help me on my loss," he added.

Palmer scoffed at the suggestion of federal subsidies —"it's worth about two cents" —but said that if he doesn't get some sort of indemnity payments he will never make it.

The government pays beekeepers for loss of colonies due to pesticides. If pesticides are not responsible for the kill, then no indemnity payment. In Palmer's case, no one has been able to determine the reason and he can't even begin filing for any reimbursement.

"I don't ask for help unless I need it, but unless I get some sort of help, I'm sunk," said Palmer, a large man with a dark tan from the 50 to 60 hours a week he spends working outside.

Palmer is convinced that the trouble is caused by pesticide spray but the state Department of Agriculture is convinced it is not. H. P. Powers, state apiarist, has a theory that the ozone factor in the air is causing the deaths.

"I don't think pollution has any part of it," Palmer said. "As far as I'm concerned, its got to be something in the combs that's killing bees whether they prove it in the lab or not."

Sugaring is one of America's oldest industries. Colonists learned the art from the Indians who collected sap in hollowed-out logs and steamed away the water by dropping in hot stones.

Black urged on committee probing riot

OKLAHOMA CITY UPI) — A black legislator called Monday for expansion of a legislative committee studying the McAlester prison riot to include a Negro.

Rep. A. Visanio Johnson, D-Oklahoma City, said the prison's population is about 37 per cent black and "there are problems which would be and are peculiar to these inmates."

Legislative leaders last week named a 12-member panel of lawmakers to study the state's penal system and recommend improvements.

For Thursday, August 9

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be most productive early in the day. Later you'll not have the patience or energy to tackle the rough stuff.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be extremely cautious handling another person's property. Be sure you can account for everything.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A potential problem today with your mate or partner regards the disbursement of funds. Each must spend wisely.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You will start out today's tasks with adequate cooperation. Your helpers will become less enthusiastic as the day wears on.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're going to be tempted to take chances you know you shouldn't. Exercise rigid discipline over your impulses.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Domestic problems will press your patience to the breaking point today. You'll see only the darker side.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Keep clear and accurate records of important dealings today. You'll have to refer to them in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You will be put upon by others. They'll try to load some of their burdens onto your strong shoulders.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Keep social impulses within reasonable bounds else you'll fritter the day away catering to your whims.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today you will push a trifle too aggressively to get your way. This will go over like a lead balloon with competitors.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Co-workers will present problems for you today. They'll resent doing things you request. Sugar-coat your commands.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You will view problems far more seriously than they really are. Don't burden friends with negative fantasies.

August 9..

As the coming year progresses new career interests will be found and considered. Changes offer promise, but must be screened carefully.

Clogged court dockets may slow appeals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger predicted today that clogged court dockets could eventually mean that a convicted defendant will have to get permission before he can appeal.

Appeals are now available to anyone. If an individual has no money he can appeal at public expense.

In his "state of the judiciary" message, prepared for delivery at the first meeting of the Assembly of the American Bar Association (ABA), the Chief Justice urged creation of more federal judgeships, higher pay for judges, and a long look at the controversial proposal for a "mini-court" to relieve the Supreme Court of some of its work.

He reported that for the first time in 12 years federal trial courts disposed of slightly more cases than were filed. But there is still a backlog of 126,000 cases, he said.

Burger chided the White House for delay in filling federal court vacancies, which he said continue "to be a source of irretrievable loss."

The failure to increase judges' salaries for five years, while other federal salaries have gone up a by a third, will make it more difficult to induce competent attorneys to take judgeships, Burger said, "and we must not settle for less than the best."

The Judicial Conference, the administrative arm of the federal judiciary, has asked Congress for 51 auditional trial judges and 11 more circuit judges.

Burger said that in the past 10 years, cases filed in the 11 courts of appeal have increased from 5,437 to 15,000. To meet the avalanche, he said, courts have screened cases in order to decide some without arguments —often without opinions.

Pioneer 10 sun sensor adjusted

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — The radio beam and sun sensor of Pioneer 10 were adjusted Monday as the Earth passed between the sun and the unmanned, Jupiter-bound spacecraft.

When Pioneer 10, Earth and the sun are lined up, the craft's sensor must look almost directly at the sun, which interferes with the sensor's count of the spacecraft's rotation rate. To avoid this problem, engineers pointed Pioneer's radio beam and sensor 1-½ degrees from the sun and one degree from the Earth, said a spokesman at NASA's Ames Research Center.

The spacecraft is now 56 million miles from Jupiter and 330 million miles from earth. It is expected to reach Jupiter on Dec. 3 for man's first close look at the giant planet.

Madame V. Pandit, sister of Indian Prime Minister Nehru, served as the first woman president of the United Nations General Assembly.

Our Challenge Pays Off in Southern California!

DODGE SALES SET RECORD AFTER RECORD

This year, we Dodge Dealers are selling more Dodge cars and Dodge trucks than ever before. Our brand is very hot. Dodge car and truck sales are 28.8% higher in the Los Angeles region than last year (and we haven't stopped dealing, yet!)

SAN BERNARDINO / RIVERSIDE COUNTY GOOD GUYS

THE HOT VAN!
NOW CALIFORNIA'S No.1 AMERICAN VAN

Southern California is America's hot spot for vans. Buyers know what they want—and most times, it's a Dodge Strong Box Van (instead of some other American made unit). Why Dodge? More models. We're the only Dealers with Maxivan, the largest compact van built in this country. We also offer shorter vans, on 109" and 127" wheelbases. We're the only van with Electronic Ignition, standard. You also get front disc brakes, independent front suspension, and lots of other goodies, too. But the biggest factor in making Dodge the HOT BRAND VAN is the kind of deal your nearby Dodge Dealer can give you. You might say we outsell the others in Southern California because we always try to give you a better deal. Check out a Dodge Tradesman Van now.

CHARGER SETS RECORDS AS IT SETS STYLE

No mistaking the look of our "Great Shape"—Charger. When you pull up in a gleaming, low-slung Charger, people know you've arrived. But Charger's beauty goes beyond its great looks to great engineering. You get the Electronic Ignition System. It has no points or condenser to wear out or get wet. Charger gives you front disc brakes, standard. And, while they look much alike, there are actually five great Charger models in the line—from low-priced Charger Coupe to the elegant Charger SE. Here in Southern California, we Dodge Dealers are selling more new Chargers than ever. That's because we try to give you the best deal possible. We back it with dependable service—so that you'll always drive out smiling, because you're happy with the way we treated you. Price out a new Charger now.

HOT ITEM! DODGE CLUB CAB PICKUP

We'll be first to agree: "exclusive" is a pretty tired word in advertising. But in the case of our Dodge Club Cab pickup, "exclusive" is the best way we can describe a truck that none of our competitors has! You see, nobody else has a cab with 34 extra cubic feet of inside storage space. Your valuable tools, sporting gear, hunting dogs, even groceries (at current prices) are safe and out of the weather—under lock and key. (You can even get two optional flip-down seats in the back.) Our Club Cab pickup also features front disc brakes and the Electronic Ignition System. To round out our great Dodge pickup line we also have the regular Dodge cab as well as the larger, 6-man Crew Cab pickups. No matter which one you need—you can be sure you're getting the kind of a deal that made our brand of pickup "hot"!

SMALLER DODGES—BIGGER SALES

This year, over half the Dodge cars we sell are Darts. People are just plain astounded over the amount of room inside the car and its trunk! People like the way we deal on our 1973 Dart models, too. When the car is right and the price is right—little wonder we sell so many! Right now, we can show you 7 different Dart models: two hardtops, two 4-door sedans, the Dart Sport, Sport 340, and the Sport "Convertriple" (our famous 3-in-1 compact car). To date, over 1,800,000 Dodge Darts have been sold. It's always been a fine car and a terrific value. This year, we've added Electronic Ignition, standard—making it even a better buy. No matter what size of car you're shopping for, drive a Dodge Dart now. Check our deals, our fine choice of options, colors and models. You'll see why our brand of compact is mighty "hot" this year!
